tuting the village and the methods of cultivating the outlying lands and the gradual development of the creation of individual family holdings. Another interesting feature of the lecture was the representation of the evolution of several series of public interest and institutions all starting from the home as the unit and the germ of all social life.

—At the Congregational church last Sunday, a contribution of more than twelve hundred dollars was taken up for the American Board.

—The Newton Boat club are arranging for a team bowling tourney this season. Various prizes will be awarded for individual and team work and considerable interest is being manifested.

—On Wednesday morning there was a service in Trinity church, Boston, for the Girls' Friendly Convention. The sermon was by the Bishop. Mrs. C. E. Parker of this place played the organ, which has recently been enlarged and improved, under the direction of the organist, Mr. Horatio W. Parker.

—The Methodist church was filled Sunday morning at the service for aged people. Rev. T. W. Bishop preached from the words, "The hoary head is a crown of glory. If it be found in the way of righteousness," to which the congregation listened most intently. Among the aged present several were 80 years old and over, and one of them was Mr. Bishop's primary school teacher, who taught in the public schools of Boston, 37 years, and came from Braintree to attend the service. The music was fine and the whole service most enjoyable.

—Mrs. Charles L. Chase of Melrose street was very seriously injured in a runaway Tuesday night. She was driving with her little son, Roy, and a friend, Miss Burns, about 3 o'clock Tuesday. When near the corner of Freeman and Lexington streets the horse started, throwing the occupants of the vehicle out. The horse ran up the street a few rods and then turned and ran back over the prostrate ladies. Mrs. Chase being caught and dragged by the overturned buggy, sustaining injuries. The little boy was struck and his face badly bruised. Mrs. Chase, who was unconscious, was taken into Mr. Robinson's house where she revived slightly and was taken home and Dr. Clarke called. She did not regain consciousness again until Wednesday morning and then only for a brief period. Internal injuries of a more or less serious character are feared.

—The carelessness of workmen in failing to properly brace the sides of a sewer trench on Central street resulted in the death of one Italian workman, and the serious injury of another last Friday. A dozen Italians were at work in the trench, which was about 20 feet in depth. Suddenly one of the walls of the trench caved in, and about ten tons of earth and stone fell among the workers at the bottom of the deep cut. The frightened men scrambled to the ground, and when heads were counted by the boss it was found that two of the number were imprisoned under the mass of earth. A few minutes work on the part of the police and laborers resulted in the unearthing of Merino Dominico, who was found to be only slightly injured. He was taken to the Cottage Hospital in the patrol wagon. The other Italian was not found until an hour had been consumed in vigorous work with pick and shovel. He was found buried under, at least five tons of earth, and, from the appearance of the body, it was judged that he was killed the moment of the accident. The man's number on the books of the contractor is 213.

—Mr. F. H. Manning and family, who have been occupying the Field estate in Weston, have returned to their house on Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

—The members of Auburndale Lodge, A. O. U. W., enjoyed a supper after their regular meeting Wednesday evening. Caterer James of Waltham furnished the refreshment and a pleasant social hour was spent, after cigars were lighted.

—The residence of Mr. Jeremiah Woodward on Newland street is being extensively repaired and a new system of heating is being introduced. The Thayer water heater being put in to heat the entire house.

—There are letters at the post-office for Jane Boyle, Miss Alice Burd, Miss Kate E. Connolly, Miss Carrie Cassidy, Geo. W. Delahunty, J. C. Caldwell, Miss Annie Higgins, Miss Clara Hazeltine, Miss Clara Hanson, Mrs. Lizzy S. Thayer, Mr. Martin Mullen and Mr. James Woodcock.

—The Fleishman yeast team ran down Lexington street Wednesday morning, the horse dragging a thirty-seven pound weight which made some pretty wild gyrations in its travels. The horse was stopped at the museum's stable, no damage having resulted.

—The new stone depot at Riverside is rapidly nearing completion and in less than a month it will probably be ready for occupancy. The painters are at work on the outside woodwork and work on the interior finish is now progressing. One section of the new bridge is completed and two tracks are now in use on the new structure. Work on the second section has just been started. The tunnel under the tracks will be completed now very soon and the chaos of the depot surroundings will soon be a thing of the past, and work on the second bridge section be the only change in the regular routine of the place.

—Fun reigned on Tuesday evening at Riverside school on the occasion of the Phantom party given by the young ladies to celebrate All Hallows' Eve. In ghastly attire they met their teachers and friends in the parlors. The dim light falling on the costumes produced a weird effect, and much merriment resulted from the attempts to discover each other's identity. A gypsy, gifted in astrology, read the fate of each from the stars; stories were told and the time-honored games of the festival were tried with success. Ice cream and cake were served, the cakes cut containing each a ring, a thimble and a cent which were taken respectively, marriage, single life and a fortune.

—The young women of the "S. D." Society of Latin Seminary were treated Saturday evening to "A Box of Cigarettes." It was a box of the genuine article affected by young men who wear red neckties and suck the ends of their canes, oh, no; merely a little drama which had the name and which was witnessed by members of the secret society exclusively. Pretty girls for the occasion donned a costume not usual for them, and as boys played well their parts. The piece, a bright, harmless one-act drama, abounds in bright lines which were well rendered, and the privilege of the witness to the performance were outspoken in their praise of the dramatic ability displayed by the participants therein.

—Dr. Dike's second lecture on Monday evening, Oct. 30, was listened to with much the same absorbing interest as that of the previous week. A goodly number of people from the town, including several clergymen, were present. The lecture dealt mainly with the character of the ancient village community and was made more graphic in certain of its features by the colored drawings on the blackboard. Especially was this the case with reference to the grouping of the buildings constituting the village and the methods of cultivating the outlying lands and the gradual development of the creation of individual family holdings. Another interesting feature of the lecture was the representation of the evolution of several series of public interest and institutions all starting from the home as the unit and the germ of all social life.

THE FRIENDS OF REPRESENTATIVE E. J. H. ESTABROOKS FROM ALL OVER THE CITY MEET IN ELIOT HALL.

A meeting of the citizens interested in having Representative E. J. H. Estabrooks re-elected to the legislature was held in Eliot hall, Monday evening. The hall was filled with representatives from the different wards of the city and the expression in favor of Mr. Estabrooks was very emphatic, and excellent reasons were advanced for his support in the coming election by every citizen interested in fair play and the welfare of Newton.

The meeting was called to order by E. P. Tuttle and a chairman elected in the person of Mr. Henry W. Downs.

Chairman Downs in introducing the subject for which the meeting was called stated why Mr. Estabrooks stood before the citizens of Newton as an independent candidate. He spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen and Fellow Citizens of Newton. For the benefit of those who may not understand why Mr. Estabrooks is running on an independent citizen's ticket I will state that Mr. Estabrooks is not in this by his own desire, it is out of his hands. It is a fight, if you chose to call it so, of all who desire good government and pure politics in this city. Mr. Estabrooks was telegraphed while in Chicago asking him to run on an independent ticket; his reply was an emphatic no. On his return he was again approached and after much urging was induced to accept.

Mr. Estabrooks was notified by a party interested in Newton Street R. R. and other corporations that he was ruining his political prospects by his taking the stand he did in opposing such corporations. Mr. Estabrooks replied that he should do his duty let the consequences be what they might.

At the time of the convention no one dreamed there was danger that Mr. Estabrooks would not be returned to the Legislature. As no word of dissatisfaction had been uttered against him in public way, the delegates elected took so little interest that many did not attend the convention not knowing or believing any scheme on foot to defeat him.

In the mean time the threat made some six months previous was secretly put into effect—the credentials of those who did not intend to attend the convention were secured; one of which was used by the president of the Newton Street R. R. and another by one of its directors and still others by parties interested.

It has been the custom in Newton to give her Representatives two terms. Messrs. Chester and Howard had had these two terms when Estabrooks was put forward from Ward One, which had never had a Representative. Mr. Chester has now had three, Capt. Howard has no grievance as we understand.

Now, if the acts of Mr. Estabrooks in the Legislature had been against the general good and public policy, would it not have been fair and honorable to him and his friends to have discussed the matter at the convention and in the public press and not have taken this underhanded way to retire a pains-taking, faithful public servant.

Gentlemen, the matter is before you, what will you do about it? Will you let this thing go unrebuked, or will you take such steps as shall return Mr. Estabrooks to the Legislature by such an overwhelming majority as shall redeem the fair name of Newton and make it impossible for any man or set of men to dare to threaten, bribe or bulldoze any representative from the city of Newton in the future. The opposition, no doubt, in fact, have stated that they did not retire Mr. Estabrooks because of corporate influence, but they do not state what they did retire him for, and we are forced to believe that it was in accordance with threats previously made. Mr. Estabrooks is not opposed to corporation, but in favor of them, but wants a proper law to protect the people against stock-jobbing and stock-watering.

Mr. George C. Travis was introduced as one who was personally familiar with the record made by Mr. Estabrooks at the state home.

He said he was interested in the matter only for justice and right. The usual custom of the average voter is to adhere to the party nomination, if not, he wants a good reason for changing his vote. There were no politics in this movement. Both parties have had their conventions, the Democrats making no representative nomination and the Republican nominating Messrs. Chester and Howard, with neither of whom is any fault found. They are both good men. In the first place Mr. Estabrooks fitness has never been presented to the citizens of Newton. They have had no opportunity to pass upon it. The only question before the caucuses was the gubernatorial contest. No one suggested opposition to Mr. Estabrooks and it was taken for granted that Estabrooks and Chester would be re-nominated.

When the opposition first appeared in convention, the delegates refused to discuss the question, thus admitting that the opposition to Estabrooks was based wholly on individual opinion. It was not to vindicate Mr. Howard, for Mr. Howard never asked nor needed any vindication. The speaker came to the meeting not because it was a personal matter, but because it was a question of good government. It was not in the interests of good government to allow a man to be defeated by the efforts of two or three disgruntled men because of his active interest against legislative acts concerning certain corporations. These few selfish corporate interests set out to defeat the whole city.

He believed Mr. Estabrooks was not a crank or a fanatic, but a rational man, and it was perfectly evident to anyone that this matter of legislation in reference to corporations was assuming an awful aspect. We are indebted to corporations in many ways but the public is diametrically opposed to the methods and practices employed, and if we have sent to the legislature a man who is "blessed with sufficient stiffness of spinal column to stand off these lobbyists," when we find a man like that, it is the duty of every citizen to express their appreciation of such service whether they make enemies or not, by so doing.

I am here, he continued, because I believe Mr. Estabrooks did his duty like a man. (Applause.) When you find a man like that, a business man, who is willing to give his time—stick to him. Such men are rare.

The voters of this city will never have a better opportunity to make a test question than on election day, and when we see how glorious is the victory for

Mr. Estabrooks or how much the defeat, we will know how the citizens of Newton regard such men in our legislative halls and whether they sanction the crushing of such men by underhanded means.

Mr. Estabrooks has not been tearing down the corporations, but has endeavored to see that the rights of the people, as well as the corporations, were guarded.

Ex-Alderman S. A. D. Sheppard said, since the time of John A. Andrew he had never voted any but the straight Republican ticket, but his present position was taken to "right a wrong" and he thought when the people of Newton understood the principle involved in this matter they would see that the wrong is righted. The speaker went to the state house and looked over the records of the legislature to learn from them just what Mr. Estabrooks had done. They showed that a bill was presented to allow a street railway an increase of stock to $250,000 without extra mileage. Through the efforts of Mr. Estabrooks this watering of stock was materially reduced.

An amendment was made to another street railway bill making it null and void if the company sold to another corporation, and this was deemed so important a clause that it was embodied in almost every similar bill thereafter. During these fights Mr. Estabrooks was informed that his political career was doomed.

The suburban railway sent in a bill. Mr. Estabrooks began to look it up and after it went up to the third reading succeeded in finding out its intent. A freight road through the heart of Newton was to be built, connecting the N. Y. & N. E. and Boston & Maine railroads. It was a very quiet little piece of legislation and it was difficult to get any information. Mr. Estabrooks secured a postponement and at once notified the Newton city government. A second postponement was necessary and a vizor was put against the scheme which had the effect of defeating the measure. With that record and that threat it has become a necessity that Mr. Estabrooks be re-elected, that the voice of Newton be heard throughout the commonwealth saying to the corporations, "Gentlemen, leave your hands off the men we send to the legislature."

Mr. T. B. Fitzpatrick of West Newton said it was true the Democrats had made no representative nomination, but if the Democratic party continued to increase as evinced by the attendance at that meeting they would soon be compelled to nominate two representatives. (Laughter.)

He knew Mr. Estabrooks as a neighbor and business man of unquestioned integrity; one in whom you could place confidence. We want in our legislature men of such timber who will be true to the trusts confided in them. His reelection is a question of principle. Shall the interests of the people of Newton be set aside by a few individuals who seek to shelve your representative? This is not a partisan matter in any sense. It would be bad for the city's interest and its reputation for pure administration to allow such machinations to pass unrebuked.

Dr. J. R. Dean of Ward Five said the feeling there in favor of Mr. Estabrooks return was very strong. He had talked with many citizens of both parties and had yet to hear a dissenting voice.

Mr. C. W. Shepard of West Newton spoke of the attitude of Mr. Estabrooks on the sewer ordinance. He helped to frame and was in accord with the ordinance first drawn up. But when the citizens of Newton desired a change he put aside personal preference and labored in their behalf. His position on the drainage committee, it was thought, would be a serious set back to the new ordinance, but it proved otherwise.

Mr. Stephen Moore had always voted the Republican ticket, but came to the meeting from a sense of duty. Mr. Estabrooks had proved a thorn in the flesh to what he called "immoral legislation," and the only trouble he had been able to discover was that Mr. Estabrooks was an honest man. If he could have been bought this expression would never have been necessary.

Mr. P. A. McVicker of Ansburndale was glad to speak in favor of Mr. Estabrooks.

Mr. Asahel Wheeler of West Newton admired a positive man; he was to be prized by every citizen of Newton, whether Republican or Democrat. If the legislature had been composed of such men some years ago, he believed Newton would never have had to pay a tax of 10 per cent for the construction of a certain railroad.

Mr. Andrew S. March said if we are to expect business men to represent us in the legislature, and we need business men there, they must not be discouraged. No man of spirit would take any encouragement when defeated, and in doing his duty or refused a higher office after faithful service in a lesser capacity.

There is a principle involved here, which makes the reelection of Mr. Estabrooks of peculiar significance, and there is no better way to defeat corporate greed than by sending such men as Mr. Estabrooks to the legislature.

Mr. Bruce R. Ware spoke as a citizen of Newton, not as a Democrat, in support of a man, who was honest and fearless in the performance of duties in the legislature. The defeat of Mr. Estabrooks would be a blemish on the fair fame of the city of Newton.

The following resolutions were then presented by Mr. Ware, and were adopted unanimously:

Resolved: That it is the sense of this meeting that the following statements are simple facts:

First. That the nomination of Mr. E. J. H. Estabrooks for representative was prevented by the influence of the Street Railway and other Corporate interests.

Second. That Mr. Estabrooks ought to be sent to the Legislature for a second term, because he worked earnestly and successfully against the encroachments of corporate greed and always in the interest of the people.

crossing its territory just west of Mount Ida and by the Catholic church, running from Newton Highlands to Belmont, crossing our proposed new boulevard and park system.

Seventh. That Mr. Estabrooks was the most earnest worker at the State House in obtaining for Newton the legislation by which the Boyd Pond nuisance, so long a standing menace to public health, is to be abolished.

Eighth. That in the Legislation relative to the improvement of the Charles river, Mr. Estabrooks was the member who brought about the extension of that work from the Watertown dam to the Waltham line, which improvement will directly benefit a large strip of the territory of the city of Newton and serve to abate the malaria caused by the unhealthy condition of the river.

Ninth. That as house chairman of the joint standing committee on drainage, Mr. Estabrooks did good service all through the session, and was considered by his fellow members, one of the most faithful and conscientious men in the House.

Tenth. That the question of the election of Mr. Estabrooks has now risen to a plane far higher than that of a personal one. It is a question of the rights of the people on one side and the unwarranted encroachments of the great moneyed corporations on the other; shall the people rule or shall they be ruled by a plutocracy? Shall not the voice of the people of Newton as expressed by their vote November 7th, be a warning to corporations and an emphatic protest against wrong doing.

Messrs. Gustavus Forbes, C. C. Patten, of Newton Centre, Councilman J. E. Bristol, T. Aubrey Burns and ex-Councilman Rueben Forknall of Newton, spoke in endorsement of Mr. Estabrooks, the latter having served with him in the city council.

Chairman Downs suggested the organization of a committee for more effective work in the different wards.

The following gentlemen from each ward were selected to act as a committee to prepare a list of workers for each ward: Ward One, Rueben Forknall; Ward Three, C. W. Shepard; Ward Four, P. A. McVicker; Ward Five, Dr. J. R. Dean; Ward Six, G. Forbes; Ward Seven, B. R. Ware.

Their report was made through Secretary Tuttle, and the committee are composed of the following gentlemen: Ward One—H. W. Downs, J. E. Bristol, E. P. Tuttle, R. J. Morriss, R. Forknall.

Ward Two—G. F. Williams, N. H. Chadwick, G. M. Cranitch. Ward Three—F. M. Dutch, M. Morton, T. B. Fitzpatrick, A. Wheeler.

Ward Four—W. B. Atherton, G. D. Harvey, B. Early, D. F. Parker, P. A. McVicker. Ward Five—J. R. Dean, H. A. Spear, E. M. Billings, C. B. McGee, D. Bates.

Ward Six—H. S. Bassett, R. D. Saltonstall, W. F. Woodman, C. C. Patten, G. Forbes.

Ward Seven—G. D. Gilman, A. S. March, H. E. Bothfeld, S. A. D. Shepard, G. C. Travis.

The secretary was instructed to notify the committees to meet in Eliot Hall, Tuesday evening for organization and the meeting was then adjourned.

The Keeping of Dogs.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—

The great increase in the number of dogs in Newton is a source of serious disturbance to many persons. It is of the utmost importance that the city regulations relating to dogs should be carefully observed. It is reasonable that people should be allowed to sleep between ten o'clock and six. Of course there are persons whose avocations oblige them to be up later and to rise earlier than this, and there are others of robust physique, for whom five or six hours of sleep are sufficient; but most persons, certainly those of delicate constitution, need seven or eight hours.

Personally, I have a great regard for a good dog, but I do not think their rights or those of their owners, ought to interfere with the health and peace of the community.

We suppose it is the business of Mr. Martin Luffe, the city dog officer, to dispose of all unlicensed dogs. It would be well if he were directed to make more thorough search for them. We wish that, as a check on keeping dogs, the rate of license might be increased.

I submit here a copy of an ordinance of the City of Newton, relating to dogs, as some persons may not be familiar with it.

"Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Newton, as follows, viz: Section 1. No person shall own or keep in this City any dog which by barking, biting, howling, or in any other manner disturbs the quiet of any person. Whoever violates the foregoing provision shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten dollars."

"Sweet Charity."

In the Artists' Exhibition of 1893 at the New York Academy of Design, there was exhibited an oil painting by J. L. G. Ferris, entitled "Sweet Charity." Its richness of coloring commanded instant attention, while the lesson it taught was so impressive that one naturally returned to it for a second view.

Its subject is a young lady of colonial times, who is on an errand to one of the poorer families of the town. She has a sensible, charming face, which expresses with remarkable fidelity the sentiment of her errand. There is not a home that this charming picture will not ornament. It must be seen to be appreciated.

"Sweet Charity" was purchased by the Publishers of The Youth's Companion and has been reproduced in colors in large size, 14 1/2x21.

It will be sent to all new subscribers to The Companion who send $1.75 for a year's subscription, and the paper will also be sent free from the time the subscription is received, to January, 1894, and for a full year from that date, to January, 1895. This offer includes the Double Souvenir Numbers published at Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Address.

Newton High, 24, Cambridge, 16.

In a game replete with brilliant plays, and full of excitement all the way through, Newton High defeated Cambridge High and Latin on Jarvis field, Cambridge, Saturday afternoon, 24 to 16. It was Newton's first interscholastic game, and the school's eleven is no longer a dark horse but a strong aspirant for that bit of silver which typifies the foot ball championship of the preparatory schools of Boston and vicinity.

The two schools were strongly supported by enthusiastic friends. The pretty girls were out, too, Newton's delegation being the larger, and the way they flashed the yellow and black—the school colors—was enough to encourage any team.

The game opened with the ball in Newton's possession. The close wedge netted them 15 yards, and Knox poked through the centre for 20 yards more. The centre was hit a couple of times for short gains, and after three minutes actual play broken down a hole and went through for the first touchdown for Newton. He kicked goal and the score stood: Newton, 6; Cambridge, 0.

Cambridge worked the blind wedge and got 10 yards. Sanborn was called upon and answered with a beautiful run of 25 yards, followed by a line between right tackle and end. The centre was banged twice without much gain, and then Sanborn found the same hole open and got through, scoring a touchdown. Watson kicked the goal and the score was even.

Newton got 15 yards on the opening wedge and worked the ball to the 15 yard line, where Brown got through for a run of 15 yards and another touchdown. He kicked goal. Score—Newton, 12; Cambridge, 0.

Short rushes by Goodrich, Watson and Sanborn and a liberal use of the revolving wedge worked the ball well toward Newton's goal, and then Sanborn got around Newton's left end and across the line. Watson kicked goal. Score, 12 and 12. This finished the scoring in the first half. Cambridge was stopped within two yards of goal by great work on Newton's part.

The second half was bitterly fought. Cambridge worked down to Newton's 15 yard line. Watson made a run of seven yards and Sanborn ran the remaining eight, scoring a touchdown. No goal. Score—Cambridge, 16; Newton, 12. It was getting very dark, and Newton went in to win with a vengeance. In a few minutes she scored again, and points were 18 to 16 in her favor. Not long after this Brown made his 80 yard run and final touchdown, the score being 24 to 16, Newton leading.

Newton, A. A., 6; Roxbury, 0.

At Newton Centre, last Saturday, the N. A. A. eleven, by the hardest kind of work, won their third consecutive League game, defeating the strong West Roxbury A. A. eleven, 6 to 0.

The game was close and exciting from start to finish and was thoroughly enjoyed by the 1500 people present. Newton had a little the best of it throughout, but were unable to score until within ten minutes of the close of the game, owing to the splendid defensive work of the opposing team. Too much credit cannot be given Newton's entire rush line for the way they played against men so much heavier than themselves and managed to stop the heavy West Roxbury backs in their plunges through the centre.

Tarbell who was injured recently in practice made his re-appearance the second half and his playing reminded one of past years, when he did such good work for the N. H. S. and with Page on the other end, it was useless for Roxbury to try anything but mass plays through the centre.

Paul, Bond and Carter in the centre had the hardest work to do, but always seemed to be on hand when needed.

Rogers and Cushing took part in every play, the former especially distinguishing himself by his hard and low tackling.

The men behind the line were all that could be asked for, although the interference was not quite as good as usual.

The game began at 3:45, West Roxbury having the ball, but after a slight scrum it went to Newton on downs. Being unable to advance it, Knight kicked. Roxbury gained ten yards through the centre but fumbled, and Brown dropped on the ball.

Williams then made a run of 30 yards around the end, the longest in the game. The ball soon went to Roxbury on downs and from this time until the end of the half, both sides tried to advance it on mass plays, but without success.

Newton has been noticed in previous games seemed stronger in the second half and played with more life.

The backs did not seem to have much trouble in going through the visitors heavy centre, and soon carried the ball within a yard of goal line.

Here Roxbury made a great stand, and after three downs with but a yard to gain, broke through before Fitz could pass the ball to the backs, compelling him to make the fourth down and thus scoring the half.

They were unable to make much gain, and the ball went to Newton on downs. Good work by Brown, Knight and Williams advanced the ball to Roxbury's ten yard line.

Here Williams took it and going through the centre scored the first and only touch down of the game after 50 minutes hard work.

At this point the excitement was intense and the spectators cheered vigorously.

Knight kicked the goal making the score 6-0.

Roxbury remaining five minutes, West Roxbury could not make any great gain, and time was soon called with the ball near the centre of the field.

Nichols of West Roxbury was the main stay of his eleven, and with Tower and Peters did the best playing for their eleven.

Next Saturday the eleven will play their last home game having as opponents Tech '97.

On Nov. 11th, the final League game will be played at Hyde Park between the Newton and Hyde Park elevens.

As the teams are tied for first place, and very evenly matched, a good game may be expected, and it is hoped that the eleven will not lack supporters on that date. The teams lined up as follows:

NEWTON A. A.
Brown (Tarbell) 1 e f. e., French Cushing, L. E. Quarter-back
Paul, L. E. Centre
Bond, L. E. Right half-back
Rogers, L. E. Left half-back

Williams, L. E. Left end
Nichols, L. E. Right tackle
Tower, L. E. Left tackle
Peters, L. E. Right guard
Knights, L. E. Left guard
Colman, L. E. Centre
Score, Newton A. A. 6; W. Roxbury A. A. 0.
Touchdowns, Williams. Goals from touchdowns—Brown, Knight, Scott. Referee, Paul. Time, 60 m. Attendance, 1500.

Newton High and Boston College.

At Newton Centre Wednesday afternoon the Newton high school played Boston College. At the beginning of the game Newton high rushed the ball right down the field for a touchdown and goal. Just before the end of the first half Newton scored the second touchdown. In the second half Boston College played a much harder game, and was forcing the ball close to Newton's goal when, on account of a decision by the referee, Boston College left the field.

The features of the game were the playing of Redpath for Newton and of Smith and Brown for Boston College. The score:

BOSTON COLLEGE.
Cobb, L. E. Quarter-back
Leavitt, L. E. Centre
Van Voorhis, L. E. Right half-back
Singer, L. E. Left half-back
Paul, F. G. Full-back
Lee, R. T. Right end
Blanchard, L. E. Left end Goodrich, L. E. Right tackle
Redpath, L. E. Left tackle
Brown, J. Right guard
Knox, L. E. Left guard
Watson, L. E. Centre
Score—Newton High, 10; Boston College, 0.
Touchdowns—Redpath (2). Goal from touchdowns—Brown. Umpire—White. Referee—Fraser.

Some Mistakes at the Fair.

The managers of the Columbian Exposition achieved a wonderful success and an apparent impossibility, but being human they might not reach perfection. But it was a pity that their most important mistake should have affected directly the comfort and health of the millions of visitors. Of these visitors, it is probable that ninety five per cent, not only did not see a great part of the Exposition, but failed to properly enjoy what they did see, on account of the physical weariness caused by traversing the great distances within the grounds.

This was a serious mistake, and one that could doubtless have been avoided, if a small part of the brain and money lavished upon the enterprise had been applied to this particular subject. The intramural railway, it is true, served a few points on the border of the grounds, but the stations were far apart, the climb to them was very long and tedious, and in no proper sense were the wants of the multitude met by the intramural railway.

To be sure, there were also the electric launches and the rolling chairs, but these were quite inadequate also because they were both too slow and too expensive. The problem was, to move a vast throng every day between numerous principal points within the grounds, and to do it quickly, cheaply and safely. Let us suppose a visitor in the Art Building became satiated with paintings and desired to go to the Manufacturers Building, or that a Massachusetts visitor had finished his or her letter in the State Building and wished to keep an appointment in Electricity Building; then, although all these points were within the control portion of the Exposition grounds, the visitor would, in nine cases out of ten, take the long walk between them and thus exhaust the energy which should be reserved for higher use. Hundreds of other points, as well as the above four illustrative ones, might be mentioned where the result would be the same. Just what the solution of this problem might be the writer does not pretend to say. It might be a development of the moving sidewalk idea, either on the surface or in an open trench a few feet below the surface, or there might be underground tunnels or pneumatic tubes or again some adaptation of the numerous devices in hanging or bicycle electric cars. But whatever the solution, once solved, the pleasure and profit of the visitors would have been doubled and the attendance enormously increased. Again in the writer's opinion, there was another mistake on the grand scale in creating and permitting such an affair as the "Midway."

It is probable that the majority will disagree with this opinion, but majorities are frequently much in error through thoughtlessness. The Fair was designed, neither as a means of frivolous entertainment, nor as a money-making bazaar. Its definition is made with the adjectives, grand, noble, beautiful, inspiring, educational. With this lofty purpose the Midway Pleasure was sadly out of keeping. In the main, it was a frivolous catch-penny affair, filled with Turks, Arabs and other dirty barbarians, under the management of sharp Yankers whose purpose seemed to be to give the minimum of show at the maximum of cost. Everything about it was in sharp contrast with the real Exposition, and it seems that no severer condemnation than this could be made. If the half-dozen fine exhibits in the Midway had been brought into the main grounds and the balance relegated to outer darkness, much weary tramping would have been saved and the Fair itself would have escaped a regrettable smirch upon its dignity and worth.

I do not intend to understand how the management could have deliberately located that prime attraction, the Ferris Wheel, in the midst of the Midway "fakery" shows and a mile from the centre of the grounds, and then have neglected to furnish any means of getting there except on foot. Think of the millions who have walked down the Midway to the big wheel this summer. Assuming that ten million of them would have paid a 5 cent fare for quick surface locomotion, the income from this source alone would have been $500,000. Speaking of figures suggests a third error, a matter of attendance. It is quite evident from the vast preparations made in the matters of railway approaches, exits and entrance, toilet rooms, etc., that the attendance was expected to be very much larger than it really was, except in the closing days. That is, they expected, say 300,000 people daily. But if these people actually came at the beginning as they actually did at the end of the Exposition, the whole affair would soon have been pronounced by the public a failure and a disappointment. For it simply is a fact that there was not room enough in the Fair for 300,000 people. They could get into the grounds, but they could not move about them with any comfort or sense of being repaid for time and money.

One cannot see paintings in any proper sense nor examine beautiful china or furniture, nor drink in the glories of the Court of Honor in the midst of a restless throng of people, however polite they may be. To the writer's mind the capacity of the Fair did not exceed 200,000 at the very outside.

All these and many other minor errors the managers of future expositions have noted and are already studying. For it is morally certain that spurred on by local pride and encouraged by the colossal success of the Columbian Exposition, New York will seize the first opportunity to have an exposition of its own, more perfect still than that which has just vanished like a beautiful dream. But those of us who have once seen the Court of Honor must ever believe that this magic space, which in daylight, lay a veritable dreamland of beauty by the sparkling wave of Lake Michigan, and, at night, blazed like an apocalyptic vision from Peristyle to Administration dome can never be surpassed.

The Gamewell Wins Again.

About a year ago the Municipal Fire & Police Telegraph Co. brought suit against the City of Providence for an alleged infringement of patent in the use of certain signal boxes furnished by the Gamewell Co. The Gamewell Co. promptly appeared as defendant and insisted on a speedy trial of the case. The Court has just issued an order dismissing the bill for lack of prosecution by the complainant.

I received the three Souvenir Spoons, and think they are lovely. Please send me three more, which will make the set. I like Ivoryine better than any washing powder I have ever used; it makes my clothes so beautifully white and clean.
MRS. C. A. SUTHERLAND.

LAWRENCE, MASS., Sept. 25, '93.
The Ivoryine gives the greatest satisfaction. I like it the best of any of the washing powders on the market. The clothes washed with it look very white, and it requires only about one-half the labor which it takes with other washing preparations. The spoon which you sent me is a beauty, and I don't see how you can furnish such a splendid article for so little money. I enclose doves and stamps for two more spoons.

THE ELECTION.

The campaign ends next Tuesday when the question of the governorship and several other positions will be decided. It has not been very exciting as far as Newton is concerned, and the lack of campaign meetings has been remarkable. This may be due to the fact that the voters of Newton are less apt to be swayed by campaign rhetoric and torch-light enthusiasm than the voters of any other city. They all read the papers here, not on one side only but on all sides and do not have to be hurried at by political speakers before they can make up their minds.

There are two things in which Newton is specially interested in the coming election; one is, in rolling up a large vote for Councillor Leeson, who has been such a credit to the city and to the state by his conservative and fair-minded course on the questions that have come before the Governor's Council, and Newton should give him a unanimous vote.

The second thing which specially interests the voters is the Representative question, which has stirred up so much agitation in the past few weeks. The three candidates are Messrs. Chester and Howard on the Republican side, and Mr. Estabrooks, the Citizen's candidate, who is also a Republican. The voters are pretty familiar with the merits of the case by this time. All the candidates good men, all have had experience in the legislature, and would do credit to Newton. We do not think that any one of them can be called a corporation candidate, but Mr. Estabrooks represents more than either of the others, the cause of the people against the improper influence of the wealthy corporations on state legislation.

He does not believe in making stock-watering legal, or in passing laws for the benefit of stock-jobbing schemes. In the last legislature he was so active against these schemes that he incurred the special enmity of the agents of the interested corporations, and it is openly charged that it was for this reason that he was defeated in the Republican convention.

The reputation of Newton as a city of pure politics, and free from the curse of professional manipulators, is at stake in the matter and for this reason it is important that Mr. Estabrooks should be elected. The situation is very clearly outlined in the report of the public meeting held in his behalf on Monday night, and every voter should read it. The report will be found on the second page of this paper.

NO POLICE INSPECTION.

We hear more or less complaints about the sale of liquor in Newton, and it is charged that in certain sections it is sold by druggists without any pretence at restrictions. This may or may not be true, but it seems to be a fact that when a druggist is once granted a license, the city authorities seem to think that their work is done, and the police make no attempt to see whether the regulations are complied with. This is so well known that the purchasers of liquor tell the druggists that there is no use of their signing the book, as it is never examined, and the druggist can not plead the fear of police inspection as an excuse for refusing to sell to an applicant who evidently should not have the liquor. The druggist has therefore to choose between doing what he thinks ought not to be done, or making a personal enemy of a man who may be in other respects a good customer. Certainly, the way the law is looked after is unfair to the druggists, as it places upon them the whole responsibility, and a druggist must needs be a man of the highest character to deserve such implicit confidence. If the City Marshal, for instance, should be instructed to look after the thing it would be only what he is supposed to do by the outside public, and it would relieve the druggists of responsibility, and at the same time put a stop to any transgressions of the law. If some drug stores are turned into regular bar-rooms, as some people insist, it is only because there is no police supervision. It is unfortunate for the good name of the city that such stories should be in circulation, as there is no doubt that the majority of the druggists are careful to live up to the letter of the law.

A WRITER in The Forum, in discussing the present low estate of the United States Senate, places the blame upon the present condition of politics. If the majority of the Senate is made up of mere millionaires, political bosses, cranks, and second rate material generally, it is because politics has been neglected by the better class of people, and there is a general disposition on the part of the average citizen to let the offices go to the man who can "hustle" for them with the greatest success, without regard to his character or his fitness. There is a good deal of truth in this, and there is no doubt but that the present condition of politics is responsible for the present foul odor of bargains and purely selfish legislation which has come forth in recent years. The silver mine owners are a good illustration of the prevailing feeling. They have something to sell and they want the government to take hold and make their commodity more valuable. If this is not done they are willing to see everything go to smash and will do all in their power to help along the catastrophe. This is too much the characteristic of modern politics, and if the recent scenes in the Senate shall arouse the people to a sense of the necessity of paying more attention to the character of the men for whom they vote and less to other things, the disgraceful exhibition will have served a useful purpose.

We have received, but two late for publication, a letter calling attention to the excellent service Mr. Chester has rendered as representative. Articles of any length should not be left to the last moment before being sent in, if it is desired to have them inserted. As we understand it, none of Mr. Estabrooks' friends, and none of those who deprecate the influence of corporations in Newton politics, have any fault to find with Mr. Chester. They think the issue raised should be met by the election of Mr. Estabrooks, and as for the other representative some have one preference and some have another as the votes will show. They regard it as the one issue of importance in this matter, that it shall be shown that Newton politics are free from all corporation influence, and that a man who does his duty can feel that he will be backed up by his constituents, even if he opposes all the corporations in the state.

The registration of new voters seems to have been carefully attended to in Newton, and the fight over representatives will probably call out a large vote. Otherwise very little campaign work seems to have been done. The Republicans have sent out cabinet photographs of their candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, which is hardly serious campaigning, and the Democrats have sent out copies of Mr. Greenhalge's curious letter, telling why he should be chosen governor. Both parties have hung a few posters about the city and possibly they both agreed on account of the hard times and the fear of tariff changes to go to as little expense as possible. The voters also seem as little disposed to enthuse as the committees.

THE Railroad Commissioners have finally interfered to preserve Brattle street in Cambridge from the electric car nuisance, and have refused to allow the West End to put an electric line through the historic street. The street can thus be used for driving purposes, and the residents of the famous old houses will not have their quiet disturbed. Mt. Auburn street is certainly better fitted for a trunk line, and it is to be hoped that the West End will now hurry up matters and get its electric cars running to Newton in the near future.

THE physicians of Newton are making a vigorous protest against the practice in some schools of giving out lead and slate pencils to the children, and collecting them at night. In this way contagious diseases, especially diphtheria, may be easily spread, as children have a habit of putting pencils in their mouths, and the physicians want the practice discontinued, and the pupils allowed to retain their pencils, when they have been given out.

THE Waltham papers are having a regular monkey and parrot time. The News charges the Free Press with taking money for its support of high tariff and other doctrines, and the Free Press retorts that the News is a rum organ. These brethren should learn to dwell together in harmony, as the campaign will soon be over, and there is no need of getting unduly excited.

SOME action in regard to grade crossings should be taken by the board of aldermen, next Tuesday night, although just what scheme may be favored does not matter. The committee to be appointed by the court will attend to that and the important thing is to do something, so that there will not be a delay of several years till Natick and other towns have finished the work.

If the friends of Mr. Estabrooks really wish to elect him, they will vote for him alone and so roll him up a majority.

Striking For a Raise.

"If," said Mr. Tenace weary as he came out of the proprietor's office and walked sulkily to his place behind the handkerchief counter, "if an injection of gold will cure the liquor habit in all its forms, why will a similar judicious use of whisky or a like beverage not be a sure cure for heartless miserliness and hard fisted penny-pinching?"—Boston Herald.

An Unreasonable Mermaid.

"TMs here show business," said the dime museum man, "ain't what it's cracked up to be by a long shot. A man's allus runnin' agin things that do him up."

"What's troubling you?" inquired the advance agent.

"Why, that darn mermaid of mine is gettin' me into debt over my head. Now, you know I've got the only genuine mermaid on exhibition. She's a maid of the sea, she is, a living example of the storied nymphs of the wave of old, as my program says. I pay her a big salary, and she puts all my other attractions in the shade. It would put your eye out to see the way the people look at her. I tell you, she's the greatest freak in the business, and the best of it is she's genuine. But to come down to cases, as I wuz saying, she keeps me in hot water all the time. There ain't a day that I don't have to do somethin' special for her. I don't dast refuse, for I can't get along without her in these dull times. Sometimes, though, she makes me crazy by her unreasonable requests. What do you suppose she wants now?"

"Couldn't imagine," replied the advance agent, "unless it is fresh sea water every day or something like that."

"Huh!" said the dime museum man disgustedly, "that would be easy. That darn mermaid don't want a thing but a pair of button white kid shoes."—Buffalo Express.

At the present time, the people of New England are for the most part of one mind in regard to the tariff question, whether they be Republicans or Democrats. Some wage earners from other parties, in fact many of them, voted for Cleveland and reform last fall, but we feel assured that they did this because they were deceived by glittering generalities and specious arguments, not because they really believe that the protective system was injurious. Even if they did think so, their eyes were speedily opened, for on the advent of Cleveland and his party to power, distrust swept over the land leaving it in a shaky condition. The lesson was a bitter one, but now they realize that free trade means the crippling of American industries and misery and want for American workmen. There is no reason why those who think alike should not vote alike, and in the coming elections, we think there will be many Democrats, who favor protection and sound money, who will be found under the Republican banner.—(South Framingham Tribune.)

John E. Russell, the democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts, was formerly secretary of the state board of agriculture. He filled that position very well, but with no such degree of absolute perfection as the party press represent. When in Congress Mr. Russell lost much of his hold on the farmers of the state by advocating the repeal of the national oleo-margarine act.—(N. E. Homestead, Oct. 19th, 1893.)

MR. ESTABROOKS' NOMINATION.

The undersigned, delegates to the Republican Representative Convention, are much surprised at the statements that have been made in regard to the action of the convention, and they feel that it is due to themselves and to the other delegates, some of whom are absent from the city, that the truth should be stated.

There was no attempt of any kind to defeat Mr. Estabrooks in any of the caucuses. Delegates were chosen in their respective Wards without any inquiry or thought as to their opinions on his merits. We believed then, and we believe now, that we were chosen because the Republicans present at the caucuses had confidence in our judgment and integrity, and were perfectly willing to leave the whole matter in our hands. We have lived in Newton long enough to expect that statements affecting our character and independence should not be made as hastily as has been done this year. If the practice of making such statements, in the way that these have been made, is to be continued, it will go far to discourage good men from discharging their duties as citizens.

The reason why Mr. Chester and Capt. Howard were nominated was that they had proved by their service in the Legislature that they were able, intelligent, fairminded and faithful representatives of the city. During their service they had always been ready to do everything in their power to secure legislation requested by the city government, and have always been courteous and painstaking in regard to all matters of legislation affecting the interests of Newton or its citizens. No one of us, nor, to our knowledge or belief, was any delegate to the convention, influenced in the slightest degree by Mr. Estabrooks' supposed hostility to street railway corporations. It was felt that an injustice had been done Capt. Howard the year before, when Mr. Estabrooks' friends succeeded in the attempt to substitute him for Capt. Howard. That attempt they had a perfect right to make, and it was made in a perfectly proper manner. In the same way the friends of Capt. Howard were perfectly justified in making the attempt this year to right the injustice which had been previously done him. Capt. Howard, moreover, deserves great credit for the manly and loyal manner in which he accepted his defeat.

An informal ballot was taken this year which showed very clearly the preference of the delegates. Mr. Estabrooks received on that ballot a much smaller vote than either of the other candidates. The matter was then discussed publicly in the convention, and his friends were given ample opportunity to state his claims. The result of the discussion was that he received fewer votes on the second ballot than he had on the first. We believe that Mr. Chester and Capt. Howard are thoroughly competent representatives of the city, and we trust that every one who desires to vote for the best representatives will vote for them.

—Mrs. D. C. Heath gave a card party last Saturday evening at her residence on Highland avenue in honor of Miss Eleanor Davenport. The party of progressive hearts was enjoyed by about twenty-five young people, Miss Emily Whiston and Mr. Eugene Milliken carrying off first prizes. Music and a collation were features of the occasion.

—A very pleasant reception was given by Mrs. S. W. Mansfield to her old and new neighbors on Tuesday afternoon at her pretty home in Chelsea place. Mrs. Mansfield was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Brown of Boston, Mrs. Fage of Boston, and Mrs. J. Hanson of South Boston. A collation was served in the dining room, which was decorated with potted plants, notable among which were several Cosmos of different tints, raised by the hostess. It was a charming little affair, and will be long held in remembrance by the friends who were present.

—Miss Anna Culver of Middletown, Ct., a guest of Mrs. Albert Walker gave a fine essay before the Newtonville Guild on Tuesday afternoon. The subject was "Carmen Sylva," the poet-queen of Roumania. Miss A. M. Beecher whose ready speech and brilliant thought always lends charm added a few words at the close of the paper. The next Guild meeting will have for its topic "A Day in Lexington" and Mrs. Andrew Wellington will be chairman of the program committee for that afternoon.

—Considerable of a sensation has been caused by stories about a party of young girls who started out to celebrate Halloween dressed in boys clothes. They amused themselves by firing cabbages at the house of Geo. S. Eddy, near Highland avenue, who had been gathering them for the winter. He gave chase to the party and catching one of the masqueraders, gave her a sound shaking and some smart slaps, they say, before he found out that it was not a boy he was punishing. The girls did not appreciate this ending of their celebration and a warrant for Mr. Eddy's arrest was obtained by the parents of the girl who was punished and in court the matter was present and the case was continued for two weeks.

—A petition is being circulated about Newton for signatures asking that the city council consider the advisability of building a new city hall at Newtonville. It has been urged by some of the citizens that the old Walker estate on Washington street should be bonded by the city as a site for a new city hall to be erected in the not too distant future. The present city hall is an old wooden structure, which has long ago outgrown its usefulness. All the city departments are crowded, and in some it is almost impossible to properly do the work required. Last winter it was impossible to properly heat the building, and it has been asserted by experts that it is useless to try to arrange a heating apparatus from which satisfactory results may be expected. Several members of the committee on public property have expressed themselves in favor of the erection of a new building, and say that the preliminary steps should be taken at once.

—The classes in military drill, under Maj. Benyon, Prof. Hills in ensembles, Miss Call in concentration, the Misses Ransom and McMartin in gymnastics and Miss Barrows in demonstration cooking are now in the full tide of successful experiment.

—The following letters remain in the postoffice: Mary Butterfield, Geo. Carr, Miss M. Carter, Margaret Carey, W. A. Eddy, Miss L. S. Collins, Wm. D. Deane, Miss M. Dixon, M. C. Eades, David F. Ellis, Miss Minnie Ford, Ingram Johnson, John Jerome, Mrs. S. J. Jackson, Miss Katie Kennedy, J. H. Kilroy, Mrs. M. F. Knapp, L. A. Kent, Mano Lyons, Mrs. P. A. Laughlin, Reuben Leard, Mrs. Henry Lovatt, Mrs. Jno. Munroe, Mrs. Mary E. Mill, Miss H. R. Peck, Peter Roycroft, Mr. W. A. Thomas, Fanny Welden.

—The Newton Suffrage League gave a Halloween party in the parlors of the Universalist church on Tuesday, preceded by an afternoon sale of fancy articles and other attractions of special interest to the young. In the evening Burns' Halloween poem was finely read in character by Mrs. Walter Stearns of Newton, after which tableaus illustrations of the poem were very pleasingly presented. The quaint Scottish costumes and appropriate attitudes winning hearty applause from an appreciative audience. Mrs. Stinson and Miss Farrar finely rendered several Scotch songs. A closing feature of the evening was a pleasant hour spent in dancing by the young people. Copies of the Battle hymn of the Republic, with autographs of Mrs. Howe, kindly furnished by her for the occasion were sold. A few of these are left and can be obtained of the secretary, Mrs. Richard Anders and of Mrs. Flora D. Sampson at Newton.

A BIT OF HOLLAND.

PLEASANT ENTERTAINMENT IN AID OF THE CENTRAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH FURNISHING FUND.

The Dutch Kermess opened very auspiciously Tuesday afternoon, in Armory Hall, Newton, and was continued during the afternoon and evenings of Wednesday and Thursday, with pronounced success, and the ladies of the Central Congregational church, under whose direction it was given, are entitled to a great deal of congratulation.

The hall was very prettily arranged, with palms and potted plants distributed here and there. At the rear of the stage platform was a small forest of foliage.

The two opposite sides of the hall were utilized for the houses of the Dutch village, large scenery hangings portraying the houses from the doorway and windows of which were displayed the various wares that drew to the festival so many Newtonites.

The villagers, all attired in quaint Dutch costumes, presided over the different houses and had these articles on sale: Fancy articles, Mrs. William Hollings; domestic wares, Mrs. E. E. Stiles; flowers, Mrs. Frank Lucas; baskets, Miss Thompson; fruit, Mrs. A. C. Juddius; confectionery, Miss Preston; lemonade, Mrs. Joseph Willey; children's table, Mrs. Samuel Brewer; windmill, Mrs. C. W. Rolfe; inn, Mrs. Merrill Brown; G. W. Wallace, Mrs. H. P. Mansfield.

Capt. Chas. E. Davis as burgomaster of the village in his iron grey wig, velvet coat and knee breeches contributed to the dignity of each occasion wherein his presence as chief magistrate of the village was required, especially in the procession of villagers each day, and had an able assistant, in the person of Mr. Arthur W. Vose, chief marshal, who wore a jaunty Dutch costume.

The village procession was a pretty feature, in which nearly 100 ladies and gentlemen in costume participated each day of the kermess.

The entertainment, Tuesday evening, comprised vocal selections by Miss Bodee Robinson of Boston, a fancy dance by Miss Elsie Wetherell of Newtonville, and a tambourine dance by young misses, Miss M. Josephine Woodworth having charge of the entertainment features of each evening, in which the assistance of Miss Mayday Fuller, who presided at the piano, was indispensable.

On the second day Armory Hall was filled to overflowing during the afternoon and evening with young people, for whom special attractions were provided. The grand march of the villagers, headed by Burgomaster C. E. Davis, was followed by an interesting representation of the newsboys, chorus from "1492" by eight juveniles.

The Oxford minuet was a special feature, and included as performers Carrie Curtis, Elsie Wetherell, Alice Wakefield, Hayward Rolfe, Bertha Hackett and Harold Taylor.

The leading entertainment feature was the fancy bicycle riding of W. S. Malby, who held the attention of all during his clever exhibition.

The tambourine dance by 10 little girls in costume, under the direction of Miss W. dorth, was a pleasing feature, and was followed by a fancy dance by Elsie Wetherell and skirt dancing by Misses Alice Clarke and Lulu Davis.

Mr. William Clarke of London. Many Newton people have heard this noted lecturer on England's Social Progress, and the working classes, and he has consented to come to Newton and speak on "Matthew Arnold as a Social Reformer" at the residence of Mr. D. C. Heath, Highland avenue, Newtonville, on next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The tickets have been placed at 35 cents and a cordial invitation is extended to those from any part of the city who would like to hear him. Mr. Clarke's courses of lectures in Boston have aroused great interest, as the present movements in England are of great significance, and no one could come to us better informed concerning them than Mr. Clarke.

ALONE.

I think that I am quite alone
 Since that strange night, the mystic night
 That hung
 Tranced 'mid her stars to listen, when, mine own,
 Those few short words arose from heart to tongue,
 And as you whispered them life changed to something Something rapt, glorified, sublime, to me.

The soft gloom hung about us like a veil.
 Only the glimmer in the western skies
 Crept in to show your lips were passion pale,
 To read the rapture in your half closed eyes,
 And then those words were spoken, and the rest
 Was hushed in happy silence on your breast.

Morning and daylight swept away the dream.
 Life clasped her fetters and resumed her sway;
 Only a soft, sweet knowledge, like a gleam,
 Lingered around each hour of all the day.
 And even the bitter ring of the farewell
 With a gentler note upon the spirit fell.

And since, my darling, though broad leagues
 of space
 Are spread between us, though dim, dull and mute
 Is life without the sunshine of thy face,
 Is life without the echo of your foot,
 So all encompassed by your love and I
 That my blank ways are trod contentedly.

Since in all evil things I think how I Would soothe them—in all happy things I think How you would prize them—set to measure true,
 There is no discord in our perfect link,
 With thought, faith, hope, with life and love
 your own,
 How can your chosen ever feel "alone?"
 —All the Year Round.

HOW HE ESCAPED.

During the middle ages the country
 now called Belgium was known by the name of Flanders, or perhaps it would be better to say that Flanders was the largest of the several feudal provinces included in that territory. Latterly, however, Flanders comprised not only what is known as modern Belgium, but also a large part of Holland and northern France. The ruler of the country was called an earl, and in the latter part of the fourteenth century Louis de Malatin wore the coronet, which he had inherited from a long line of earls, all of whom lay sleeping in glory in the abbey of Blandigni.

The proud and wealthy burghers chafed under the sovereignty of the feudal lords, and in Ghent particularly this feeling of independence was very strong. The earl, who noted the popular disaffection, made haste therefore to depart from Ghent and removed his residence to the city of Bruges, where he had a strong castle.

Now, Earl Louis was neither a wise statesman nor a brave general, and he foolishly augmented the public ill will by endeavoring to rob Ghent of its superior advantages. Four noble rivers supplied the city with its commercial and manufacturing facilities. Bruges had no river, and so a body of dikes were sent to construct a canal by which the waters of Ghent might be conveyed to Bruges. But the men of Ghent fell upon them and put them to death.

Earl Louis then dispatched another company, which met with the same fate.
 These were decided acts of rebellion, but the men of Ghent were in the right, and the earl was in the wrong. Kings and princes very seldom stop, however, to think about the justice of anything.
 They care only to secure their own pleasure.

The earl of Flanders was very angry with the men of Ghent, and he summoned an army by which he hoped to conquer his rebellious subjects. He overcame them in one battle, but in the next he met with defeat and was forced to retreat to Bruges. Here he was besieged by the enemy, led by the brave and energetic Philip of Arteveld, a young man of great promise.

Earl Louis did not feel much alarmed at the success of the enemy, for the strong walls of Bruges seemed to laugh to scorn all attacks of a besieger. But there were traitors within, and one night
 the earl was aroused from sleep with the tidings that the city gates were opened.

He instantly summoned his soldiers,
 and mounting his warhorse rode forth to meet the foe, shouting the warcry of his race:

"Flanders for the lion! Flanders for the earl!"

He was preceded by torchbearers and trumpeters, and a man bearing a banner on which was the famous Flemish lion wrought in gold.

And now up the streets marched the men of Ghent, shouting: "Death to the earl! Down with feudal tyranny!"

"My lord," said Robert de Maeschant,
 a near and loyal friend, "march not against them—they outnumber us 10
 to 1."

"Flanders for the lion!" cried the earl.
 But when he saw the numerous and well appointed host and heard the murderous cries his heart misgave him.

"What, shall I do, Sir Robert?" he asked.

"Order your torches out, then exchange clothes with me and get out of the city if you can," replied the faithful officer.

So the torches were extinguished, and hurrying to a darkened stable the earl and the esquire exchanged clothing.

While this was occurring the rebels,
 who had seen the flash of the golden coronet on the earl's helmet and the sheen of his velvet mantle under the glow of the torches, were rushing in swift pursuit.

"Hasten for your life!" whispered Sir Robert. "I am the earl and you De Maeschant."

But this deceit was quickly discovered, and wishing for no man's life save the earl's the rebels hastened in all directions after the illustrious fugitive.

Hard pressed, for he saw his enemies before and behind him, he rapped at the door of a low cottage. His knock was responded to by a poorly dressed woman, who held a babe in her arms.

"I am Louis, thy sovereign, and evil men seek my life," cried the earl. "Give me shelter and refuge, and St. Mary will reward you."

"I am only a poor widow, but such as I have I give you. My lord, enter."

It was a poor, thatched roofed hut with only one room. The loft above was reached by a ladder. Never before had the powerful Earl of Flanders entered so miserable an abode. The woman conducted him to the loft and showed him six children asleep on a bed of straw.

"Conceal thyself, and quickly, for I hear thy pursuers already at the door,"
 she said, pointing to the straw.

The earl hastily crept in among the slumbering children, taking the youngest one in his arms. There was no little quarreling at first.

"How big brother Max has grown,"
 said one little girl as she snuggled close beside the mighty potentate who had taken refuge in that rude bed.

"Why can he not come to bed earlier and not awake us?" grumbled a flaxen haired boy.

But they soon became quiet, and the earl lay still with Gretchen slumbering beside him and flaxen haired Hans sn-roring fearlessly.

Meanwhile a loud pounding had summoned the widow to the door again.

"Where is the man who has just entered thy hut?" demanded a savage Gantois.

"Art thou not mistaken?" she answered. "I am a widow and live here alone with my children."

"Nay, but we saw the light upon the way as it glared forth from the open door."

"I did but open it to throw something into the street. If there be a man within, search and find him."

The man casts a quick glance within.
 He saw the ladder leading to the loft,
 and taking the light from the widow's hands he hurriedly ascended. A row of children huddled together was all that he saw, and he descended again. "The woman is right," he muttered to the crowd. "There is only a nest of children sleeping together like pigs in a sty,
 and there isn't room enough for an ant
 to hide, much less the Earl of Flanders."

Uttering cries of balked vengeance,
 the throng of White Hoods, as they were called, pushed on, while the earl, with a thankful heart for his wonderful preservation, went to sleep in the company of the young children. So weary of fatigue, he slept as soundly in the mud hovel of the poor widow as though he had lain in one of his own palace chambers.

The next morning was the Sabbath,
 and the great earl was awakened by the wondering cries of the children.

"How funny! Brother Max has come to bed with his clothes on," cried the little girl, who had slept all night in the arms of her illustrious bedfellow.

"Hush, Minna," cried Max himself.
 "It is some friend of mother's. I heard him last night when he came in."

"Nay, but I am a friend to you all,"
 said Earl Louis. "From this hour count
 the Earl of Flanders your protector."

The children were hushed to silence at the mention of that great name, and the earl presently descended to the lower room, where he found the pious widow singing her Sunday morning hymn.

"And who art thou, to whom Louis of Flanders owes his life?" asked the earl.

"I am the widow of Dolph the Diker, whom the wicked men of Ghent slew
 when he was at work for his lawful sovereign."

"I cannot restore to thee thy husband," said the earl, "but I never shall forget thy generous kindness in risking your own life to shelter me. Here is a purse of gold crowns, all that I can give thee now, but—"

"God forbid that I should take it when thou needest the gold more than I," interrupted the woman as she put the purse back into his hands. "Thou art not yet out of danger, and it has cost us nothing to give the shelter."

"When I have my rights again, the widow of Dolph the Diker will not regret that she entertained her sovereign," replied the earl.

He staid all that day with the widow and her family, keeping a better Sabbath, I dare say, than he had for a long time before, and the following night he succeeded in making his escape out of the city, disguised in the jerkin and marsh boots in which poor Dolph used to work at the canals. He reached Lisle, one of his loyal towns, in safety, and an army soon gathered around him quite large enough to enable him to take the field against the rebellious White Hoods.

In a great battle he completely defeated the Gantois, and Philip of Arte-vel, their leader, was slain. Ghent was delivered up to him, and Flanders once more passed under the sway of its rightful lord.

When Earl Louis returned to Bruges,
 he richly rewarded his faithful preserver,
 the widow Melchie, who was enabled to pass her last days in comfort and luxury.
 Max became a page in the great castle, and all the other children, from Hans to the laughing prattler, Gretchen, became the proteges of the earl who owed his life to their mother's generous protection.—Clinton Montague in Philadelphia Times.

Prices For Sermons.

Much has been said of the practice of buying and selling sermons, a practice,
 by the way, of no very special novelty.
 Just before Toplady was about to be ordained, Osborne, the bookseller, the friend of Johnson, offered to supply him with a stock of original sound sermons
 for a trifle. "I would sooner buy secondhand clothes," was the tart reply.

"Don't be offended," said Osborne. "I have sold many to a bishop." The price of sermons, as of all else, has varied with the times. In 1540 a bishop of Llandaff received from the churchwardens of St. Margaret's, Westminster, for a sermon on the Annunciation, a pike, price 2s. 4d., a gallon of wine, 8 pence, and boat hire—in all 3s. 4d. In the seventeenth century sermons seem to have been valued at about 5 shillings
 each.—Exchange.

The Prisoners' Friend.

Mrs. Sophia Little, who died recently at Newport, R. I., was known as the "prisoners' friend." She devoted nearly her whole life to visiting prisons in New England, giving her means and her talents for the amelioration of their inmates. She founded the Sophia Little Home For Women in Providence.

AN ALL ROUND CRACKSMAN.

His Thievings Cover a Wide Field, From Canned Goods to a Tombstone.

Kansas City has developed one of the most unique thieves that has yet been heard of in real life. Several months ago the police force learned that a sneak thief was making depredations upon cellars and pantries and even on outlying grocery stores, and carrying off canned goods and such eatables as were not perishable.

There were certain peculiarities about the robberies that led the police to believe that they were all done by the same person, but there was no clue that they could follow to catch the thief. After amassing a goodly quantity of food on which to start to housekeeping the thief began on fuel, and whole cartloads were carried away, each case showing the evidences of the food thief. When a full supply of coal was taken, the thief turned his attention to furniture and carried off articles of all kinds, from light chairs to a heavy bedstead with mattresses. An entire bedroom set was taken from a house and no trace left. The family was absent for a night, and on their return they found their room despoiled.

Having furnished his bedroom and parlors, the depredator set about getting his kitchen in order, and first an ice chest was taken from a house in Ar-mourdale, and then a cooking stove and kitchen table from a house in Rosedale.

By this time the police were fully alive to the fact that the stealing was going on right under their noses, and they began to talk about the queer thief. This attention seems to have flattered the thief, for he signalled his presence next by carrying off a large baseburner stove
 from a parlor in Kansas City, Kan., while the family were spending the evening with a neighbor. This occurred last week, and since then it appears that the man has his furniture, food and fuel for the winter, for the depredations have ceased.

Another phase, however, seems to have broken out, and it is evident that a member of the thief's family has sickened and died. A few days ago a drug store was broken into and medicine taken, and last night the climax was reached when the thief went to the cemetery out on the Quindare boulevard and carried off a fine tombstone. There is a talent here that shows the development of a system that would beat a bank, and the police are very anxious to make the acquaintance of the thief.—Cor. St.
 Louis Globe-Democrat.

A New Postage Stamp.

Postage stamp collectors are hereby notified to look out for a possible rarity.
 The French government is about to establish a postal service by camels in the French territory of Obock and the Somali coast. In the center of a triangular stamp will be a mehari, or racing camel, and in the background a desert.
 As the route is only for experiment the stamps issued may be very few.—New

Death of Miss Boyden.

Miss Joanna Lucinda Boyden died at Medfield, her native town, Wednesday, 15th, aged 54 years, 7 mos. The above will be read with deep regret by her numerous friends in all parts of our city.

Miss Boyden was for seven years superintendent of the Newton Pomroy Home for orphan and destitute girls, in which capacity by her refined character of mind and heart as also by her courteous bearing she endeared herself to her acquaintances.

Miss Boyden was assistant superintendent during the last years of Anny Pomroy's life and until the death of that rare and noble woman nine years since. The succeeding seven years as superintendent she discharged its heavy duties with great satisfaction until failing health forced her to relinquish the work she loved so well.

THE VOTING LIST.

CARRIES ONLY 68 NAMES LESS THAN LAST YEAR.

Registration closed in Newton at 10 o'clock Saturday evening. The net loss from last year is 68. The democrats claim a good proportion of the new voters.

The appended table shows the registration in comparison with last year:

Wards 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 Total

A Matter of Comparison.

Mr. Edward Atkinson, who has been asked what reply he proposes to make to the political jibes put upon him by certain sneerers because of his advocacy of skin of feet soup and other appetizing varieties of cheap food, has sent a word to us that it is his opinion that people of average intelligence can themselves weigh the relative merits of the shinsone of a beeve against the jaw-bone of an ass.—Boston Herald.

"For Years,"

Says CARRIE E. STOCKWELL, of Chesterfield, N. H.: "I was afflicted with an extremely severe pain in the lower part of the chest. The feeling was as if a ton weight was laid on a spot the size of my hand. During the attacks, the perspiration would stand in drops on my face, and it was agony for me to make a sufficient effort even to whisper. They came suddenly, at any hour of the day or night, lasting from thirty minutes to half a day, leaving me suddenly; but, for several days after, I was quite prostrated and sore. Sometimes the attacks were almost daily, then less frequent. After about four years of this suffering, I was taken down with bilious typhoid fever, and when I began to recover, I had the worst attack of my old trouble I ever experienced.
 At the first of the fever, my mother gave me Ayer's Pills, my doctor recommending them as being better than anything he could prepare. I continued taking these Pills, and so great was the benefit derived that during nearly thirty years I have had but one attack of my former trouble, which yielded readily to the same remedy."

Literary Notes.

Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney has taken up the pen again, and has written a series of familiar letters to American girls for publication in "The Ladies' Home Journal" during 1894.

Mr. E. F. Benson, the author of "Dodo," the novel which is the latest London success, is the son of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and his opportunities for a thorough knowledge of society have presumably been exceptional. Mr. Benson's American publishers are D. Appleton & Co.

The Christmas number of Harper's Magazine will be noteworthy even in the history of that periodical. It will be profusely illustrated. A sympathetic study of "The Old Dominion," by Thomas Nelson Page, and a contemporary view of "The House of Commons," by Thomas Power Conner, are among the attractions of the number. It will contain nine short stories.

Scribners for November has an attractive table of contents including Isaac H. Bromley's account of the "Nomination of Lincoln," "Education of Girls in France," "Mr. Freeman at Home," "The House of Commons," the conclusion of Harold Frederic's powerful serial "The Copperhead," and a number of unusually good short stories.

Harper's Bazar, published November 4th, will contain a short story by Bret Harte, called "An Episode of West Woodlands."

The forthcoming number of Harper's Weekly will contain another eight-page supplement devoted entirely to World's Fair pictures, which will be even more effective if possible than this week's. In addition there will be a striking front page of the Manhattan Day celebration. Thulstrup will contribute a characteristic full-page of scenes in Lady Aberdeen's Irish Village and Binner Castle; and another page will be devoted to four of the best views of the galleries in the Art Building. Carlton T. Chapman will show, in an interesting picture, the new method of coaling war-ships at sea; and an illustration of how voters are turned out by one of New York city's naturalization mills will have a peculiar and timely interest. "Twigg's Cat," a new story by Eden Philpotts, and a great variety of other matter, will fill out a number of especial excellence.

The November Forum contains a long list of valuable articles by noted writers on important topics. Prof. H. Von Holst, the eminent constitutional historian, in discussing "The Decline of the Senate," offers a slashing criticism of present Senate methods in an article entitled, "Shall the Senate Rule the Republic?" "The Senate in the Light of History" is the heading given to a searching analysis of the character and capacity of present senators, as compared with the Senate of Webster, Clay and Calhoun.

The Atlantic Monthly for November carries on two serials, Mrs. Cavazz's "The Man from Aldone," and Charles Edbert Graddock's "His Vanished Star," and contains the second paper of Mr. W. F. Archib's "Two Modern Classicists in Music." This deals with Otto Dresel; a musician far less widely known than he deserved to be. Immediately following this article, which necessarily inserts somewhat upon musical "schools," comes Mr. Owen Wister's paper on "Catholicity in Musical Taste," a strong plea for the equal enjoyment of all sorts of good music. Amateurs of music will care especially for these two papers, we timed for the opening of the musical season.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—One of the most prominent and best of all the railroad comedy dramas of the present day is "The Danger Signal," which will be presented at the Boston Grand Opera House next week. "The Danger Signal" is from the pen of Henry C. D-Mille, whose plays, "The Wife," "The Charity Ball," "The Lost Paradise," and others, brought him both fame and fortune. Some idea of the success of his "Danger Signal" alone can be gleaned from the fact that he has received in the shape of royalties nearly ten thousand dollars the past season. Its most prominent effects include a monster locomotive, built of iron and steel, and propelled by steam; a cannon ball train, consisting of locomotive, tender, three coaches, 100 feet long, 12 feet high, crossing the stage at the rate of 50 miles an hour, and a cyclone rotary snow plow used in a thrilling snow blockade. The company to present "The Danger Signal" is a good one and includes Miss Georgia Gardner, Miss Adrienne Mitchell, Miss Ida Seles, Lyon F. Adams, H. H. Forsman, Paul Dresser, William L. West, Will Ryness. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of Boston will benefit by the first three performances of "The Danger Signal."

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—The second week of "The Honeymooners," at the Columbia Theatre, has continued the excellent business that the preceding week initiated. Pauline Hall's personal popularity has much to do with the opera's great success. Richard Golden, who is associated with Miss Hall in this opera, is a most congenial artist, and his character of Renski could not have been better designed for him. Caroline Hamilton, Eva Davenport, Tom Ricketts and Alf Wheelan have good parts and are very amusing. The sword dance by William and Drew is an excellent feature. The management are to be complimented on the treat they afforded the ladies and children who attended their Wednesday and Saturday matinees. After the fall of the last curtain, a doll reception was held, to which every lady and child holding a reserved seat coupon was invited and was presented with a beautiful doll by Miss Hall and her associate company. This feature will be continued during the remainder of the engagement. It will be well to secure seats in advance.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE. A most interesting event to the play-goer will be the re-appearance at the Hollis Street Theatre on Monday, November 6, of Mr. and Mrs. Kendal, who will present during the first week of their engagement, for the first time in Boston, Mr. A. W. Pinero's new play, "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." The play comes with the endorsement of a long run in London, and a successful engagement at the Star Theatre, New York city. Mr. Pinero has written a play, according to the criticisms of the press, which Dumas and Sardou might sign without a blush. It is a play of exalted passions, of rare study of character; it touches the chords of many emotions with an unerring hand; it is satirical, ethical, tragic; above all, it is interesting with an intensity that becomes fascination. The purpose of the drama will show social humanity as it is, or as it might be under probable conditions, suffering possible sorrows and striving for happiness. The four acts are like a crucial ordeal in social ethics, the culminating chapters of a peculiarly powerful and original novel. Mr. and Mrs. Kendal have secured this drama (among other new pieces) as a novelty for their present visit to the United States. Matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday. The engagement of Mr. and Mrs. Kendal is limited to two weeks only.

BOSTON MUSEUM. Monday, Nov. 6th is the date of production of one of the greatest novelties of the day,—the famous Parisian company in "The Prodigious Son" ("L'ENFANT PRODIGE"), a musical drama without words, at that house celebrated for novelties of the first order and best character, the Boston Museum. It ran over 700 nights in Paris, and a year in London, and it just from a brilliant New York success at Daly's. The familiar story of the prodigal son is told in a manner both touching and effective, with humorous episodes to enlighten the general theme, and the music, of a very high order, will receive able treatment from an enlarged orchestra. "L'ENFANT PRODIGE" will prove a veritable sensation.

GLOBE THEATRE.—Miss Katherine Clemmons in a new play entitled, "A Lady of Venice," will be the attraction at the Globe Theatre next week. This is the inaugural tour of Miss Clemmons, and her coming engagement at the Globe will be the first appearance on the Boston stage. Her leading man is popular Francis Carlyle, and the company supporting her is said to be an admirable one. A great hit has been made wherever Miss Clemmons and her new play have appeared, notably in Baltimore, Philadelphia and Washington. "A Lady of Venice" is a romantic five-act drama, the scene being laid in northern Italy during the 15th century. It is rich in opportunities for emotional acting, and Miss Clemmons is said to display the most admirable genius in this powerful class of dramatic work. A decided treat is in store for that class of theatre-goers which admire an historic theme admirably enacted and handsomely staged.

TREMONT THEATRE.—It is unnecessary to speak of the cleverness of the diminutive beings, the "Lilliputians." The very article long comedy of Franz Ebner has often been alluded to. His sense of melody is keen, Adolf Zuk, a graceful, well-shaped, well-proportioned little fellow, has eyes that fairly dance with merriment and a smile that is contagious. Miss Selma Goerner has long been called the miniature Patti. Bertha Jaeger, a dainty little body, full of chic, is vivacity itself. She will alternate with Miss Goerner in the principal feminine role. There is a new recruit in the ranks—Ludwig Merkel—a mere tot with a quantum of earnestness that would supply a man of thrice his inches. The vehicle utilized for the introduction of these brownies is a conglomerate of scenery, ballet and extravaganza. There is a Jules Verne suggestion to the idea of "A Trip to Mars," a visit to a neighboring planet. The local character is injected by the presence of familiar city scenes and by the use in the dialogue of current topics. "The Lilliputians," begin a fortnight's engagement at the Tremont Theatre, Monday, Nov. 6th. During the engagement two matinees will be given each week, Wednesday and Saturday.

The Recent Conference.

The Newton conference of charities began before the cold wave came to suspend this lovely Indian summer season that we have been enjoying since October came in; and it was a fine sight,—the Charles river valley, and the surrounding hills clothed with the green of summer and the fading, yet still brilliant, colors of autumn. I have heard many arguments and more assertions, to the effect that this summer of the red men came in November, like the St. Martin's summer of Europe, but never have believed them. The Indians spoke of a season, not a couple of days slipped in here and there, after the sharp frosts; and every few years we do have, as this year, a distinct season of weeks, to which the name of summer may fitly be given. An Athenian, disposed to find fault with the Attic climate, told me the monks of fifteen fine days dispersed through the year of Attica,—but we have had more than that in this one New England month. It was a proper welcome to the delegates of the six states who came to the spacious Channing church in Newton, to talk practical philanthropy for three days; and they seemed to enjoy the occasion not less than the weather. I heard the "probation system" and the "outdoor relief" discussions; and was entertained, as often before, at the facility with which the votaries of a theory will praise in one form what they are swift to condemn in another. The excellent probation system, which Judge Parmenter and others well set forth, is simply "outdoor relief" applied to criminals, who might otherwise have to go to the crowded and contaminating prison; just as the better care of deserted infants, which my old friend, Henry Wheelwright brought about, and the placing of older children in families, are merely "outdoor relief" applied to the young. But when it comes to treating the widow or the unemployed operative in the same way, without subjecting them to the crowded and contaminating poorhouse,—how eloquent, even to tedious, do the friends of "probation" and child saving become! always treating the abuses of a good system as if they were the system itself.—Boston Correspondent Springfield Republican.

To Young Voters.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC: When men have run in ruts for fifty years or so, they will probably run on the most hopeful field for a just cause as among the young.

A radical reform in politics is the need of the hour. The struggle in Congress shows that great questions cut right at heart party lines; Republicans are supporting a Democratic administration, Democrats are opposing it.

But neither Republicans nor Democrats have the courage to attack the heart of the problem. The power that menaces our free institutions is political corruption. As go the great cities, so goes the nation; the cities are largely controlled by corrupt rings, and the centre of the machine is the liquor traffic.

Sound currency and a wise tariff (if both are secured) will be merely fresh plasters over the old sore that is festering in the body politic. This nation cannot prosper, nor permanently endure, half drunk and half sober. We must end the liquor traffic or it will end us. Since it takes a majority party to control the American government, the one way to overthrow the liquor traffic is to vote into power a party that will vote it out. In Massachusetts, the Democrats have never pretended to favor prohibition; the Republicans have long since given up such pretences; but the opportunity of the rising generation for the most noble, patriotic service they can render their country, is in swelling the ranks of the Prohibition party. There is no truer friend to humanity than Louis A. Banks has proved himself to be; a large increase in the vote of his party means the speedy triumph of pure government over its most deadly foe. Mr. Greenhalge was nominated in spite of the most earnest protests of temperance Republicans; a vote for him is a step backward from the line of true progress, and the neglect of a golden opportunity. Massachusetts expects the young men to do their duty. Wm. B. Cobb. Newton Centre, Oct. 27, 1893.

A MAN OF ENERGY.

Some men, like Micawber are always waiting for something to turn up. But the Rev. S. H. Burton of Thorndike, Maine, is not a man of that kind. He has the reputation of being an active and diligent worker in the vineyard of the Lord. Executive labor and exposure always bring on disease. This was the case with Mr. Burton. In September '89, he was taken sick with rheumatism. His ankles were badly swollen, and he could not move them without great pain. Later the disease attacked the muscles of his back and side. As the disease progressed, large bunches or nodules began to appear on various parts of his body. These were tender and exceedingly painful. He was also badly bloated and had been troubled with catarrh for years. Did he try the doctors? Certainly he did! Every one flees to them for advice and treatment for their bodily afflictions. This case, however, baffled their skill, and though he tried several he received no benefit from them, with one exception. Mr. Burton is, as we have mentioned before, a man of action. In this crisis he did not give up, but did some good solid thinking for himself. He decided that impure blood was the cause of all his troubles and looked about him for something to improve his condition. Did he try Sarsaparilla? We think not, but he did try Rodolf's New Medical Discovery. He says, after taking three bottles the swelling in my feet and ankles disappeared and my catarrh was greatly benefited. Gone also was the muscular rheumatism, the painful bunches and the distressing bloating. He had recovered and still retains his usual good health. Write him, enclosing stamp, and he will give you all the particulars.

Rodolf's remedies are for sale by Geo. Ingraham, West Newton; John F. Payne, Newtonville, Mass.

—Mr. J. A. Hovey and family of Sumner street have removed to Newport, R. I.
—Mr. Frank D. Young has returned from an enjoyable trip to the World's Fair.

—Mrs. Dr. Bodge has removed from Centre street to Mr. Clarke's house on Ripley street. It is understood that her former residence has been leased by a physician.

—Mr. Frank E. Anderson, Beacon street, who has been dangerously ill with typhoid fever, is beginning to recover, but very slowly.

—A handsome new coupe has been put on for depot service by Howell Deal. It is a new departure in proper equipment for service at this station and will be appreciated by its patrons.

—The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth McKenzle of Centre street, who died Monday aged 70 years, was held Wednesday afternoon. Rev. E. H. Hughes officiated, prayers being held at the house at 2 o'clock and services at the cemetery at 2:30. The interment was at the Newton Centre.

—Rev. Geo. S. Chabourne, D. D., presiding elder of the Boston district, preached at the morning service in the Methodist church last Sunday. The Epworth League meeting at 6:15 o'clock was led by Miss Butler, the subject being, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" At the regular evening service an address on "Missions" was delivered by Rev. Wm. Butler, D. D., an. the service of song was enhanced with a solo rendition by Miss Florence Wood.

—Molasses went down all in a heap in this village on Tuesday, and that particular lot referred to, has not since risen an iota. It slumped in this way. A hog-head of molasses in one of W. O. Knapp & Co's wagons was not blocked up securely and in starting up the team to unload it into the cellar, it rolled out of the wagon onto the ground. The head was knocked out and the contents, about 125 gallons of sweetness, were distributed over the back yard of White's block. It was a total loss.

—A pleasant social event was the second in the series of receptions given by Mrs. Charles I. Smith at her residence on Moreland avenue from 3 until 6 o'clock Wednesday. About 200 ladies were present, and paid their respects to their charming hostess, who received informally in the large parlors, which were handsomely decorated with masses of roses and chrysanthemums. Music was furnished by an orchestra stationed in the hall, and during the afternoon light refreshments were served.

—An incendiary fire Friday afternoon gutted a barn owned by Benis & Jewett, on Centre and Homer streets, destroyed eighteen tons of hay and several wagons. There were three horses in the barn when the fire broke out, but they were rescued. An alarm of fire had been rung in from Box 73, and the fire having eaten its way into the centre of the building, a second alarm was sounded. The contents were damaged $300 and the building, $400. The whole is covered by insurance.

—The light of glass for the bow window in the part of Mr. Wetmore's store, in the new block, has been put in successfully, and makes a fine appearance.

—The fine tree that stood near the barber shop, has been removed to make way for the sidewalk improvement.

—We have received an important communication in regard to a recent court decision, but as no name was signed to it, we have no means of knowing whether it is true or not. Unsigned communications always find the waste basket.

—M. E. services as usual next Sunday, 10:45 a. m. and 7 p. m. Epworth League, 6:15. Subject for sermon in evening, "The Perspective of Life." Mr. Herbert Williams is expected to be there and lead the music with his cornet.

—The Harvest Supper given under the auspices of the Congregational sewing circle, was largely attended, and the supper was all that could be desired, after the time of the evening, and was much enjoyed by the large audience present.

—At the annual meeting of the Newton Highlands Shakespeare club, the following officers were elected: Pres. Mrs. S. L. Eaton; vice pres. Mrs. G. V. Stone; sec'y, Mrs. H. L. Wells; treas. Mrs. J. F. Barnes. The club expect soon to give an entertainment, with a lecture by Rev. Dr. Thomas, of Brookline. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Francis Bellamy's, to-morrow afternoon.

—The installation of Rev. Chas. E. Havens, as pastor of the Congregational church, on Thursday evening, was largely attended. Rev. Dr. Furber offered the invocation, and Rev. Daniel Greene of Nantucket read the Scripture selections, Rev. Wolcott Calkins of the Eliot church, Newton, gave the sermon, and Rev. H. J. Patrick of West Newton offered the prayer of installation. The right hand of fellowship was given by Rev. John M. Dutton of Newtonville, Rev. Calvin Cutler of Auburndale gave the charge to the pastor, and Rev. Geo. G. Phipps the charge to the people, the service closing with the Doxology and the benediction by the new pastor. The choir rendered appropriate selections during the services.

—The last meeting of the Monday club was held at Mrs. Strong's spacious and hospitable home at Waban, and the perfect autumn weather brought out an attendance of nearly sixty members. The literary exercises, under the charge of Miss Stone, consisted of short biographical sketches of the great musical composers, with vocal and instrumental illustrations of their works. Miss Stone was ably assisted in the musical numbers by Mrs. Flint, Miss Margaret Strong and Miss Hardwick, pianists, and Mrs. Tewksbury, vocalist. At the conclusion of the exercises five o'clock tea was served in the spacious dining room. Mrs. Boston and Mrs. Hadaway pouring, and an hour later the company dispersed, feeling that the meeting had been one of special pleasure and profit.

—The Newton United Football Team played the Walthams at that city last Saturday, and after a hard fought game won by a score of 3 to 1. Every man of the Newtons played a winning game all through and deserved credit for their victory. Next Saturday, Nov. 4, will be a Derby day at the Newton grounds as they intend playing their formidable rivals, the East Boston, and an exciting game is expected. It will be a game for the supremacy and a large attendance is expected. The team to do duty against them is as follows: Ernest Young, goal keeper; Sam Brown, center; J. Brown, half backs; J. Rea, W. Hodgins, R. Harwood, half backs; W. Brown, J. Heald, right wing; H. Godfrey, centre, W. Smith, J. Smith, left wing.

Miss A. A. Leonard.

will be ready to receive pupils in china, watercolor and oil painting on and after Wednesday, Nov. 1st, at her studio, Room Cole's block, Newton.

A Handsome Post Office.

The post office at Newton Upper Falls was opened Monday morning in the new store and is equipped with a new outfit of the most complete and approved modern design. The office is of the L-shaped pattern, the two sides in connection with the front and walls of the room forming a large and handsome lobby for the use of the public. The left hand side of the lobby, (on entering) contains 300 numbered call boxes in two nests, and between these is the general delivery window of plate glass. The space on the side behind the partition is divided into compartments, forming 20 newspaper and 30 letter boxes for the general delivery mail. At the same time the window is in proximity to the call boxes, to serve all with ease and promptness.

The outfit also contains 60 lock boxes with thick beveled plate glass on which are painted the numbers. The other partition contains, in the middle, the money order window, at the right of which is the Postmaster's door, while to the left will be found extra large drops for letters and newspapers, made of solid bronze, highly polished, and which will be a handsome appearance.

The money order window contains a large fac simile representation of the Post Office Department seal, and this is surrounded by panes of ornamental colored glass. Handsome bronze signs marked "General Delivery," "Money Orders," and "Postmaster," are placed respectively over the windows and door, adding much to the effect.

The entire woodwork of the paneling is of solid antique ash, finished in hard oil, bringing out the beautiful grain of the wood most effectively and the cornice over the paneling is glazed with amber "onyx" glass, producing a very rich effect, while over this cornice is fitted a series of hinged shades which can be opened to secure ventilation.

The lobby contains a generous writing shelf, over which is a large calendar clock, showing in large figures the day, month and year. The office is lighted by gas and heated by a furnace. Postmaster Billings adding this equipment for public convenience.

The Postmaster's private desk sits conveniently near a front window by itself and the room in the working department is greatly increased by the change. The entire office is an admirable piece of cabinet and metal work, especially adapted to serve best the convenience of the public and the most efficient employees, and reflects credit upon both Postmaster Billings and the makers, the Yale & Towne Mfg. Co., of Stamford, Conn.

A new outfit was put in only last February when the office became third-class, but the change to an independent store and larger quarters necessitated a second outfit, while Mr. Billings did not hesitate to provide. The present office equipment equals any in the city.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of Eliot church are planning to give an Old Folks' Concert some time this winter.

—The Ladies' Matinee Whist Club meet this week with Mrs. H. E. Hibbard, and next week will meet with Mrs. Priest of Vernon street.

—Mr. Chas. F. Rogers has moved his real estate and insurance office into the store in Brackett's north block, occupied partly by the Adams Express Company.

—Mr. W. B. Whittier has a letter in another column denying a report that he is a member of the A. P. A. He is not a member nor are any of his employees members of any such society.

—Rev. Mr. Jackson of Newtonville will occupy the Methodist pulpit Sunday morning in exchange with Mr. Bronson. The usual evening service at 7.30.

—The new school for nurses at the Hospital will be ready for dedication about the middle of January.

—The Rev. Dr. Donald, who succeeded Phillips Brooks as the rector of Trinity church, Boston, is to preach in Grace church on Sunday night. All the seats are free.

—Grace church was filled last Sunday night and the singing was unusually good. The address was on Gounod, the French composer.

—Mr. A. A. Burrage, whose death occurred at his home on Newbury street, Boston, on Monday, was a brother of Mrs. J. Q. Henry of Newton.

—The Eight Annual State convention of the Christian Endeavor societies will be held at Holyoke, Nov. 14 and 15. Dr. Clark of this city will speak on "The Problem of the unemployed."

—Rev. Dr. Calkins has been summoned to the funeral of his brother, Rev. J. F. Calkins, for thirty-five years pastor of the Presbyterian church in Wellsborough, Penn.

—We call attention to the fact that Sunday, Nov. 20th, will be Hospital Sunday in this city. The institution will ask the churches this year to contribute at least $7000. Last year they gave nearly that sum.

—Electric cars made their first trip on the West End road to Newton, yesterday afternoon. The electric line is now completed to Mr. Auburn wharf, and passengers will have to transfer to horse cars at Harvard Square.

—The afternoon vesper service at Channing church, Sunday, was unusually well attended, and besides the attractive musical program, Mr. Frothingham gave an interesting address on "All saints' Day" and its history.

—Miss Mabel Potter gave a conundrum supper and fagot party to the members of the Walnut Park Guild, Monday evening. Eighteen members were present, and the evening created much amusement as the guessing of the conundrum caused much delay in the serving of each guest. It was voted one of the most successful meetings of the Guild.

—The Harvest Concert at the Methodist church, Sunday evening, called out a large attendance. The church was made very attractive by autumn leaves, flowers, fruits and vegetables and the exercises consisted of concert exercises by the different classes, and a temperance story entitled, "Buy Your Own Cherries," told by Rev. Mr. Bronson and illustrated by the stereopticon.

—On Monday evening Nov. 13, Nonantum Colony No. 77, U. O. P. E., will have as its guests Supreme Gov. John S. Bates and his family, with other prominent officers and Dep. Sup. Gov. Henry W. O'Hara of Worcester with suite. It will be open meeting. Every member should attend and take with them some friend not now a member of the order. A collection will be served.

—A young woman about 25 years of age went to the house of Mrs. Richards, Nonantum street, about 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and engaged a room there, which she at once took possession of. About two hours later she left and failed to return, taking with her a black dress, a pair of glasses and a hand mirror, the property of Mrs. Richards, valued at $25. The girl was full faced and dark complexioned. She wore a black dress, dark sack, brown sailor hat and dark veil, gold dotted.

—The residents of Walnut and Waban Parks have seen cause to change their minds about having those attractive little parks turned over to the city, and have unanimously opposed such action. They fear that if the parks become the property of the city, benches will be placed therein, and they will come to be popular Sunday and evening resorts, and thus turn a quiet neighborhood into a noisy one, and the grass which is now so nicely kept in summer will be trodden down and the beauty of the parks spoiled. These seem to be strong reasons against the proposed change, and it will probably not be made.

—The horse stolen from John Walsh's barn, Tremont street, Brighton, Monday evening, returned home alone about midnight thoroughly fagged out. Mr. Walsh says that a young man named Richard Hamill of Watertown entered the stable about 7.30 o'clock, saddled and bridled the horse and coolly rode off toward New-on. About an hour later Mr. Walsh started in pursuit. A man on horseback was followed by the police through Watertown and Waltham to the Newton line, and was later seen by a police officer of this city going up Brighton hill. Walsh says he will swear out a warrant for Hamill's arrest.

—The Immanuel Baptist church is soon to have two beautiful memorial windows, to be placed in the transepts. One of the windows is to be erected in memory of Deacon Horatio Nelson Hyde, who died Dec. 15, 1890. It will represent a pillar wreathed with passion flowers, with palm branches of victory and over all a dove bearing an olive branch. In the west transept it is planned to place a memorial to "Aunt Pomroy," whose life long benevolent work will be recalled by all who have heard of the Pomroy home. Her friend in the church have already secured a good part of the sum needed, and others out of the church have expressed a desire to contribute, and can do so by communicating with the committee.

—An election day story is told of a prominent citizen, who is also an ardent Republican. He had an appointment in town and had to go by a certain train to keep it. His daughter, who is on the other side in politics, made herself so entertaining at breakfast that the gentleman did not notice the flight of time, and had only just time to catch his train, forgetting also to vote. The mother hearing the young people laughing over the success of their joke, quietly got ready and went to town on a morning train and brought the absent-minded Republican home in time to vote for a restoration of confidence, not only in this country, but in Europe, Asia and Africa, and other portions of our anxious world. The younger generation do not always take all the tricks.

In regard to granting another license of the fourth class here, a correspondent says there is no argument of value yet urged against it. A druggists' license was granted to a new man following the licensing of the stores. Now one of the three first established stores has changed hands and the new proprietor very properly asks for a license. The fact that he is also proprietor of another drug establishment has nothing to do with the question really. If he is entitled to one business, he certainly is worthy of receiving another for a store in another location. If the license is granted there will be only four drug stores in the city, and that number was fixed practically by the action of the aldermen who offered no objection when application for the fourth license was presented.

—Dr. Bunker, Dr. Arthur Hudson, Messrs. James Henthorne, Samuel Holman and W. B. Whittier were witnesses at the trial of the Italian lad in the superior court this week for cruelty to a horse. After court Monday, they dined at the Cambridge Hotel. The average weight of the five men was 216 lbs. a pretty solid party the landlord thought.

—The reception held at the Channing church last Wednesday was a great success. The pastor was well liked, and long after the hour named for closing, and the buzz of cheerful talk showed the pleasure which the members of the society felt in meeting again after the summer's separation. The hospitality committee were much gratified by the cordial and appreciative spirit in which their venture was met.

—About 9 o'clock Wednesday evening an electric on the Newtonville & Watertown line was speeding along toward Watertown square, and when it was near the junction of Watertown and California streets, Watertown, it collided with a horse and carriage. The driver was Dennis Labbey of Pearl street. He was thrown off and badly shaken up. The wagon was demolished and the horse scratched up. The headlight of the car was broken. It is said that Labbey was driving at a snail pace. He swung around the corner of California street to Watertown and drove directly in front of the swiftly moving electric.

—Four were received into full membership at the Methodist church on Sunday.

—The Review club will meet with Mrs. L. S. Dillingham, Woodland avenue, on Tuesday, November 14.

—Miss Martha S. Dutton, '93, of this place, has been chosen vice president of the Phi Kappa Psi society at Smith college.

—Mr. W. R. Morton has purchased quite an extensive business on Tremont street, Boston, consisting of a retail confectionery and cigar store.

—Mrs. Charles Chase, who was injured in the runaway accident last week, Wednesday, has sufficiently recovered to be about the house.

—Henry W. Savage has sold two lots of land on Seaverns street, belonging to F. W. Sprague, to C. H. Wetmore, who has begun the erection of two cottages upon them.

—Rev. C. L. Goodell, pastor of the Waltham street Methodist church, Boston Highlands, who will preach at the Methodist church next Sunday morning on exchange with Mr. Bishop, is one of the finest preachers in the New England Methodist conference.

—Miss Eva Pluta has sung at the Sunday evening service of the Methodist church for several weeks past. The large company present last Sunday evening were so pleased with her fine singing that she has consented to sing for the present at the evening service.

—An alarm was rung in Saturday from box 43 for fire in the residence of Mr. Alonzo C. Woodside, on Auburn street. The flames started on the second floor, and spread very rapidly, completely gutting the upper part of the house, before it was got under control by the department. The extent of damage is about $700. The lower floor was damaged a good deal by water. The loss is covered by insurance.

—One of the men employed on the new bridge being constructed at Riverside by the Boston & Albany railroad, fell from the top of the span, Monday forenoon, a distance of 38 feet to the river below. He was rescued and taken to the Newton Cottage hospital. His head was badly cut by coming in contact with the lattice work of the bridge while falling, but was otherwise uninjured and on the following day left the hospital and returned to his boarding place in Lower Falls.

—Mrs. Maria Johnson widow of Mr. Edwin Johnson, died Sunday after a short illness of only a few days. She had resided for several years with her daughter, Mrs. Chas. F. Hyde of Melrose street. Prayers were held Tuesday at Mrs. Hale's house. Rev. Thomas W. Bishop, pastor of the Methodist church officiated. The remains were then taken to Medford, the former home of Mrs. Johnson where the funeral service was held at 2 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. Milton F. Roberts on High street. Rev. Mr. DeLong of that place officiated.

Bacon, treasurer; Atherton Clark, clerk; directors, G. C. Dunne, C. D. Kepper, D. P. Barber, F. H. Tucker, W. A. Alexander, W. A. Lamb, H. C. Camp, A. E. Fattison.

Newton A. Eleven.

The Newton A. Eleven plays its final Suburban League game at Hyde Park on Saturday.

Neither team has been defeated in the League series and as they are tied for first place a close game may be expected. All those wishing to see the game should take the 2.40 train to Hazelwood, from the Park Square depot.

NOTABLE SOCIETY EVENT.

MARRIAGE OF MISS GRACE M. JONES AND MR. E. H. ELLISON AT NEWTON.

Grace church was the scene of a notable society wedding last evening. The contracting parties were Miss Grace Melville Jones, daughter of Joseph E. Jones, and Mr. Eben Howes Ellison, son of ex-Mayor William P. Ellison of Newton.

The decorations were very beautiful, the chancel being nearly filled with palms, exotics and chrysanthemums. Potted plants were grouped along the broad aisle on either side, and vines, ferns and rare flowers were used in effective combinations, forming a conspicuous feature of the overhead ornament.

The bridal party entered at 7.30, and at that hour nearly every seat in the spacious audience room was occupied. The bride came in leaning upon the arm of her father and preceded by eight ushers, Messrs. Samuel L. Parks of Plymouth, Theodore Jones of Brookline, George A. Rawson of Boston, A. Burr, W. D. Ellison, W. E. Holmes, Fred E. and W. E. Jones of Newton. The maid of honor, Miss Mabel A. Wood of Boston, walked alone, and the procession was completed by the four bridesmaids, Miss Bessie W. Jones of Brookline, Miss Lucy E. Cobb, Miss Louise Gilman and Miss Annie H. Gilman of Newton.

The bride was met at the chancel by the groom and his best man, Mr. Edward E. Elms, Jr., of Newton. She was given in marriage by her father, and the ceremony was conducted by Rev. G. W. Shinn, D. D., rector of Grace church.

The bride was gown in white duchess satin, en train, with garbure of point lace. She wore the usual long veil and carried bride roses. The maid of honor's gown was a tasteful combination of pink and white satin. Her flowers were Catherine Mermers roses. The four bridesmaids were gown in pink satin and carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

After the ceremony a reception was held from 8 to 10 o'clock in the assembly hall at the Newton clubhouse, and was attended by the prominent society people of the Newtons and vicinity. The receiving party comprised, beside the newly married couple, the groom's father and mother, Hon. W. P. and Mrs. Ellison, and the bride's father and aunt, Mr. Joseph E. and Miss Ellen A. Jones. Music was furnished by an orchestra almost completely hidden behind a floral screen. Flowers and potted plants were artistically arranged about the apartment.

At the close of the reception Mr. and Mrs. Ellison departed on their wedding tour. Upon their return they will reside at No. 42 Vernon street, Newton, where they will be at home Jan. 11, 18 and 25.

I Am Boycotted.

During the past two weeks parties have circulated injurious reports about me and state that I am a member of the A. P. A., an anti-Catholic organization which is said to be holding secret meetings in Newton. These parties are injuring my reputation by these statements and are boycotting my store and telling their Catholic friends not to trade with me. I herewith deny that I am a member of this or any other anti-Catholic organization and I appeal to the fairness of my fellow citizens to discourage such ridiculous slander upon my reputation. These parties have also charged that my employees were members of this association, but this statement I know to be unqualifiedly false.

AT ROLAND MACURDY'S.

THE LEADING MILLINERY ESTABLISHMENT OF WALTHAM.

A call upon Roland W. Macurdy in the Parmenter block, 29 Moody street, Waltham this week found the store in its usual order of arrangement, the ladies in charge busy in attendance upon purchasers of fall millinery. Mr. Macurdy informs us he is feeling the depression of business from among the residents of Waltham, but is receiving a very large and increasing patronage from our own city and the suburban towns who have come to know that goods sold by Mr. Macurdy are quite up to the style and quality of those shown by the designers of millinery in our larger cities and the prices very much lower. We can safely assure our readers that in purchasing their millinery they can go to no better place, the goods are all of this season's manufacture and of the best quality and quantity should at all times be considered as a good article is the cheapest in the end.

A large invoice of new goods, the latest designs, were received this week from New York importers and are being sold below the market price.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

ELECTION RETURNS DECLARED—PUBLIC HEARINGS—ELECTRIC CARS MUST ACCOMMODATE THE PUBLIC.

The mayor and board of aldermen, with the exception of Alderman Emerson of Ward One, convened Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

An unusually large number of spectators were present, many coming to attend the hearing set for this meeting. The reportorial corner was occupied by a largely increased force in addition to the regular staff representing the local papers, four Boston dailies and two press associations having representatives present.

The reading of the records was dispensed with and the board at once proceeded to receive the election returns from the different wards and precincts of the city.

HEARINGS.

The first hearing opened was on taking land of Don Cameron for the new Auburndale park. There were no remonstrants and it was closed.

KENRICK PARK.

The hearing on taking Kenrick park under the public park act was opened. Rev. Mr. Twombly, one of the abutments, wanted to know the reason why it was proposed by the city to take this park.

Alderman Rumery of the committee said the park had been practically in care of the city, and it was thought better provision could be made for its care, if the city assumed entire control.

Mr. Twombly said the city had never taken any care of the park except to lay out a walk some time ago, and no interest in its improvement had ever been manifested. Perhaps the city wished to have better care taken of the place, but he thought the citizens should be consulted in the matter. Those abutting on the park own the land and they have a legal right in its disposal, and unless specific and sufficient reason is given by the city for its proposed action the abutments did not wish to relinquish those rights.

Mr. E. M. Springer said the whole care of the park at present devolved on the abutments and they considered it as a portion of their estates and did with it accordingly.

The fear of the abutments in letting it go from their care was that some objectionable change might be made, if not by this, perhaps by some future city council.

Mr. Jasper N. Kellar said he decidedly objected to any change unless some provision was inserted that no considerable number of trees should be molested and that no seats should be placed there. The abutments were very well satisfied at the present. He would favor the city taking it if such protection could be assured.

Mr. Springer submitted a letter from Jeanette B. Hill, who spoke of the nuisance that the seats in Farlow park had been to those living near.

The hearing was then closed.

WALNUT PARK.

The hearing on taking Walnut park was opened and Mr. J. Sturgis Potter presented a petition signed by every abutment remonstrating against its acquisition by the city.

On the hearing relative to taking

Waban park, a petition from John F. Langford with many signers was received in remonstrance.

A hearing on laying a main drain in Dabry street was opened, and opposition was presented by J. A. Nevins and others.

Other hearings on taking land in Hunnewell terrace and Rockland street for sewer, and laying out, grading and accepting Claffin place were closed without remonstrants.

The petition of T. M. Clark for gates at the Brookside avenue crossing of the B. & A. road was received.

R. A. Greene claimed compensation for damages caused by open ditch on Highland street. Referred.

Orders were passed to lay out, grade and accept Allerton road, Austin, Fountain and Pulisier streets.

An order establishing a boulevard construction act and appropriating $2500, for the same was passed, also an order appropriating $250 for purchase of land on Station street.

J. L. Randall was granted an honorable discharge from No. 2 truck.

Notice of building intentions were received from Patrick Jones, for shed 12x16 feet on Cook street and for dwelling house 50x30 feet on Los Angeles street.

KILLIAN SUIT.

A communication was received from J. E. Abbott representing the sewer laborers and desiring an equitable settlement.

Judge Kennedy appeared in behalf of some of the men, stating that some 600 laborers received no pay for the last month's work done previous to the failure of Mr. Killian. The pay roll amounted to about $23,000 for that month.

From the work the city derived benefit, and it was only just and right that the men should be compensated for that work.

J. E. Abbott spoke briefly, outlining the position of the Italians whom he represented.

Walter Austin, one of the assignees of the Killian estate said $22,500 were owed in wages and about $16,000 in material. The city had not yet paid the reserve of 20 per cent. due for the work done, amounting to about $11,000. The city had two miles of sewer laid for which they had not paid anyone. This was worth about $18,000 by the contract and for delays caused to Mr. Killian $20,000 would not be an excessive estimate. He had been compelled to put on more men when there were not enough engineers to keep them employed, adding to Mr. Killian's burden.

John Lowell, Jr., represented Mr. Killian. The latter felt deeply the injustice done him by the city and that his good name was at stake, while these men whom he employed remained unpaid. He was willing to forego a large amount of his just claim in order to pay these men and avoid litigation in the matter.

A hearing was opened and closed on the extension of the N. & B street railway, 100 feet on Beacon street, Newton Centre.

THAT LICENSE.

A communication from Arthur Hudson mentioning the petition of J. N. Bacon et al in remonstrance and requesting a hearing on his petition for sixth class liquor license was received and discussed.

Alderman Plummer asked what objections had been made to granting the license other than that Mr. Hudson already had one? He was informed that it would be a "great convenience for the purchaser of drugs, medicines, etc." for those living on the north side of the track. (The Alderman from Ward Seven agreed with the latter part of his remarks.)

Alderman Thompson said physicians had told him it was a decided convenience to them in their profession.

Alderman Roffe of the committee on licenses did not believe it was necessary to have another place in Newton licensed for the dispensing of liquor, and when the petitioner already had one license.

AND WHAT CAME OF IT.

Alderman Plummer thought that might be construed as intimating that Mr. Hudson kept a rum shop. He did not believe such was the case.

Alderman Roffe said he was not acquainted with Mr. Hudson and formed no opinion from personal knowledge, but he believed it desirable to have as few licenses in the city as was possible and meet the demand.

Alderman Bothfield moved to refer the communication to the committee for investigation. It prevailed.

FOOD FOR DIGESTION.

A recess was then taken and the city fathers adjourned to the assessors room, which is their dining hall on election nights.

Upon reassembling an order authorizing the laying of water mains in Dedham, Edinboro, Essex streets and Brooks avenue at an expense of $1020, was passed.

An order appropriating $80 for an additional hydrant on Auburn street was passed.

An order was passed to construct sidewalks on Warren, Beacon, Centre streets and Hunnewell avenue.

The order appropriating $9000 for Cheesee brook construction and $6000 for new stone crusher was rescinded on account of the lack of funds that could be used for this purpose and an order authorizing the city treasurer to sell notes respectively for those amounts were passed.

The ordinance relating to parks and that relating to inspection of buildings and superintendent were each passed to be enrolled.

Orders were passed to lay out Austin street; to lay out Newbury street; to lay out Worcester street; to lay out Claffin place; to lay sewer in Walnut place, in Rockland street, in Hunnewell terrace, taking land for sewer in Webster court, near Centre street, in Oxford road; taking land of Don Cameron for public park purposes.

HEATING CITY HALL.

Alderman Plummer moved to reconsider the order appropriating $2501 for heating city hall.

Alderman Thompson asked the reason for this action.

Alderman Plummer said he considered it a useless expenditure of money. The feeling in general is that this money is needed more elsewhere, and he regretted voting in its favor.

Alderman Roffe thought its passage was a mistake. There were many ways in which the bond for a saving of fuel could be got around. There would be no one to look after it next year and the expense of running might not be reduced at all.

Alderman Thompson said a bond of $2000 approved by the mayor and city solicitor would be furnished by the company to save one third of the coal.

Alderman Plummer's attention had been called to a new gas radiator, which at a minimum expense would answer every purpose required.

PLUMBING WORK IN ALL ITS BRANCHES

CITY GOVERNMENT.

CONCLUDED FROM SECOND PAGE.

Alderman Thompson had examined the system in Waltham. If a new city hall were built, the present building would probably be fitted up as a court house and a thorough heating apparatus would be needed.

Alderman Roffe thought when that change came it would be time enough to consider it.

Alderman Plummer called for the vote. The order was reconsidered, and then tabled.

Alderman Bothfeld presented an order providing a salary of $1200 for superintendent of buildings.

An inspector, he said, is needed at once and this will give the mayor an opportunity to make an appointment.

Alderman Plummer said a competent man could be got for $900. Passed.

Notifications were received and referred: G. H. Hale dwelling house 28x22 feet on Cherry street; J. A. Rice, dwelling house 42x48 feet on Centre street.

John Dunne, et al, petitioned for sidewalks on Derby street; referred.

D. F. Henderson was given leave to withdraw a claim for damages.

An order taking land for sewer in Dalby street caused quite a discussion but was finally passed.

Susan Johnson, et al, petitioned for concrete sidewalk on Norman road; referred.

W. H. Kerrigan & Co. petitioned for sixth class liquor license at Upper Falls; referred.

Mr. S. Williams petitioned for one street light on Crafts street, and John Byron, et al, for one on Lincoln street; both referred.

PROTESTING.

A communication signed by W. F. Hawley and seventy-six others requested prompt action in connecting the Adams school house with the sewer.

C. A. Wyman and one hundred others petitioned that the fire steamer "Two," at West Newton, be placed in active service.

An order was introduced in connection with it to appropriate $10,000 for carrying out the wishes of the petitioners.

It was tabled on account of the late hour for future discussion.

TAKE AWAY FRANCHISE!

Alderman Thompson presented an order that the N. & B. street railway company be required to run the cars on both the Highlands and Centre lines on a twenty minute schedule.

Alderman Roffe said that as the cars were run to Newton Centre now the line might just as well be abandoned. They were no accommodation whatever to the people and cannot be at all depended on.

He was heartily in sympathy with a change being made and that at once, but did not think it right to pass such an order without consulting the company.

Alderman Thompson said that because his question the president leaving him and going on to the platform. The cars were no accommodation whatever.

The rails were a constant nuisance in the streets and unless the cars were run to accommodate the public he believed in having the franchise revoked.

Alderman Plummer said that because the road did not pay, was no reason whatever for discontinuing the running of cars. The franchise was given them to accommodate the public. If they do not do so the franchise is forfeited. But he believed the order as presented to be too rigid.

Alderman Roffe agreed with all that was said but wanted to hear if they had anything to say.

Alderman Thompson read from the agreement signed by the company in accepting the franchise that the "cars shall be run as the city council shall direct."

It belonged to the city to take a stand and tell them what to do, and then let them have a hearing afterwards.

Alderman Roffe favored giving a hearing first. He wanted to vote favorably on the order presented, but did not think it fair to pass it before hearing from the company.

Alderman Plummer moved an amendment to have the street railway committee state to the officials of the road the dissatisfaction of its patrons, requesting them to run cars on a twenty minute schedule pending a hearing.

The amendment was accepted but later withdrawn.

Alderman Hunt asked if the Newton Centre people were satisfied with the connection formerly made at Homer street.

Alderman Roffe said they thought it very absurd that they cannot ride two miles without being compelled to change cars. The cars thus far had not been run with any view to the accommodation of Newton Centre people.

The matter was finally referred to the chairman of the committee with instructions to confer with the company.

CITY ELECTION.

Alderman Roffe presented an order which was passed directing the city clerk to give notice to the voters of Newton of the city election which takes place on Tuesday, Dec. 5th.

The bill of Martin C. Laffie for expense in settling delinquent dog taxes was approved and at 12.10 a. m. the board adjourned.

Republican Caucuses.

The Republican ward and city committee has called caucuses for the nomination of common councilmen and the choice of delegates to a mayoralty and aldermanic convention for Tuesday evening, Nov. 14. The convention will be held in the City Hall a week later. Particulars in advertisement in another column.

—Mr. J. H. Wentworth and family of Newtonville have moved into a new house on Lincoln street.

Boulevard Sales.

Without any doubt the line of improvement among the suburbs of Boston receiving the most attention today is from Brookline westward into and through the Newtons. Brookline has had its wonderful increase in valuation, and now the investor who has the reputation of taking hold at the right time and the man of means who thinks his present residence, it may be in the back bay or Brookline, is a little too cramped and shut in from the sun-light and air and, it may be, too expensive for him to longer carry, are buying this fall 20,000-foot or acre lots along the line of the Newton boulevard, which crosses as fair a stretch of high, rolling, chestnut and oak covered country, right through Newton Centre on to Auburndale and the Charles river, as the most fastidious lover of nature often sees.

Land can be had commanding a view of Mt. Monadnock, Wachusett, and the Blue Hill range at a price, compared with what is asked at the present terminus of the electric cars, that will make many a man who does not buy now regret a year hence his inaction. It is stated from headquarters that the boulevard will be well under way, if not entirely completed, twelve months from this time.

Alford Bros. & Co., 113 Devonshire street, Boston, have made the following sales of this property and are not having much difficulty in convincing customers that now is the right time:

For the Newton boulevard syndicate a lot of land of about 13,000 square feet, fronting on Montvale road, to Charles K. Edward. A handsome house is to be started at once. They have also sold to the same party the syndicate a lot of about 12,000 square feet on Grant avenue facing and overlooking the boulevard. They have sold for H. H. Reed to S. S. Widger, a corner lot of about 7500 square feet on Devon road where ground will be broken at once for a residence.

This firm reports a marked degree of activity in this section and a number of new houses will be erected during the next six months.

Another Startling Accident.

"Say," said the regular customer of the side street restaurant, as he stopped at the desk to pay his check, "where did you get that beef you are serving to-day?"

"What's the matter with it?" aggressively asked the cashier, who scented another kick.

"There's nothing the matter with it; that's why I asked."

Everything in Stock.

(Puck.)

Customer—I'm looking for a tall man with one arm.

Floorwalker—Certainly. The remnant counter is just across the store.

THE LINCOLN STREET FIRE.

THE MYSTERY HAS BEEN SOLVED BY WRIGHT'S CONFESSION.

The mystery attending the Lincoln street fire in Boston, which resulted in the loss of so many lives and the great destruction of property has been solved by the confession of the incendiary, Louis A. Wright of Newton, who started the fire in the Hathaway building. The boy is now confined in the Insane Asylum at Westboro, as he has been found to be insane. Fire Marshal Whitcomb has been investigating a number of fires and traced the fire in the store of O. A. Jenkins & Co. to young Wright, and visited him at the asylum, last week, when to his surprise, he made a full confession of having set the fire in the Ames building, and told in detail just how he did the work.

Young Wright has made and signed a confession to the effect that during the early part of the present year he set fire purposely to a shed in Newton, belonging to his mother, Ellen E. Wright; that on Feb. 10 he attempted to set fire to the Hathaway building in Boston, by lighting some paper under the sink in the toilet closet on the first floor. Failing in this attempt, by reason of the early discovery of the state of affairs by a tenant, he again on Feb. 14 set fire to the paper in the same closet, by igniting paper saturated with naphtha, which he brought with him in a beer bottle from his home in Newton. This fire was also discovered and extinguished without damage.

Young Wright also admits in his confession that on the 21st of the same month he set fire to waste paper in barrels on the third floor of the Hathaway building, which fire was put out by one of the porters.

Friday, March 10, H. F. Caldwell, salesman for H. H. Fleming in the Hathaway building, in whose employ Wright also was, sent him on an errand to 28 School street. On the way back he admits that he went to the Ames building to get a catalogue of pumping machinery from an office on the third floor. He found the office locked, and on the way out he went into a toilet closet on the third floor and set fire to a lot of newspapers on the floor, which he had piled up in a corner. He then ran down stairs and reached his office about 4.30.

About 8.30 the same evening he entered the Hathaway building by a side door and set fire to some paper in a toilet closet, No. 2 on the first floor.

He says he had no motive in setting any of the above fires, and can only account for his actions by the fact that he was actuated by an uncontrollable impulse.

Mr. Whitcomb, in response to the question of "What would be done with Wright, now that it was proven that he was the cause of the Ames building fire," replied that he could not say, Wright having been sent away by the court as insane, was beyond his jurisdiction, and he could not act in the matter.

DR. CHARLES F. CREHORE.

DEATH OF A LEADING CITIZEN OF NEWTON.

Dr. Charles Frederic Crehore died at his home, "Pine Grove," Newton Lower Falls, Wednesday morning. He had been in failing health for some time. Tuesday it was decided to perform an operation upon him, from the effects of which, owing to his weakened vitality, he sank rapidly.

Deceased was born in Newton and was 65 years of age. He received his preparatory education in the Newton schools, and was graduated from the Harvard medical school, after practising, however, for a short time after completing his university courses. He gave up the practice of medicine to take charge of the mill business of his father, the late Lemuel Crehore.

When a student at the Harvard Medical school, he was brought into prominence through his ability in the field of microscopical work pertaining especially to germ analysis.

In August, 1862, he was appointed assistant surgeon of the 20th Massachusetts regiment, and was first assigned for duty in the earlier period of the civil war on the steamer Cambridge. About a year later he was appointed surgeon of the 37th Massachusetts regiment attached to the 6th corps, Army of the Potomac, and served until December, 1864, when he resigned.

Coming back from the front he again took up his duties in his father's mill, located in Newton Lower Falls. The business was that of the manufacture of press papers and cards for Jacquard looms. The business was established in 1825 and was one of the most extensive and successful in its line in the country. The deceased became a partner in 1867 and sole owner in 1868. In 1883, his son, Fred M. Crehore, was admitted to partnership.

Mr. Crehore was one of Newton's most public-spirited citizens. He was a man of sympathetic character, who gave liberally toward all worthy charities. His aims were bestowed without ostentation, and he derived sincere pleasure in giving. To his employees he was a kind friend and advisor. He paid them liberally, and those who worked long terms in his service and became incapacitated for active labor, he retired on a pension. He was esteemed and respected by every one, and his death brings sorrow to the entire community where the greater part of his life was spent.

He never aspired to public office, but was induced in 1885 to accept a position on the Newton water board, serving until 1889. He was one of the principal supporters of St. Mary's (Episcopal) church, Newton Lower Falls. He was a member of the Massachusetts Commandery, Loyal Legion, and various social clubs.

A widow and two children survive him, a son and daughter.

Gambling, Anyhow.

CITY POLITICS.

The caucuses for the election of delegates to the Republican city convention will be held next Tuesday, and the convention will be held the following week.
City politics have been very little discussed as yet, and the issues have hardly been developed, but then it will probably be a spirited contest, as there is considerable dissatisfaction with the present city council, on account of its lack of action on many important matters. There is no opposition to speak of against Mayor Fenno, and he will probably be re-elected without much opposition, but a warm contest is expected over aldermen and members of the council.

It has been felt for some time that a better method of nominating candidates ought to be employed, and one plan talked of is to have ten men selected from each ward, to bring in a list of candidates. If these men were wisely selected, and it was made a strictly non-partisan matter, with the single view of getting the men who would be most useful to the city, the plan would be a good one, and it is believed that by this method better men could be secured
than by the present haphazard plan.

A party nomination in a city election in Newton has come to mean very little,
unfortunately, one reason being that it is so easy for the caucus to be captured by the friends or opponents of any candidate. The people are to blame, of course, as they do not take the trouble to attend the caucuses, but for the credit of the city more regard should be paid to the qualifications of candidates.

If a non-partisan committee of seventy could secure better men, it would be welcomed by the voters of all parties.
We have in Newton now so many corporations interested in city legislation that nominations ought to be carefully scrutinized, to see whether the men will be apt to represent the city or something else, and on this account the people are disposed to look critically at any names that may be suggested.

THE REPRESENTATIVES.

The Newton voters have chosen Messrs. Chester and Estabrooks to represent them again at the State House,
after a contest which was unusually exciting. Mr. Estabrooks received a very handsome endorsement from the people, leading Mr. Chester by 176 votes, and Mr. Howard by 44 votes.

Mr. Chester's friends made a very warm fight in his behalf and succeeded in giving him a good lead over Mr. Howard, and there was some surprise that more work was not done for the latter by those who secured his nomination. His own ward gave him a good majority over Mr. Chester, but Ward Four seems to have slumped unaccountably. Ward Six shows its usual faithfulness to its own man by giving Mr. Chester almost a hundred lead over both the other candidates. Mr. Howard's defeat is regretted as he was in no way to blame for the contest, and was in no way a corporation candidate, but he will be remembered another year, when he will have the strongest claim upon the voters.

The lesson of the election is one of great importance, as it shows that even in such a phenomenal year as the present, a Republican nomination is not equivalent to an election. The voters of Newton do not like any corporation flavor in their politics, and the suspicion that the street railway corporations were responsible for Mr. Estabrooks' defeat in the Republican convention was sufficient to rouse a storm of indignation. We send men to the legislature to represent Newton, and not to represent any corporation, and the general sentiment and publicity given to Mr. Estabrooks' record was sufficient to show that he had faithfully looked after the interests of the people and had opposed any schemes which were against the public interest.

It will be an inspiration to future representatives and also a warning to the corporations, and Mr. Estabrooks' friends may well feel complacent over the splendid victory they won in this election.

Now that the state election is over,
interest in city politics is expected to assume an absorbing character and there are rumors of a number of warm contests over seats in the board of aldermen. There is said to be more or less dissatisfaction over the course of some of the members, and it is whispered that the opposition in one case is to assume a partisan mantle. That an official is to be opposed ostensibly because he is not of the dominant party, but really because his strictly business methods have interfered more or less with the schemes of parties who did not get what they wanted. For the credit of Newton, such a scheme ought not to succeed, and it will not if the voters understand the situation. Matters have not yet taken such shape that anything more definite can be stated, and it may be that the scheme will not materialize when the movers of it see the improbability of its succeeding.

A BRANCH of the A. P. A. is said to have been recently started in Newton.
It is a secret society, the members of which bind themselves by a solemn oath never to vote for any Roman Catholic,
and to refrain from other like things.
The proceedings and membership are necessarily very secret, so that it is not known whether the branch really exists here, nor how many members it has.

THE roadways on the Cheesecake brook boulevard are now practically completed and the banks of the brook are being smoothed off and finished up. The boulevard will be very attractive when completed and it does away with all trouble from the overflowing of the brook, and turns low, wet lands into an attractive site for buildings.

ONE of the gratifying results of the election was the handsome vote given to Hon. J. R. Leeson in Newton. He ran ahead of his ticket in every ward in the city and had 1683 majority, one of the largest majorities ever given to a candidate in Newton. His townspeople evidently appreciate high character and fidelity to business like principles.

THE Waltham News gives Newton this compliment:
Newton keeps right on with municipal improvements in spite of hard times.
But perhaps Newton can stand it, Waltham cannot.

It is time to begin to think of the annual gifts to the Newton Cottage Hospital. Sunday, Nov. 26th, is Hospital Sunday.

A MEETING of those interested in a non-partisan ticket for the city election is to be held at City Hall, next Thursday evening.

Gamewell Company Loses.

The Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph company loses its most important point in the suit which it brought against Moses G. Crane and Fred W. Cole, directors in the Municipal Fire Alarm and Telegraph company. Friday the Supreme Court in a majority opinion held that the clause in a contract between the Gamewell company and Moses G. Crane, who agreed not to engage directly or indirectly in the business of fire alarm and police alarm apparatus in competition with the Gamewell company for a period of ten years from Oct. 6, 1886, the date of the contract, is void as against public policy and in restraint of trade.

The opinion says in part: "The plaintiff gets everything it bought if it gets the tangible property and the letters patent, and the improvements which the defendant, Crane, agreed to convey."

THE PROVIDENCE CASE.

We are requested to state that the dismissal of the case of the Municipal Co.
by the U. S. district court against the city of Prov. was a result of an application by the city authorities to that effect
and it was complied with by the court, for the only reason that the Municipal company's agent did not notify the company. They knew nothing of the proceeding until they saw it in this paper
last week.

New Style Jackets.

Although capes of all descriptions have fairly inundated the market, and appeared by thousands on the streets, the really stylish garment for out-of-doors is the jacket of modern cut and finish. The last year's jacket is as decidedly "out"
as though it were five years old, in the presence of the full-skirted styles of today. Chandler & Co. have made a specialty of black and colored jackets this fall, having had a large quantity made to order specially for them. These garments are of exceptional style and make.
They are offered at the remarkably low figures of $15, $18 and $20, and cannot be excelled either in quality, workmanship or fit. Every lady should see them.
—Chandler & Co., Boston.

It is only a few years since a few of the ultra-fashionable set could distinguish themselves by wearing tailor-made gowns. Today society places the rule requiring such gowns in the form of a positive demand. So it happened that when Mr. Hayden of Boston, a man well up in the matter of "art gowns," came to Newton there was general rejoicing in the homes of upper-tendom. Mr. Hayden is pleasantly located in Brackett's block, and has a fine business. The ladies of Newton know what is nice and are able to have it. They are handsome, cultivated and stylish.

Mrs. Stone is a pupil of Mrs. Frisbie's and teaches both China and glass painting. She will be pleased to show her beautiful work to visitors and executes orders promptly. She also does China and glass in a superior manner at reasonable prices. See adv.

At City Hall, Saturday, November 25, from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M., which is the last session of the Registrars preceding the Election of December 5, 1893, and after 1 o'clock P. M. of said November 25, 1893, the Registrars will not, before the Election, and any names to the Registrars, except the names of voters examined as to their qualifications, since the preceding thirtieth day of April.

All persons whose names are not on the voting list must appear personally before the Registrars of Voters on either of the days above mentioned, presenting a tax bill of 1893 or other evidence satisfactory to the Registrars.

All naturalized citizens must present their final papers when they register.
If the father of an applicant was naturalized before he (the son) became 21 years of age, the son is naturalized thereby, and must present the father's naturalization papers.

Every male citizen of 21 years of age and upwards, who has resided in the State one year, and in the city of Newton six months next preceding December 5, 1893, and who shall be able to read and write, shall have the right to vote at the City election to be held December fifth, eighteen hundred and ninety-three.

Every female citizen of twenty-one years of age or upwards, not being a pauper or person under guardianship, who is able to read the constitution of the Commonwealth in the English language and to write her name, and who has resided within the Commonwealth one year and within the city or town in which she claims a right to vote six calendar months next preceding an election for school committee, may have her name entered upon the list of voters for school committee in such city or town, and shall have the right to vote in every such election.

Members of the school committee, upon complying with the requirements hereinafter set forth:
and, except as aforesaid, no female person shall have her name entered upon the list of voters or have the right to be allowed to vote, except that no female person who is prevented from reading and writing as aforesaid by a physical disability shall, if otherwise qualified, be deprived of the right to vote by reason of not being able to read or write."—Sec. 4, Chap. 417, Acts 1893.

The service was evidently appreciated judging from the large number who availed themselves of the opportunity it afforded of getting the latest and most reliable statistics of the vote.

—The Newton clubhouse was thronged with members Tuesday evening, who were anxious to get the latest and most reliable information regarding the result of the election. The returns were received by telephone and bulletin. The Democratic contingent was exceedingly quiet and reserved. It is said, and those representing the defeated side were subjected to the usual amount of good natured raillery.

—Ladies' night was observed at the Newton clubhouse Tuesday evening, where the social season may now be said to have been fairly inaugurated. About two hundred ladies and gentlemen participated in the festivities, which the occasion afforded, and the assembly hall was well filled with those who found pleasure and congenial social enjoyment in the festive and social exercises. The decorations were very tasteful and some very handsome gowns were noticed. An orchestra furnished an excellent musical program.

—The Newton club will have a strong team in the Massachusetts Amateur Bowling League this season. It will comprise C. P. Shibley, captain, A. A. Savage, W. J. Follett, A. H. Terrell and W. M. Tapley. The substitutes are R. W. Buntin and J. D. Kinsley. Some experimental teams were tried in the practice matches, and the 2300 figure was not touched. The regulars are, however, getting into shape and it is expected that they will be in good form by the opening of the season. Newton club members are quite confident that the team will make a good showing and expect to see it win two of the first four games played, their opponents being the strongest league clubs. The first match is with Casino at the Norfolk House, Saturday evening, Nov. 18. A large delegation will accompany the Newton team.

—"Behold all souls are mine." Thus spoke Rev. Mr. Priest as he stood on the platform of the Universalist church last Sunday morning, at the beginning of the sermon. Quiet, earnest and with great dignity he spoke at length without notes of the topic dear to him. Thursday, Nov. 2, was All Souls Day, and was celebrated by the church. For our purpose this is All Souls Day. Though the church established this custom in the year 993, of sending prayers for those in purgatory and has kept it up since then we need not do it. Those in the other life do not need our prayers. Our work is with the living souls here on this earth, to make them better. Heil is not a future state, but right among and with us. I would strive to keep hell out of men.

—At the residence of Mr. A. H. Soden, a very charming musicale was given Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Pilgrim Y. P. S. C. E. Chrysanthemums, palms and ferns added to the beauty of the already attractive home. Vocal solos and trios, piano and banjo music, and readings by Newton and Boston artists made up the evening's program. Its fine rendering was justly appreciated by the assembled friends.

—Norumbega tribe, L. O. R. M., threw out its last string Wednesday evening, inviting the members of Waltham tribe to the mysteries of the inner circle and the hospitality customary upon such occasions. The degree staff of the Waltham tribe worked the adoption in a superb manner. After the ceremonies, the banquet hall was taken possession of and there after the material festivities, speeches were given by the officers of the Waltham tribe and others. The usual social features were enjoyed and altogether the affair was one affording sincere pleasure to the chiefs and warriors who gathered around the festive board and smoked the pipe of peace.

—The meeting of J. Wiley Edmonds Camp 100, Sons of Veterans, Monday evening, was attended by brothers from Waltham and Needham and the side degree was worked by the members of the local camp. The meeting was a very successful one and the early departure of the guests from the Watch city was a source of regret to all.

—Several plans are now being considered by the committee on the sale of the property of the Newton City Council for an addition to the Pierce schoolhouse. It is proposed to erect an addition to the present building of such size as to contain six rooms and accommodate the building of the school. The plans will be three stories high and will be built of wood.

—The election returns were in very promptly this year the first ballot box coming in early in the evening and all the returns being at City Hall before eight o'clock. The fact that the returns from different sections of the state were more complete than ever before, a special telephone with an operator being stationed in the office of the water board in close proximity to the bulletin board, where the returns were cricled as fast as received.

—The display of Chrysanthemums at Mr. H. A. Gane's greenhouse has attracted a large number of visitors, this week, who have appreciated Mr. Gane's efforts in opening them to the public. The flowers seem to grow more beautiful every year, and the visitors are surprised at the handsome coloring and the great size of some of the varieties. One of the most beautiful, appropriately named "Good Gracious," calls out exclamations of admiration from all the visitors, for both for its size, its curious leaves and its handsome color. There are several fine varieties of the "Mrs. Langtry," a pure white flower that is as beautiful as its fair namesake. A pure yellow variety attracts a great deal of admiration, and is appropriately styled "The Golden Wedding." Mr. Gane has also a large number of seedlings, in which the growers of chrysanthemums find so much interest, some of which are very promising and may develop into a choice variety, and he has also a number of the newest varieties, both native and imported. A visit to such a display is a rare treat, and the many varieties, the size and color, are a wonder to the visitors who have enjoyed Mr. Gane's hospitality.

—At a meeting of the Newton Republican ward and city committee held in City Hall, Wednesday evening, two plans were suggested in the way of securing non-partisan municipal organizations. One was to select seventy men, without regard to political affiliations, from the several wards of the city, these men to come together practically as a nominating committee and select the candidates for the city offices. The other plan was of about the same character, except in regard to the number of men selected for the nominating committee—140 being suggested instead of 70—the object being to obtain a larger representation of citizens from each ward. It is understood that the gentlemen interested in the non-partisan movement will proceed in accordance with one of the plans proposed, and make nominations without regard to the holding of partisan caucuses or conventions. Some of the Republicans of the city committee, who are not particularly impressed with the scheme because of a suspected "cut in the meat," hope that the nominations of the non-partisan movement will be made before the Republican convention is held. If the men selected are satisfactory, they say they will endorse them, but not otherwise.

KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE COMPASS.

Keep your eye on the compass
If the sea runs high
And the ocean's inky billows
Mock the blackness of the sky,
When beating up against the winds,
So pitiless and strong,
Keep your eye on the compass,
And you can't go wrong.

Keep your eye on the compass
And your white light trimmed,
Though the moon hide in the heavens
And the stars are dimmed,
Though the voyage may be lonely
And the way seem long,
Keep your eye on the compass,
And you can't go wrong.

Keep your eye on the compass
It will guide you o'er the deep,
Will show you where the north star is
And where the flowers sleep
In the sunny south. No matter
If the way seems long,
Keep your eye on the compass,
And you can't go wrong.

MADAME'S STORY.

"And what became of Marie?" I asked.
"She married, did she not? Or did she, now? I remember there was some excitement."

Madame sighed. "It is a very long story."

"Tell me, madame," I begged. I give the story in her own words. I would that I could give her accent. Her English was almost perfect, though rather studied and occasionally confused as to tenses. But her singularly pure, clear voice and a faint foreign softening of each syllable made her charming to listen to.

"Well, as I think I told you long ago, Marie went away from me for one long year. When she was very little, I send her to a convent in Toronto, and I do not see her very often. She grows up so pretty, so spirituelle, the pale pink face and big eyes, black eyes and long, long lashes—oh, she is beautiful! She away like a rose in the morning, quite slender, and her small feet do not hurt the flowers. She is a flower herself, charming. She comes home, and the lady in the village are distracted, and I am too.

"It is very hard to watch Marie. She is so quick and so beautiful. She laugh in my face and say: 'Do not fear, my mother. I always stay with you. As for the men, I hate 'em all.' Then she dance away with the pale pink ribbons flying from the pink robe, and the lady follow her everywhere. She read love stories—novel, she call them, and they put strange things in her head.

"She will not marry the lady in the village, she say, but some rich man will come from the city and take her away, and I, her mother, will have plenty of beautiful dresses and a maid to wait upon me. Then I scold her and say that I do not want those things, and she must marry a lady that I shall choose for her. Then she dance away, throwing the roses at me, and the ribbons fluttering everywhere, always ribbons and flowers with my Marie, and when she pass, the curling hair all tumbling around her, there is always a sweet perfume in the air. You remember her when she came from the convent?"

"I nod. Who wouldn't remember that wild rose of a girl, with the damkest foot poet ever raved over, with a slender, little, ever dancing, little figure, with her pretty gowns following every movement, with her glorious merry black eyes and the seashell pink on her cheeks. Remember Marie? I, who had followed her floating ribbons, had picked up the roses she let fall, had been as crazy about her as ever was village lad! Remember her? Yes, as one remembers a sprite, a fairy, a delicious dream. I sigh as one sighs for departing youth.

Those mad, happy days have nothing to do with me now. A moment ago—a day ago—I was bored, cynical, blasé, and now I would give my life to be dancing once more through the woods after Marie—after flowers and streamers and a floating gown catching on the wild rose bushes—after Marie! If once more the woods could seem as green, the sky as blue, a girl as fair as Marie!

"So she will not marry, and by and by a girl from the convent write Marie to visit with her at her home, and I am tired, and I let Marie go. She stay one whole year, and I weary for her, and she come back. When I see her, the tears come in my eyes. She is pale and thin and so quiet. I feel dreadful. I ask her what the matter is, and she say, 'Nothing at all.' But I, her mother, know better, and I watch and wait.

"One day a letter come for her, and it is a man's handwriting on the envelope. Marie take it and say nothing at all. Then I feel bad, very bad, that my little girl have a lover, and that I, her mother, know not of it. After a long time she tell me his name. It is Jean Lefroy, and she knew him at the house of her friend, and he tell her he love her, and I ask her if she love him—although I think it not right that I do not choose for her—and she say she do not know. But one day Mons—Mr. Lefroy come and say:

"Why you not write me, Marie?" and she say to him that I am her mother, and he bow very low to me and say:

"Madame, I love your daughter, and I write and ask her when I may come and tell her mother that I wish to marry her, and she do not answer me at all, at all, and he stride very fierce about the room, and Marie put her head on my shoulder and say that she love me, her mother, only. And he ask very quick:

"Why you say you love me?" and Marie will not answer. She just put her hands to her ears and will not listen to him. I think she must be crazy and speak hard to her, but she just run out of the room. Then he go away and say he will come back again that evening. Then I speak to Marie, and she say there is another man, too, and she do not know which she like better—that when one of them is there that she like the other one better—and it is making her pale and thin. Then I am very severe with her and tell her it is very wrong; that she cannot love either of them, or she would know. But she say she think she will marry one of them, and I tell her that Mr. Lefroy is coming tonight and she must say either yes or no to him, and she say that I will break her heart.

"Well, in the evening a strange gentleman come—a very fair gentleman, with pretty curly hair—and he ask to see my Marie. She look over the stair, and she say to me:

"It is the other one."

"Then I am nearly crazy, but Marie say she will not go to see him till Mr. Lefroy come. 'Perhaps I can tell,' she say, 'when I see them both together.'

"When Mr. Lefroy come, we go down the stair and there they are, both together, and they look hard at each other. We talk a little while, and then I say, 'Gentlemen, what is it that you want?'

"And they both say quick, 'Marie!'

And Marie she say:

"But you cannot both have me. Is it not so?" And the one that came last say, very angry:

"You must decide now which one you will have!"

"Then Marie look at him and frown and say quick:

"Very well, then: I decide now that I will not have you."

"Then Jean Lefroy he smile a little, and the other one walk out of the house quick, his face like a storm cloud, and then Marie sit down and cry. She will not speak to Jean Lefroy, although he coax her very hard. She only say that she will stay with me, her mother, then Jean he bow and say to me that he hope my health will keep good, and Marie stop crying and make him a grimace, and he go away too. They both come back often. But she cannot tell which she like best ever, and I am very weary.

Almost I would be glad that she leave me and marry. So one day she tell me that next week she will marry, and there is no time to get her the clothes, and she will not tell me which one. I like them both very well, and I feel bad, but she only say, 'You will see.'

"On Thursday she would marry, only quietlike—only those who marry her and I, her mother, there—and we go to the church together. When we get to the church, I look to see which gentleman, but I see no one. Marie is cool. She say: 'Let us wait. He may be late,' and she smile to herself. I think it is very strange, but at last I see Jean Lefroy come round the corner and Marie run to meet him. When he come near, I see that he look—oh, horrible! He have his arm tied up, and his coat is torn, and one of his eyes has a black mark, and he is lame. He wear no hat, and the collar and tie are gone. Oh, it is dreadful. But I say nothing. I fear Marie change her mind again. But it is not so. They are married, and I make Jean tell me why he look so dreadful.

"Well," he say, 'Marie tell each of us, separately, that she will marry us today, and when I see him I smile, not knowing that he has her promise, too, and when he see me he hold the head high, not knowing that I shall marry her. So all the week we nearly have our fight, but I never touch him till—well, last night Marie write us both and say that she will marry the one that will get to the church first. We both get the note at the same time, and I see that he is getting ready early, and I hurry too. When he leave his house, I leave mine also, and all the way we try to keep each other back. It is very hard work, and two hours after we leave the homes we have not get farther than the first corner.

"Soon we start to run, but we cannot get past each other, and then he catch hold of me, and then we fight some more. But soon I tear his coat bad, and he cannot wear it, and then his vest, but madame will pardon me that I cannot tell her all that happen. At all event, we have to go home to get the clothes, and I get here first." Madame paused, and I knew her story was done.

"And were they happy together, madame?" I asked. "It is hard to imagine Marie settling down quietly."

"It is a long story," she said.—Madge Robertson in Romance.

Mistakes About Alcohol.

There is a common belief that alcohol gives new strength and energy after fatigue sets in. The sensation of fatigue is one of the safety valves of our machine. To stifle the feeling of fatigue, in order to do more work, is like closing the safety valve so that the boiler may be overheated and explosion result. It is commonly thought that alcoholic drinks aid digestion, but in reality the contrary would appear to be the case, for it has been proved that a meal without alcohol is more quickly followed by hunger than a meal with alcohol. In connection with the sanitation of armies thousands of experiments upon large bodies of men have been made and have led to the result that, in peace or war, in every climate—in heat, cold or rain—soldiers are better able to endure the fatigue of the most exhausting marches when they are not allowed any alcohol at all. That mental exertions of all kinds are better undergone without alcohol is generally admitted by most people who have made the trial.—Westminster Review.

The Servant Problem Not New.

Students of household management will learn with satisfaction that in 1566 many of the evils now to be complained of were distinctly recognized. Some of the more curious fines which were imposed by a country gentleman upon offending servants were a penny for leaving a door open, missing prayers, leaving beds unmade after 8 (presumably a. m.), and cooks could only have followers at the rate of a penny fine for each one. A curious custom seems to have then existed that entrance to the house was denied during the family meals, and as the fine for allowing a breach of this custom was heavy it may be presumed that the sin was esteemed great.—Lady's Pictorial.

HELLOING 1,300 MILES

LONG DISTANCE AND SHORT CIRCUIT TELEPHONES.

Who Use the Former and What They Use Them For—The Charges Seem High, but They Permit the Use of Considerable Conversation—A Lecture For Test Calls.

A continuous long distance telephone line extends between Boston and Milwaukee, a distance, as the line is run, of 1,300 miles.

A reporter who was wondering, as many other people are wondering, no doubt, if the long distance telephone circuits are much used, and if so by what class of people and for what purposes, called to ask those questions of Edward P. Meany, assistant general manager of the company, in the main office, at 18 Cortland street.

"Yes," said Mr. Meany, "the long distance service is used to such a satisfactory extent that it is being constantly extended. In the far western part of our territory Milwaukee has been added to the system, and this side of Chicago a line has recently been run down from Toledo to Dayton O., and from Dayton extensions are making which will bring Cincinnati and Indianapolis into the service."

"What class of interviews is most conducted over the longer circuits?" "I should say that social and domestic affairs bring most of the patrons now, although there are some business interviews conducted."

Mr. Meany explained that the charges for long distance interviews are based upon five minutes' conversation as a unit. That is, the charge between New York and Chicago is $3, between New York and Washington is $2, between New York and Boston is $1.50, and so on. This does not include the time used in making the connection or bringing the parties to the ends of the line. All subscribers to the long distance telephone can be connected with the circuits just as they are in the local business. If a man is wanted who is not a subscriber to the long distance service, he is hunted up and brought to a central station without charge.

When two people get fairly started on a long distance interview, they can talk from 400 to 600 words in five minutes, according to the subject and their familiarity with it. It is a fact that most interviews end before the unit of time has elapsed. One New York woman who had her son at South Bend, Ind., where he is at school, called up anxiously, asked her startled mother if she had put his winter flannels in his trunk, if he had not maliciously carried off his father's razor and if his tooth had stopped aching. Being satisfactorily answered on all these points, she paid for the service and went on her way rejoicing.

Business men chiefly use the long distance service to consult about terms of contracts or to report the text of contracts which must be repeated to insure accuracy.

The chief difference between the long distance and the short circuits is that in the former what is called a metallic service is used—that is, in talking between New York and Chicago, a distance of 1,000 miles, the service is really over 2,000 miles of wire, as the wire, instead of being grounded at both ends to complete the circuit, is doubled or looped to make the complete circuit metallic. The instructions for speaking and listening are the same as those printed for the use of the ordinary telephone, and the result, so far as hearing is concerned, is rather better over a thousand miles than over one. This is owing to the metallic circuit, which does away with the maddening burr-r resulting from induction and from the use of a heavier and superior copper wire. The wire used in the long distance service weighs 870 pounds a mile, the ordinary service wire weighing but 340 pounds.

Mr. Meany said that while there was no mechanical reason why the service should not be continued across the continent, it is not probable that, for the present at least, it will go beyond the Mississippi river, owing to the great cost of construction, operating and maintenance expenses. When these facts had been given to the reporter, Mr. Meany asked if a chat with Chicago would not aid an understanding of the subject. The reporter thought it might, and Mr. Meany drew toward him a movable stand telephone instrument and called up Chicago. That active city quickly responded, and the telephone was turned over to the reporter. The thousand-mile-away voice began in a clear singsong voice, "This is the World's fair telephone exchange station."

"That's all right," said the reporter. "I'm a Sun man and wanted to hear your voice."

Then he laughed and said in a natural manner:

"I have to answer about 90 'test' calls a day, and so have made up a little lecture which I give them free."

Then a conversation of several minutes followed, unbroken by a "burr-r-r," a "zip-zip-zip" or a single "what's that?"—New York Sun.

A Life Line Suggestion.

It is evidently a veteran sailor who makes the suggestion that, as a vessel always goes ashore to leeward, and the life line shot from the shore must therefore be fired against the wind, and with all the difficulties which this implies, every vessel should carry a supply of rockets, which, attached to deep sea log line and signal halliards, would connect them much more speedily with the shore.—Boston Transcript.

Silent Machinery.

The Safety Valve calls attention to the fact that the problem of silent machinery has been solved by a firm in Vienna. This firm is manufacturing cogwheels of pressed rawhide. The new wheels have, it is claimed, great strength, and they do not require lubricating. On the other hand, they are very expensive, and are consequently unlikely to come into general use.

SHARP BEGGARS AND DULL ONES.

Alms, Solicitors Who Choose Between the Entrances of a Cafe.

A well patronized restaurant in the neighborhood of the city hall has an entrance on two populous thoroughfares. In front of the one on the north a lean and whining beggar nightly stands with outstretched hand. He makes no audible complaint, but mutters incessantly in a tone that excites the imagination into conjuring up every horror that waits upon excessive poverty. In spite of this he fares badly, for more men come out of this door than enter by it, and as their stomachs are full the thought of hunger in others obtains no abiding place within their minds.

At the down town entrance there loiters, when the longing policeman is not in sight, a beggar of another breed. He is sleek and round, with a fat and shiny face and a merry twinkle in his lazy eyes. More than once the writer caught him concealing a cigar behind his back while he extended the other hand in a beseeching way for alms. His sole prayer is for food, intermingled with fervent protestations that he is starving, and that he never drinks a drop of strong liquor. Many men hurrying into the restaurant with a poignant appetite are touched by his prayers and pause long enough to drop a coin into his hand.

It is clear that the sleek beggar knows that a hungry man is more apt to be touched by the hunger of others than he who is well fed, and so he chooses as his workshop the door at which the patrons of the restaurant enter, leaving the one through which they leave to the stupid fellow whose need, like enough, is as great as his mumbled prayers for charity would indicate.—New York World.

The Thrifty Japanese.

What is the reason that Japan has no poverty problem? One reason is probably to be found in the land system, which has given to every worker a holding and encouraged him to supply his wants by his own labor. There is, too, in Japan a curious absence of ostentatious luxury.

The habits of living are in all classes much the same, and the rich do not outshine the poor by carriages, palaces and jewelry. The rich spend their money on curios, which, if these are costly, is limited, and the most popular agitation is against the big European houses which ministers build for themselves. Wealth is thus not absorbed and is more ready for investment in remunerative labor. The last reason which occurs to the mind of a traveler with comparatively few opportunities for forming opinions is the equality of manners in all classes. Rich and poor are alike courteous. It is not possible to distinguish employer from laborer by their behavior. All are clean: all are easy; all are restrained.

The governor lets his child go to the common school and sit next to the child of the casual laborer, certain that his child will pick up no bad manners and get no contamination in thought or in person. This equality enables rich and poor to meet as friends, and gifts can pass without degradation. The rich nobles in the country, just as the university men with whom we met in Tokio, are thus able to give to those whom they know to be in need, and friendship becomes the channel of charity. The question is, Will this survive the introduction of the industrial system? It is possible that some of it may and that Japan may teach the west how to deal with the poor.—Fortnightly Review.

The Electric Capstan.

An expert in railway matters declares that the day is not far distant when the switching engine will be entirely done away with, its place being taken by the electric capstan. The latter is already in use to a certain extent on some of the Pennsylvania lines. The motor, which actuates the capstan by means of gearing, runs at the rate of some 1,200 revolutions per minute, and the gearing motor and switch of the capstan are all contained in a watertight iron case, the top of which comes flush with the ground. There is a cover to it which is readily removable, so as to give easy access to the motor for oiling and cleaning. The wires containing the current for the motor are carried through an iron pipe below the surface of the ground, and the switch for starting and stopping the motor is operated readily by the foot of the attendant in charge of the capstan.—New York Sun.

Pascal's Early Observation.

Blaise Pascal, who wrote a remarkable treatise on the laws of sound, was constantly observing the familiar occurrences about him, even as a boy. When he was only 10 years old, he sat at the dinner table one day striking his plate with his knife and then listening to the sound.

"What are you doing with that plate, Blaise?" asked his sister.

"See," he replied, "When I strike the plate with my knife, it rings. Hark!"

Again he called forth the sound.

"When I grasp it with my hand so," he continued, "the sound ceases. I wonder why it is?"—Youth's Companion.

The Sturdy Camel.

A camel has twice the carrying power of an ox. With an ordinary load of 400 pounds he can travel 12 or 14 days without water, going 40 miles a day. They are fit to work at 5 years old, but their strength begins to decline at 25, although they usually live to 40. The Tartars have herds of these animals, often 1,000 belonging to one family. They were numerous in antiquity, for the patriarch Job had 3,000. The Timbuctoo or Meharri breed is remarkable for speed and used only for couriers, going 800 miles in eight days with a meal of dates or grain at nightfall.—Exchange.

A Bright Lad,

Ten years of age, but who declines to give his name to the public, makes this authorized, confidential statement to us:

"When I was one year old, my mamma died of consumption. The doctor said that I, too, would soon die, and all our neighbors thought that even if I did not die, I would never be able to walk, because I was so weak and puny. A gathering formed and broke under my arm. I hurt my finger and it gathered and threw out pieces of bone. If I hurt myself so as to break the skin, it was sure to become a running sore. I had to take lots of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has made me well and strong."

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—Next week at the Grand Opera House Hopkin's new trans-oceanic star specialty company will furnish an entertainment varied and interesting in its features and of high excellence. This is the only vaudeville organization which will appear at this house this season, and it is one of the few first-class companies of the kind. To mention all of the specialties and what they would require almost a page in this paper. The most novel features perhaps will be De Bessel, the French sculptor, who in an incredibly short space of time models in clay heads typical of the different races. Will H. Fox, as Padewski, will give an amusing performance on the piano, at the same time displaying his skill with the instrument, and many other stars will appear. Following the Trans-oceanic the Grand Opera House stock company will return from its very successful tour of the large New England towns and cities and will remain two weeks, presenting the most elaborate spectacular production of the drama "Hoodman Blind" ever placed on the stage. The cast will be exceptional in strength and will introduce the principals of the company.

COLUMBIA THEATRE—"The Girl I Left Behind Me," which is to be presented at the Columbia Theatre, Monday evening, November 13, for a brief season is regarded with a peculiar literary as well as theatrical interest from the fact that it will introduce to this city a new association of two dramatic authors, David Belasco and Franklin Fyles. The Indian question is its theme, a distinctly American one, and the authors have, it is said, succeeded in solving the difficult problem of creating a frontier drama without its usual accompaniment of sensationalism. It may be fairly stated to be a society border drama. The cast will include James E. Wilson, William H. Thompson, Byron Douglas, Charles Hilleck, Frank Mordant, Theodore Roberts, Robert Edison, James O. Barrows, Thomas Oberle, Joseph Adelman, Percy Smith, Arthur Hayden, Willie Enos, Sydney Armstrong, Laura Gilroy, Lottie Alter, Stella Tuston, Katherine Florence and twenty others.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—Mr. and Mrs. Kendal appeared last Monday night at the Hollis Street Theatre. While the public are oftentimes fickle and sometimes resentful, they are never forgetful nor unappreciative, and having been given on three former visits of the Kendals a high order of performance, they have educated themselves up to a liking for that style, and will have it when obtainable. Mr. and Mrs. Kendal have an enviable reputation for the uniqueness of their stage productions. Mrs. Kendal's impersonation of the title role in "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" is spoken of as being one of the most vivid character creations that has been given on the stage in recent years.

PALACE THEATRE—It is a positive delight to witness a good clean comedy, when presented by competent performers. The management of the Palace Theatre has never spared expense, when it came to a question of satisfying its patrons, and next week will see produced in splendid shape the rollicking comedy entitled "Our Married Men." It abounds in humorous situations and laughable incidents, and it affords an excellent opportunity to introduce the different members of the company in pleasing specialties. The music is catchy, and its dialogue very witty.

"Mistakes of the Fair."

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—

Having read with interest, although not with ut some surprise, "F's" letter in your last issue entitled, "Some Mistakes of the Fair," I would like to say just a word concerning these "mistakes." The most important of them, in "F's" mind, was that of not providing easy transportation all about the grounds. Extreme points could always be reached by the Intramural, but it should have been arranged so that one could ride in going from one building to another. He suggests a moving sidewalk, either on the surface or in a trench. But think a moment. Just imagine the weird procession of settees winding, snakelike, around the corner of the Liberal Arts Building, following one another in monotonous regularity across the lagoons, down the side of the basin, and rattling noisily past the door of the Art Building. It would completely destroy the impressive grandeur of the architectural display.

He would put this sidewalk in a trench or have tunnels or pneumatic tubes. But the level of the lagoons and of the lake is only three or four feet below the surface, and a trench or tunnel would be a physical impossibility. "Or electric cars," he said. Think of them, winding and buzzing through the wooded isles or along the parkways with their irrepressible clang, clanging the magic spell of the Court of Honor. Who would not a thousand times rather walk to his destination, or, if need be, pay half a dollar and take a noiseless electric launch or a restful rolling chair? It seems to me that it would have been utterly impossible to develop a scheme of transportation from building to building which would not clash with the artistic beauty of the buildings, and I for one am thankful that the managers of the fair had a keen enough perception of the fitness of things not to attempt it.

The next great mistake, he says, was the Midway. Well, to some of us there did seem to be a certain incongruity between the Midway and the Court of Honor. But we must remember that in America the majority rules everything, even the Senate if you give it time enough, and the majority have unquestionably declared the Midway a great success. When your friends came home, what was it that they talked about, after the Court of Honor and "The Wheel"? To one who mentioned Machinery Hall or the Mining Building, ten spoke of Old Vienna or the streets of Cairo. To one who mentioned some painting a dozen would ask you if you remembered how funny the people looked who tried to ride those camels. The Midway unquestionably was looked upon as a great attraction, and, therefore, according to American standards, must be declared a success. "F" cannot understand why the Ferris Wheel was put in the Midway and not in the grounds themselves. He forgets that when the wheel was started, engineers shook their heads, thoughtful men said that no one would dare to ride in such a thing, and everybody had grave doubts of its success. He further thinks that the crowds hindered the appreciation of beautiful painting and china. Of course they did. The appreciation of real art is always hindered by a crowd. But, after all, we must be practical. The fair was not made for us any more than for any one else of the millions of people who passed through those turnstiles. And, aside from three or four special days, there was not enough at all times for every one to have ample opportunity to see anything that especially interested him, if only he wasn't in a hurry.

The great fair as it fades into the past has become one of our ideals and we cannot admit that our ideals are not perfect. We are few and unsatisfactory enough in these times of ours with all their hurry and worry, and we must cling to this one tenaciously as perfection itself when we saw it that last evening; behind us the peristyle, glistening with electric lights; the long array of buildings stretching away on either side; across the basin the graceful outline of the great dome, clear cut against the sky; the electric fountains constantly varying their exquisite blending of colors; and from yonder gondola a weird, foreign melody vibrating faintly across the water.

Associated Charities Resolutions.
N. E. Conference of Charities and Correction. At the final meeting of the local committee the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved:—that the thanks of the local committee of arrangements for the Conference of Charities and Correction, be and hereby are tendered to the standing committee of the Channing church, for their kind courtesy in allowing the use of the church for the meetings of the Conference.

The several rooms were admirably adapted to the use of the work, and the cordial co-operation of the pastor and the committee was most helpful.

That the thanks of the local committee be and hereby are tendered to Miss Margaret C. Worcester and Mrs. Charles A. Drew, to the ladies associated with them on the reception committee, and to the young ladies of Watertown and Newton, who so cordially and gracefully performed the duties of ushers and waiters at the reception.

That the members of the local committee desire also to express their thanks to those who contributed financially to the necessary expenses of the convention.

It gives pleasure to be able to state that the officers and members of the executive committee, and the delegates present at the conference, gave warm expression to their appreciation of the hospitality of the citizens of Newton and Watertown.

"A chemical success and medical triumph," so speaks an eminent physician in reference to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral; and the eulogy was none too strong. No other medicine is so safe and efficacious in all diseases of the throat and lungs.

Some Observations.

(From Jack.)

There are things about the feminine character which completely baffle my somewhat frivolous intellect.

They are only little things, but they are more puzzling to me than the doctrine of supralapsarian preterition, or the theory of pre-Adamite existence.

For instance: Why does a girl always want a glass of ice water at the most inconvenient times and places?

Why does she want the nearest window open if it is closed, and closed if it is open?

Why does she keep you waiting three-quarters of an hour in the parlor, and then put on her gloves in the street?

Why does she go to the dance with a man she doesn't care for, and rely on shaking him after she gets there? Why doesn't she ever choose the right man for her escort?

Why does she never discover that a man is "perfectly lovely" until he has married some other girl?

Why does she never want to walk on the turf until she sees the sign "Keep off the Grass"? And why does the warning, "Do Not Pick the Flowers," immediately start her to gathering a bouquet?

Why does she always admire the man you particularly loathe?

Why does she act babyishly silly when you want her to be practical, but sternly practical at times when you could not only pardon, but gladly welcome a little exhibition of fond foolishness on her part?

Why does she select the most crowded car on an elevated train?

Why does she insist on taking the elevated if you are going ten blocks with her, and the horse cars if you are going to Harlem?

Why does she refuse your invitation to an after-theatre supper when you are flush, and accept with alacrity when you are "reduced to $3.00"?

Why does she come and sit all over you in the horse car if she doesn't know you, and then insist in keeping three feet away from you on the parlor sofa after you become acquainted?

These problems are, as I have said before, too much for me. Perhaps they have all been thought out by some eminent philosopher, but I dub it.

I believe they form a valuable addition to the doctrine of the Unknown as elucidated by Mr. Herbert Spencer.

DANGERS OF THE DEEP.

Since man first dared the perils of "the sounding sea," its name has ever been associated with danger, exposure, suffering and death. Every seaboar town has some thrilling story to relate of the experience of some one of its sea-faring people. The following comes from Islesboro and is related by Post Master Rodere M. Pendleton. "Six years ago I was following the sea as an able seaman, I was then rugged and in perfect health. A heavy sea boarded us, I was beaten back and forth upon the deck and was so badly injured that I was unfit for duty. For the remainder of the voyage I suffered from the bruises and injuries received far beyond my gift of language to express. I lived in the hope, that each following day would find myself improved, but my suffering kept full pace with time, each breath and every moment added to my pain, until to live was torture. When I arrived in port I consulted a physician who informed me that I was suffering from indigestion, by the shock to my nervous system, and promised a speedy cure. He recommended absolute rest and directed me to pay especial attention to my diet. Time passed on and my suffering continued almost unabated. My starvation treatment added to the pain and of course rendered me very weak and emaciated. My only rest was obtained by the use of narcotics. At this time a friend advised me to try Rodol's New Medical Discovery. I took a bottle and to my very great joy and surprise found my first relief. I am now a new man "back again" from a life of torture to one of health, rest and comfort. I gladly and with good reason sound the praise of the Rodol's Medicine which has produced this great change. I am able to eat any thing, can work steadily, sleep well and enjoy the comforts of life. My weight has increased twenty-three pounds. To suffering humanity I wish to say, do not consider this a quack medicine, but try it as I have and you will rejoice that some mind gave birth to these remedies. Rodol's remedies are for sale by Geo. Ingraham, West Newton; John E. Paine, Newtonville, Mass.

An Old Friend.

In a series of interviews with members of the last Congress, 31 out of 43 remarked that they were readers of The Youth's Companion. For definite and trustworthy information on the questions of the day it is really unique, while the high character of its stories, the wide fields covered by its special articles, and its contributions from the most famous writers in Europe and America, are well known.

Its program for next year seems brighter than ever. Some of the important stories are: "The Deserter," by Harold Frederic; a Tale of the Great Mutiny in India, by Sara Jeannette Duncan; several Romances of the Sea, by W. Clark Russell; Tales of the War, and of the Frontier in Early Days, by Henry M. Stanley; contributes two thrilling narratives from Darkest Africa, and Archibald Forbes writes of his "Closest Call," Naval Battles are described by Admirals, and Military Life by Generals. Then there are articles on Choosing an Occupation, Boys Who Should Not Go to College, Physical Training, Recreations of all kinds, and many other practical subjects.

Another pleasant feature is the charming picture of a young lady of colonial times, "Sweet Charity," reproduced in colors from a painting by Ferris, which is presented to all subscribers who send their $1.75 for a new subscription or a renewal.

"Nothing succeeds like success," and nothing will more quickly insure success than true merit. For fifty years, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has maintained its popularity as the superior blood purifier. It stands up to its own merits and never fails to give satisfaction.

NEWTON CENTRE.

—Ivers & Pond pianos, Farley, Newton.
—Mr. S. V. A. Hunter and son, Clinton, have returned from Chicago.
—Mr. W. H. Palmer has moved from Ripley to Parker street.
—And Dame Rumor was right. The whereabouts of the person referred to is still a mystery.
—There are letters at the postoffice for J.
W. Eldridge, James Hill, Annie McDonald, Clarence Rice.
—Mr. H. N. Clarke and family have moved and are occupying Mr. Edwards's house on Gibbs street.
—A. D. Mills intends opening a branch barber shop at Newton Highlands occupying one half of the old postoffice store.
—Rev. Dr. Quint will preach at the First Congregational church next Sunday morning.
—Harry Fowler, who has been with
Geo. F. Richardson for a year, has gone to Rosindale to accept a situation.
—John Ragan of Johnsonville has taken a situation with Geo. F. Richardson.
—Mrs. T. G. Woodman of Cypress street has returned from visiting friends in Somerville.
—A new orchestra has been formed under the direction of Mr. W. A. Church.
There are eleven pieces, and the music rehearsed is of a high order.
—Welles Polly has bought Mr. Woodbridge's poultry and is going into the hen business in a moderate way on Lyman street. Mr. Geo. F. Richardson has engaged in advance all his eggs until next April.
—Roberts Harper of London, England,
is to give his superbly illustrated lecture,
"Around the World in a Man-of-War," at Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands, Tuesday
evening, Nov. 14. Don't miss it!

—Miss Stark of New Hampshire, a descendant of General Stark who commanded the American forces at the Battle of Bennington, is stopping a few weeks here.
—The second term of the Newton Centre kindergarten will commence November 13 1893, Beacon street, opposite Mason school.
Grace C. Staniford, successor to Miss Mary Sylvester.
—Mr. Valentine Haffermehl, the painter,
has been very busy with fall work and Mr.
Wm. G. Levi's house on Elgin street has just been improved by a coat of new paint.
—The service of the electric road, since their recent change in running time, has received unmeasured censure from our most prominent citizens, and culminated in an order presented to the aldermen Tuesday evening by Alderman Thompson.
—Dr. Tilton, the physician, who locates here as successor to the late Dr. Dodge, moved into his new house on Centre street Wednesday.
—The sewer connections at White's block have been put in this week, and with the accompanying sanitary improvements will be an additional advantage to the tenants of the building.
—Mr. W. E. Webster, Beacon street, entertained the Neighbors Club at dinner
Monday evening, nearly all the members being present. A very enjoyable evening was spent.
—Rev. R. Montague preached his first sermon Sunday morning as pastor of the Baptist society, a large congregation assembling to hear him. The right hand of fellowship was extended by Rev. Dr.
Alvah Hovey. In the evening the pastor spoke very interestingly on the subject,
"Lessons from the World's Fair."

—The old building near the postoffice has been sold and will be moved at once.
Workmen are busy on the cellar for the temporary location of the latter building.
—The highway department have been at work on Gibbs street for a week or more,
and when work is finished the street will be in excellent condition. The street had previously been in very bad condition for travel, and attention was called to it in this column some weeks ago, with this desirable result.
—Mr. Eugene Clifford and Miss Mary Sullivan were married at the Church of the Sacred Heart Wednesday evening by Rev.
D. J. Wholey. They will reside on Walnut street.
—Miss Frances Campbell Sparhawk, the friend and protégé of Whittier, has written a charming story, called "A Wedding Tangle." Miss Sparhawk's devoted work for the Indian cause has won her many friends, who are interested in all that she does.
—Mr. Horace Cousins and family expect to leave town this month for their home on the Pacific coast where we understand they may be absent for a year or longer.
—Parties are considering the feasibility of inaugurating a series of socials and dances in the Associates' small hall. It is proposed to have a teacher occupy the early part of the evening in instruction, following this with a social dance.
—The first reception given Wednesday afternoon and evening by Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Kirtland (nee Kellet) at their pleasant residence on Parker street was a very successful affair, and many guests filled the parlors and reception room during the hours. Many from out of town attended.
—A Chautauqua Circle has been formed and it is thought some others may like to join. Any persons over eighteen years of age, who are interested and would like to belong to such a society, are cordially invited to meet in the chapel of the Congregational church, Monday evening, November 13th, at 7:45 p. m.
—The citizens of this place will be pleased at the contemplated action of the city council in requiring the electric railway to run its cars so as to accommodate its patrons here. Alderman Roffe expressed very clearly the feeling of the community in this regard and as the matter of investigation has been placed in his hands, citizens can be assured of a permanent settlement of the matter for their accommodation.
The funeral of John Hennessey took place Tuesday morning at the Church of Our Lady, Newton. Rev. Father Dolan officiated and a large number of friends attended the services. The deceased had been for 33 years employed as coachman of the Gardner Colby estate. He was faithful and conscientious in the performance of duties, winning the esteem of his employer, and retaining many firm friends.
He leaves four children. The Forrester and the Coachman's Association attended the funeral in a body. The interment was at Holyhood cemetery.
—An important real estate deal has been consummated this week in the purchase by Mr. Melvin Bray of the well known Woodbridge estate on Beacon street. It is an advantageous move on the part of Mr.
Bray, as it not only completes the lines of his lot which faces Union and Beacon streets and Institution avenue, but will also afford him an opportunity to locate the boilers and engine to be used in connection with his new block. This will avoid the high insurance rates which would necessarily be charged if the boilers were placed in the block. The boiler house, it is understood, will be erected on the present site of the stable. The price paid is stated to be about $7000. Mr. J. M.

Woodbridge has resided in this house for over a quarter of a century and its removal will break in upon many pleasant memories of the place which has been home so many years, but the present and contemplated business surroundings does not increase the desirability of the location
as a place of residence.

—Rev. J. J. Peck of Dunbarton, Vt., was here a few hours this week.
—Some of the members of Highland Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, visited the lodge at Natick last evening.
—Robert Cook of Dorchester is visiting his son, William Cook, who is attending the Newton Theological Institution.

—Alvin Roach furnished a very beautiful and excellent supper to a number of his friends because of the small vote given for John E. Russell.
—The ladies of Trinity church will hold a fair in Associates' small hall, Tuesday,
Nov. 14th, from 3 until 10 o'clock p. m.
Supper will be served at 6:30. Admission for adults 15 cents, children 10 cents.

—The old house, not very ornamental, that has occupied the space between the post-office and Associates' Hall, has been started for Parker street, and will be located at the foot of Oak Hill.
—Mr. Winthrop Thayer, manager of the Babcock & Wilcox Co. water tube and steam boilers, 8 Oliver street, Boston, has rented Mr. C. S. Davis' House on Beacon street next east of Mr. W. E. Webster.

—One of Contractor Frost's teams met with an accident Saturday in coming down Beacon street hill. The spreader broke, letting the heavy team down on the horses.
They cleared themselves and got out some but no serious damage was done.
—The Sunday evening services at the Methodist church are attracting large numbers of people. The demand for seats is so great that the vestry has been thrown open to accommodate all who come. Mr.
Hughes is preaching forceful, helpful and practical sermons and he is listened to with great interest. Solos are given each evening by some singer of local note and add very much to the service. Next Sunday Master Franklin Wood of the Highlands, who has a wonderful soprano voice, will sing.

Frank W. Brown, Miss M. J. F. Jones, Miss Jennie Ford, Mary Foley, Mrs. McKenna, Miss M. E. Wheatley.
—The Prayer Meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. on Tuesday evening, will be held by the pastor, Rev. C. E. Havens. All are cordially invited to attend.

—The Newton Highlands Shakespeare club will hold their next meeting Nov. 18, with Mrs. Durgin, Hyde street.
—Next Sunday, services at St. Paul's will be as follows: Holy Communion, 9:45;
morning prayer and sermon, 10:45; Sunday school, 12:15; evening prayer and address, 7.
—A branch of the Girls' Friendly Society has been formed in St. Paul's parish. Miss Florence P. Jones is secretary.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's parish met last Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. L. P. Leonard, Standish street.
—Roberts Harper of London, England,
is to give his superbly illustrated lecture,
"Around the World in a Man-of-War," at Lincoln Hall, Tuesday evening, Nov. 14.
Don't miss it!

—On Wednesday of this week the Boys' club met, and after adjournment enjoyed a spelling match in which Master Hugh Davis won first prize and Master Arthur Logan, the junior prize.
—On the voting list at the election on Tuesday, Ward Five, Precinct Two, there were three hundred and thirty six names, of which number two hundred and ninety three voted. At the presidential election last year, there were three hundred and six votes.
—Mr. E. services as usual next Sunday at 6:15. The pastor will begin a series of Sunday evening sermons on Practical Christianity. Mr. Herbert Williams will lead the music with his cornet. All invited.
—Last Friday the people of St. Paul's church met by invitation at the house of Amelia Bacall, Forest street, and spent an evening together in hearty sociality. It will be remembered as a most pleasant beginning of this winter's socials.

—Rev. Chas. E. Havens, the new pastor of the Congregational church, conducted the services last Sunday, and was greeted by a large congregation both morning and evening, and also by a very large attendance of members of the church at the communion service in the afternoon. Coming from a successful pastorate of eight years at West Lebanon, N. H., and with the rich experience of twelve years in the ministry, he enters upon his work here with bright prospects of success and the church is looking forward with much of encouragement and hope to a prosperous future.

visiting Mr. Alfred Barton in Natick, R. I.
—Mr. Joseph Stead has returned from Chicago.
—There are letters in the post office for John Kenworthy, James Loxton and Andy McGuire.
—Hagerty Bros. have put up two large handsome business signs, the work of our fellow citizen, W. J. Keefe.

—One man was heard to say this week,
that he was out with a gun Wednesday evening, and that he shot a Democrat, but did not succeed.
—Roberts Harper of London, England is to give his superbly illustrated lecture,

"Around the World in a Man-of-War," at Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands, Tuesday
evening, Nov. 14. Don't miss it!

—Thomas Shooker, Elliot street, is visiting Mr. James Brown at Sherburn farm, Dover.

—The parish of St. Mary's church are arranging an interesting event in the shape of a Thanksgiving party to be held on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 30.

—Miss Libbie Kompton entertained the members of the Clover Club with a candy party on Monday evening, a thoroughly good time being enjoyed.

—The alarm from box 615 Monday which rang in at 3:14, was for a fire in the woods back of Ex Alderman Geo. Pettie's residence. It was easily extinguished.

—The main belt, furnishing power to Mr. Tracy's department at the Pettie Ma-consisting of Messrs. Slocum, Rosecrans, Minard and Walther and their selections were well received. Miss Westwood of Taunton in her readings was unusually good and the singing of Miss Barden, and instrumental selections by Miss Trefethen, also of Taunton, added much to the pleasure of the entertainment. A gentleman from Taunton sang very acceptably, and the entertainment as a whole was greatly appreciated. The entertainment was arranged by Mr. White and Mr. Fred Cobb of the entertainment committee. In the conclusion of the program the usual social features were enjoyed.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

THE APPROPRIATION BUDGET FOR 1894 CONSIDERED—SMALL GRIST OF ROUTINE BUSINESS.

The common council met Monday evening with President Weed in the chair and Councilman Turner absent.

At 7:45 o'clock several hearings were opened in concurrence, no remonstrance being presented in any case except that of taking private land for sewer purposes near Hunnewell terrace.

Dr. Bartlett appeared as representing the estate of Mrs. Bartlett. He objected to the sewer because he considered the proposed location unnecessary. A man-hole was to be put in where they were about to erect a new house and it was not desirable to have a sewer man-hole under the front steps. He wished his protest to go on file and should expect the city to properly reimburse the estate if the location was persisted in.

The hearings were closed. The order amending the ordinance relating to buildings, which came down for concurrent action was interrupted by Councilman Degen, who wished to replace the words "board of aldermen" with "city council." He said the aldermen had heretofore been proverbial for their modesty, and he could not account for their oversight in this matter. Another slight change was made, and the order was passed.

DALBY STREET.

The order authorizing sewer construction in Dalby and other streets was submitted for action.

Councilman Briston moved to amend the order by striking out "Dalby street" as he had an order to present later. The amendment was carried.

NEW BUSINESS.

A petition from Frank Edmonds et al for two street lights in Newbury street was referred.

A petition from Horace Cousens for concrete sidewalk on Station street was referred.

A petition from Lee et al to lay out a street to be known as Suffolk road between Hammond and Kingsbury streets was referred.

Wm. Byers et al petitioned for main drain and sewer in Berwick road and Moreland avenue.

Councilman Briston presented a petition from J. A. Nevins and 17 others for the laying out, grading and acceptance of Dalby street. If the city would consent to this, their objections to a sewer in that street would be withdrawn. Referred to highway committee.

H. D. Ward et al petitioned for two street lights on Dudley street. He had petitioned several times without success, but declared his intention of persevering until the lights were forthcoming. Referred.

A petition for one street light on Lexington street was referred.

H. F. Goodnow petitioned for reduction of sewer assessment and extension of time in which to pay the same. Referred.

Mary McLellan, through her attorney, A. S. Hudson, presented a claim for damages received on Lexington, corner of Staniford street. Referred.

Councilman Briston presented a report showing that the cost for connecting the Adams school house with the sewer, would cost $1,000. Accepted.

Councilman Knapp for the joint standing committee on finance submitted an estimate of the receipts and the sums required to meet the expenses of the next financial year. Accepted.

AWARD CHANGED.

Councilman Degen moved to take from the table the order relative to laying out the second section of the boulevard and awarding damages on same. Favorable action was taken.

Councilman Parker asked to have the order read and then said there were two parcels of land, where he wished to suggest a change in the awards.

The committee had looked into the matter very carefully and decided to place awards for damages on the estates of Sarah J. Rand and C. M. Ransom at $5000 each.

Councilman Staples asked what the original awards were?

Councilman Parker said the first award on the Rand estate was $2004 and on the Ransom estate $4857. Mr. Rand had a claim against the city of between $2000 and $3000 for sewer crossing his land, which would change the apparent large increase in award.

The order passed as amended.

DOING BOARD OF HEALTH WORK.

An order appropriating $1000 for connecting the Adams school house with the sewer was presented by Councilman Briston.

Councilman Greene spoke of the condition of the school house, as he had found it by investigation reviewing the ground as previously covered by him and chronicled in the Graphic. He also presented letters from Dr. D. W. Stearns and Dr. D. E. Baker urging prompt action in the interests of health and safety.

Councilman Staples moved to refer the matter to the board of health as properly belonging to them. He thought it was not so much a question of necessity as under whose authority it should be done. He thought it was a strong board of health for the city of Newton organized for just this purpose, if they have to refer such questions back to the city council.

Councilman Greene said it had been considered by them and they had said all the school houses were to be connected with the sewer sometime.

The councilman said "sometime" was too indefinite a quantity for a matter as grave as that under discussion. They had been urged to action a second time, but to no purpose. A number of children had already been taken out of the Adams school.

Councilman Hatch said the sewer had been laid through Adams street for the express purpose of getting the school house connected as soon as possible. The petition of citizens demanded action.

Councilman Briston said the sewer had stopped before reaching the school. Councilman Tolman said the sewer would be pushed if more money could be had.

The order passed. An order appropriating $275 for clerical assistance in examining the books, and vouchers of the city treasurer was passed.

The sum of $2000 was transferred from the street light to the miscellaneous appropriation.

EXPENSES IN 1894.

Councilman Knapp moved to go into a committee of the whole and considered the appropriation budget, and Councilman Tolman was appointed chairman by President Weed.

A recess was declared and the annual budget lunch prepared by Caterer Marshall was enjoyed.

ARMORY EXPENSES.

Upon reassembling, the list was gone through and those items it was desired to discuss were checked.

The first item considered was armory expenses $1000. A brief discussion resulted in no change being made.

ASSESSORS' DEPARTMENT.

The item of $2000 for office expenses in the assessors' department was questioned. It had been shown by Clerk Miner that the estimate of $2000 as submitted to the finance committee would in all probability be necessary for the increasing expense of the department. The figures were finally left at $2000.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The board of health appropriation had been increased from $7000 last year to $19,400.

Dr. Curtis of the board explained that the house offal contract had to be doubled, making $2800; the agent's salary had been estimated at $1800 instead of $1250, as the work of the office was very hard and an efficient man could not be procured for less money. Two items of $5500 for removal of ashes and $2000 for new teams were transferred from the highway committee appropriation in anticipation that the work might devolve on the health department next year. Clerical assistance was estimated at $500.

CITY ENGINEER'S DEPARTMENT.

Councilman Knapp said the increase from $884 to $800 in the city engineer's department was caused by the addition of one new man.

Councilman Staples thought the expenses of that department should be decreasing rather than on the increase. No change was made in the item.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Councilman Bennett said $1000 for incidentals in the fire department was not sufficient, and the $1500 first recommended was not as much as was absolutely necessary. Last year the $1000 appropriated was used up in a few months.

The appropriation stood at $1000. Relative to the $950 for two new hose wagons, Councilman Parker said a change from the heavy reels to wagons was needed for more efficient service, and he thought the city could afford to purchase two a year.

A vote resulted in a compromise on one hose wagon at $475.

HIGHWAY; TRIMMING TREES.

Councilman Briston in explanation of the $800 appropriated for trimming trees, argued it was money well expended, utilizing the street lighting system to better advantage and preventing accidents, and being an aid to more efficient police protection.

The figure was unchanged.

WIDENING, RECONSTRUCTION, ETC.

Councilman Knapp explained that the committee considered it advisable in the widening, reconstruction and improvement of highways' item, to include them in a 10 year's note, with the exception of the proposed drain on Centre, from Church to Elbridge streets. In the latter case the same disposal should be made and the work carried on providing the abutments would pay 15 per cent. of the cost or about $2500. The whole would make a 10 years' note of $71,156.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Councilman Greene with his usual love for conquest challenged the appropriation of $3600 for four additional police officers, recommended by the several committees, but omitted from the figures of the finance committee.

The popular sentiment favored more police, but the question of keeping the total appropriation down actuated the finance committee in cancelling this item.

After some spirited discussion City Marshall Richardson was called, and in answer to queries said 19 men covered the city nights, from 6 p. m. to 3 a. m. o'clock. After that hour only four men were on in the whole city. If the men were taxed longer hours the efficiency of the force the first half of the night, when most needed, would be decreased.

All professionals, he continued, do their work before nine o'clock, when the family is busy in some other part of the house. The force is now as effective as it can be with the men employed. The proper system was to have three reliefs which would necessitate 25 more men.

Four new men would help to cover up the city after three o'clock. Only the immediate business centres and Newton Centre are now covered after that hour.

Mounted officers would be better in some of the outlying districts, but the extra expense of about $300 each, yearly, besides equipment, was an objection, also the noise made. Oak Hill is wholly unprotected, and complaints from that section are received very often, and two petitions requesting protection have been sent to the aldermen this year.

A man would be put there at once should more be added to the force. There is plenty of use for officers. There are four and one half hours each day when many thickly populated sections are entirely without protection. Two day men go on at 7:30 a. m.

Councilman Greene moved that four officers be added. The motion was lost, seven to six. A second motion to add two officers was carried.

STREET LIGHT DEPARTMENT.

President Weed suggested that the $1800 increase here, be made up from the fuel and street light appropriation. A vigorous protest was made to this action by Councilman Greene, but Councilman Degen's motion to reduce the appropriation from $25,000 to $23,000, an even $2000, was carried.

A long discussion followed on the Centre street drain, but resulted in no change.

The appropriation of $5000 for the Newton Cottage Hospital, an increase over this year of $2000, was discussed at some length, but no change in the amount was made.

The committee of the whole was dissolved and Chairman Tolman reported a net increase of $275 over the figures submitted by the finance committee, $772,317.50.

The changes made in appropriations were as follows: One new hose wagon, $475; four additional police officers, $3600; changed to two officers, $1800; street light department, $25,000, reduced to $23,000; total appropriation, 1893, $737,312.50; recommended by several committees, $840,748.00; recommended by finance committees, $772,317.50; adopted by common council, $772,317.50. An order was passed appropriating the sum of $772,317.50 for city expenses in 1894.

An order adopting the estimated receipts for 1894 in the sum of $193,850 was passed.

The total figures adopted by the common council were an increase over last year's budget of $35,280.

An order establishing interest charged on unpaid taxes for 1893 was passed. The council adjourned at 11:58 p. m. o'clock to Monday, Nov. 27.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

The aldermen met Tuesday evening in special session to officially declare the returns of the state election.

The mayor presided and Alderman Rumery, Hunt, Plummer, Thompson, Ruffe and Bothfield were present.

The records of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Papers came up for concurrent action from the lower branch.

The first amendment to the building ordinance was adopted in concurrence but in the second amendment, substituting "city council" for "board of aldermen" they refused to concur. Alderman Bothfield explaining that the section changed was in the province of the aldermen alone.

The ordinance was then passed to be enrolled.

TABLED UNTIL MONDAY.

A recommendation from the common council to place the $71,156 estimated for widening reconstruction and improvement of highways in a ten years note was tabled for action until Monday, Nov. 20, on motion of Alderman Bothfield.

An order appropriating $772,317.50 for city expenses in 1894 was tabled until the next meeting by Alderman Hunt.

PETITIONS.

Frank Ellis notified the board of intention to build a dwelling house 30x26 feet, corner of Crescent and Shaw streets, Ward Three.

L. A. Ross notified the board of intention to build house 20x32 feet on Hyde street, Ward Five.

C. W. Hardy, Jr., gave notification of intention to build house, 38x38 feet on Edinboro street, Ward Two.

Upon motion of Alderman Ruffe, license was granted to move buildings as follows: John Johnson from Beacon to Station street; Thomas Coppinger from Centre to Boylston street, also house from Centre to Parker street.

C. E. Rund gave notice of intention to build addition to stable, 16x16 feet on Clark street, Ward Six.

Winthrop Vaughn gave notice of intention to build dwelling house on Hunnewell avenue.

Henry Harris was granted license to drive one hackney carriage.

E. Cary applied for permission to build stable 25x33 feet on River street. Referred.

REFERRED TO CITY SOLICITOR.

A communication received by City Treasurer Kenrick was submitted by Alderman Hunt. It demanded the return of certain building accounts, levied as sewer assessments. Mary A. Potter, $1262.31; Emily Potter, $22.04; Emily Potter, $266.54; Mary H. Potter heirs, $282.82. The communication was referred to the city solicitor.

ACCOMMODATION DESIRED.

Alderman Ruffe presented an order granting the N. & B. street railway additional location of 60 feet on Beacon street with the usual restrictions.

Alderman Thompson objected to any additional locations being granted the company until the street cars to better accommodate the public.

Alderman Ruffe said no one was better aware of the execrable service rendered the public than the citizens of Newton Centre, but this location was desired by the N. C. Improvement Association, originating with them; and would be a decided accommodation.

Alderman Thompson withdrew his objections, in favor of public accommodation and the order passed.

The mayor was authorized to lease a certain lot of land to P. McGrath.

The order of the $4000 appropriation for the sinking fund on sewer bonds was rescinded and a substitute order introduced authorizing the city treasurer to pay the sinking fund commission the sum of $7000. This course was allowed by the change in sewer assessments.

An order to connect concrete sidewalk on Station street and cross walk on Hunnewell avenue, corner of Hunnewell terrace, was passed.

An order was passed appropriating $34,700 for department expenses in December.

ABATED ASSESSMENTS.

An order changing the sewer assessment of Horace Cousens on Glen avenue, Warren and Station streets from $942.21 to $881.12 on consideration of a street was decided to the city, was passed.

Alderman Ruffe presented a petition from the electrical department of the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Co., for locating poles on these streets: Chapel, Watertown, Pearl, Walnut, Crescent, Melrose, North, Bennington, Reservoir, Rice, Austin, Wyman, Beacon, Boylston, Cook, Franklin, D. B. Hall, California, Crystal and Lawrence, Sharon and Crescent avenues. A hearing was granted for Tuesday, Dec. 5, at 7:30 o'clock.

The election returns were then officially declared.

A petition remonstrating against the granting of a sixth class liquor license to W. H. Kertavan & Co., was received from Perseverance Lodge 22, I. O. G. T., at Upper Falls. Referred.

An order passed granting the N. & B. street railway company a hearing on the Woodward street location for Tuesday, Dec. 5, at 8 o'clock. The aldermen then adjourned.

—The next meeting of the Monday Club will be with Mrs. Estabrook.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKenize have an addition to their home by the birth of a daughter.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. Whight have as their guest her cousin, Miss Gertrude Paul, of Eaton Centre, N. H.

—The Boys' Club will meet on Tuesday next. A debate will follow the usual exercises.

—Mr. S. W. Jones has returned from his stay at Chicago after an absence of four weeks.

—The St. Paul's Branch of the Girls' Friendly Society meet on Thursday evening. The prospects of strength and usefulness are very promising.

—Confirmation lectures are given by the rector of St. Paul's church on Sundays at 3 p. m. in the vestry room.

—St. Paul's church will observe its seventh anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 26th, at the evening services. Choirmaster Skelton will arrange a special musical program for the occasion.

—Ground was broken for the Methodist church to be erected on the lot at the junction of Erie avenue and Hartford street, and the corner stone will be laid in about three weeks.

—Mr. and Mrs. George M. Stone of Walnut street celebrated their wedding anniversary on Monday, at which a large number of relatives and friends were present.

—Mrs. S. A. Thorpe and two young daughters have moved here from Dorchester and have taken one of Mrs. Holmes' houses on Columbus street.

—Mr. G. V. Stone of Duncklee street, who has been ill for a few days by what is termed fever, now has pneumonia and is very ill.

—The prayer meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. will be held as usual on Tuesday evening at 7:30. Topic, "The Importance of Obedience." All are cordially invited.

—Next Sunday services at St. Paul's will be as follows: Holy Communion 9:45 a. m. Morning prayer and sermon 10:45 a. m. Sunday school 12:15 p. m. Evening prayer and address 7 p. m.

—Mrs. Piny Nickerson gave a 5 o'clock tea on Wednesday and a very large company were present from the Newtons and from Boston.

—Rev. C. E. Havens held a reception at the Congregational chapel on Thursday evening at which all the members of the church and congregation, over sixteen years of age, were invited. A large number were present. Refreshments were served and it was eminently a social occasion.

—The Ladies' Epworth Reading Circle met last week at Mrs. Eaton's and was addressed by Mrs. McAllister of India, who talked in a most interesting way of many novel and unique features of East Indian life and thought. The next meeting will be held next week, Friday, with Mrs. Rowe on Terrace avenue.

—M. E. services next Sunday at 10:45 and 7 o'clock. Epworth League at 6:15. In the evening the pastor will preach on the subject, "Why should I become a Christian?" this being the second in a series of Sunday evening talks on Practical Christianity, the first being last week on "What is it to be a Christian?" The music last week was led by an orchestra of cornet, flute and violin and assisted by a chorus choir of young ladies and gentlemen.

—At the Republican caucus held at Stevens Hall on Tuesday evening, Mr. A. Ross of the Highlands and Mr. M. H. Coffin, a foreman at the Pettie Machine Works, Upper Falls, received the nomination for the common council. The delegates chosen to attend the convention at the City Hall are understood to be in favor of Mr. C. B. McGee of Waban for alderman.

—One of the special attractions in the entertainment given by the Highlands Club, Nov. 9th, was the Ampleforth, Mandolin and Guitar Club of Boston which rendered some of the finest selections on these instruments ever given in this place. It is to be hoped that the club will again favor the people of Newton Highlands and vicinity with their playing.

—Mr. J. W. Foster, the purchaser of the Pierce land, has had the same laid out into house lots with two streets running from Centre to Boylston street, the names of which on the plan are Pierce street and Boylston road. Two lots have been sold fronting on Centre street to Mr. McAdams, of the firm of Wm. McAdams & Co., stationery on State street, Boston, and we hear that he will soon have a fine house built for his own occupancy.

Highland Club.

The bowling tournament has commenced and great interest is being shown by members of the different teams. The tournament is under the charge of Messrs. Luitwiler and Hyde, committee on bowling, and they have picked out teams as evenly matched as possible. There are five teams in the field, each team composed of one man from each class, of which there are five. Prizes are to be given to the best team and to the highest man in each class.

Following is the list of teams:

Team One. J. F. Heckman, W. W. Heckman, E. R. Moore, G. E. Kellogg, D. Bates, C. S. Luitwiler, G. W. Watson, C. F. Johnson.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Druggist Sherman N. Sears has added to his well equipped business a hot soda apparatus.

—Rev. W. W. Ramsay, D. D., lectures at the Methodist church next Monday evening, subject, "Wonders of the sky." The lectures are meeting with good attendance.

—St. John's band furnished music at the Republican jollification meeting of Wellesley citizens at Town Hall, Tuesday evening.

—Mrs. Leonard Hurd is disposing of the greater part of her household goods, preparing to change her residence. Many old acquaintances regret her departure from among them, which is caused by the sad affliction of death.

—Dr. F. W. Freeman last week purchased one of the three Collins houses situated on corner of Washington and Wales street.

—A number of operatives at the Dudley mills are out this week by the closing of part of the carding and spinning departments. The firm expect to resume running in full, as soon as possible.

—Mr. G. A. P. Colwell of Wellesley Hills is acting as lay-reader in St. Mary's during the illness of the rector.

—Rev. H. U. Monroe is rapidly recovering from his recent operation under the care of Dr. Sherman. He will resume pastoral duties in about a week.

—There will be an interesting Harvest Festival held by the King's Daughters, in St. Mary's Parish House, Tuesday evening, Nov. 21. The young people are arranging for a pleasant evening and their object is to raise funds for their charity work during the winter.

—The Epworth League held its regular monthly social and business meeting on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. G. A. Hurd on Grove street. A discussion on the relative merits of corn and the golden rod as a national flower formed a part of the entertainment for the evening.

—The second lecture in the course now being given at the M. E. church, was delivered on Monday evening last by Rev. W. T. Perrin of South Boston, on the subject "Novelties in Foreign Travel." The lecture was well illustrated with many fine and interesting views through the aid of a stereopticon and was listened to with pleasure and interest by both young and old.

—On Thursday evening, Nov. 9, the friends and neighbors gave a surprise party to Miss Gertrude Hunter at her home on Grove street, it being her twenty-first birthday. There were about forty friends and neighbors, some coming from South Framingham, West Newton and Cambridgeport. Her father gave her a gold watch and her friends presented her with a handsome cabinet album. A very pleasant evening was spent in games, and music by some of the friends. Ice cream and cake were served.

—The fair opened at St. John's church, Monday evening, to continue for three weeks, promises a success. The attendance has been large and no doubt will continue so, on account of the many attractions offered. The tables, 13 in number, are very prettily arranged and decorated, the latter being the work of two Boston artists in this line. An orchestra of eleven pieces furnishes music for dancing in a huge tent. Different forms of athletic sports are also carried on, all being well patronized. The Fair Bulletin, a 12 page sheet, was thoroughly circulated about this vicinity Thursday. It has many features and shows much labor in the short time of its make-up.

WABAN.

—Mrs. Wm. F. Gould is quite ill this week.

—Waban promises to have more social life this winter than ever before.

—Mrs. Whitman will meet the "Readers Club" at Mrs. L. K. Harlow's home Tuesday, Nov. 21. All desiring to join the club are requested to be present at this meeting.

—Rev. Mr. Holman of Boston conducted the services here last Sunday.

—Mrs. M. A. Dresser goes to Portland this week.

—Mr. and Mrs. James E. Morse have gone on a six weeks trip to the West.

—Mr. Blatchford has closed his summer home on Beacon street and has returned to his Newbury street home.

—Mr. Robert Batchelder spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Harlow.

—Mr. Babcock and family, who have been with Mrs. Shepley during the summer, have returned to the city.

—While Mrs. Charles Hale of Wellesley Hills, formerly of Waban, was driving through here on Sunday her horse was taken with blind staggers. Mrs. Hale had presence of mind enough to remove the horse from the carriage, and with the assistance of passengers, succeeded in relieving the animal. It was taken to the stable of Mr. W. H. Gould where it remained until it had sufficiently recovered to be ridden back to Wellesley. Mrs. Hale, by the aid of another horse, succeeded in reaching home in safety.

—A side walk is being built by the city authorities on Chestnut street from the railroad bridge to Woodward street.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. B. McGee have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Brownell of Burlington, Vt., during the past week.

—Mr. F. A. Childs was nominated for common council from Ward Four at the Republican caucus last Tuesday evening.

The Boulevard Suit.

The full bench of the Supreme Court is to decide the legal right of the aldermen of Newton to lay out the new boulevard across the city.

The plan as adopted by the City Council of Newton has been brought into question.

Eben D. Jordan and others, trustees, owning land that is liable to be taken in laying out the proposed boulevard, have brought a petition for injunction to quash the proceedings of the City Council in relation to the matter.

The petition was called up in the Supreme Court Tuesday before Judge Lathrop, to have the manner of laying the case before the full court decided upon.

It was agreed on all sides that the better method was to agree upon the facts and reserve the legal questions for the higher court. This is what will be done.

The proposed thoroughfare will be 120 feet wide and 30 feet reserved in the middle for street railway service. This railway feature of the plan is one of the objections made by the petitioners.

Work on the boulevard is deferred by these proceedings, and the parties expressed a desire to have the case finally determined as soon as possible.

HOSPITAL SUNDAY.

AN APPEAL TO THE GENEROUS PEOPLE OF NEWTON.

The finance committee of the Newton Cottage Hospital ask your active cooperation in securing funds for the support of this institution.

Its work has grown so large and expenses increased so much that it is necessary to raise at least seven thousand dollars on the coming Hospital Sunday, Nov. 26th.

The extra expense of putting in a new heating plant and a new dining room will leave us at the end of the year with a deficit of about $2500.

The growth of liberality in the congregations of the various churches is shown in the following table:

Year ending Dec. 31.	Medical.	Surgical.	Obstetric.	Total.
1887	28	41	26	95
1888	33	34	17	84
1889	44	69	18	131
1890	43	72	23	138
1891	69	119	63	251
1892	91	83	88	262
Total	315	423	260	1000

Expenses. 1886, $1,880 64; (6 mos.); 1887, $5,578 70; 1888, $6,150 30; 1889, $7,000 33; 1890, $9,044 70; 1891, $12,166 59; 1892, $15,072 23.

1893. Patients admitted in 9 months up to Oct. 1st, 319, equal to 425 for the running expenses for the year. The cost for the running expenses of 1893 will exceed $20,000. It will be seen that a special effort must be made this year to provide funds for the ever growing work.

Newtons vs Hyde Parks.

The N. A. A. eleven accompanied by a large number of Newton enthusiasts, went to Hyde Park, Saturday, to play their last league game. Although defeated by the score of 14 to 7, and thereby losing their chance for the championship, the team played an excellent game, and should feel proud of the record they have made during their first year's organization and there is promise of a much stronger eleven and greater interest for the next foot ball season. Although the Hyde Park players were without exception so much heavier than Newton it was only by the hardest kind of playing that they succeeded in winning the game.

Newton started the game with a wedge, but were unable to gain, and the Hyde Park's secured the ball on downs.

House took the ball and on a fine run from the centre of the field aided by excellent interference scored a touchdown. Hyde failed on the try for goal. Score 4 to 0. Newton at once rushed the ball to within 25 yards of the Hyde Park goal and on the third down Knight went back to try for a goal from the field. He caught the ball well on the pass and without wasting any time sent it sailing between the goal posts.

It was a wonderful kick of 35 yards and was vigorously applauded by both Newton and Hyde Park supporters. Score 5 to 4 in Newton's favor.

The first half soon ended with the ball near the centre of the field. In the second half Hyde Park started in with a run and by constantly buying the centre soon scored a touchdown and kicked the goal making the score 10 to 5 in their favor.

After this Newton was unable to score although they got the ball near enough to the goal to try for another goal from the field, which, however, was stopped by one of the Hyde Park players. On a punt by Knight, Hyde Park was forced to make a safety giving Newton two points.

Just before the end of the game, Hyde Park again succeeded in forcing the ball across the line, but no goal was kicked. Score 14 to 7.

House, Brown and Hayward did the bulk of the work for Hyde Park, while for Newton, Williams played the star game, ably seconded by the rest of the eleven. Newton is the first team which has scored against Hyde Park in two years.

The teams lined up as follows:

NEWTON A. A.	POSITIONS.	HYDE PARK
Tarbell, L. E.	Center	E. E. Freeman
Dana, L. E.	Left Tackle	E. T. Hayes
Paul, J. E.	Right Tackle	E. G. Lanning
Bond, J. E.	Left Guard	E. G. Lanning
Carter, F. G.	Right Guard	E. G. Lanning
Rogers, F. E.	Left Halfback	E. G. Lanning
Williams, J. E.	Right Halfback	E. G. Lanning
Brown, J. E.	Left Fullback	E. G. Lanning
Knight, J. E.	Right Fullback	E. G. Lanning
House, J. E.	Left End	E. G. Lanning
Hayward, J. E.	Right End	E. G. Lanning

Estimates for Next Year.

The finance committee of the city council have submitted their estimates for the coming year, and also an estimate of receipts and on this basis they estimate that the tax rate next year will not be over $15.50 per thousand, as will be seen by the following table:

Recommendation of Finance Committee for 1894.

Additional appropriation Derby Committee	$72,317.50
Assessor	500.00
Additional appropriation Poor and Charity	2,000.00
Additional appropriation Thompsonville school	1,010.00
Additional appropriation heating City Hall	2,901.00
Maintenance and operation Met. Sewer (estimated)	$778,734.50
State tax (estimated)	10,000.00
County tax (estimated)	43,300.00
Overlay (estimated)	35,557.53
Total	10,000.00
Less estimated polls, 7000	$877,317.53
Less estimated receipts	$861,719.53
Total	$15,598.00

On valuation of $43,300,000, the rate would be $15.50.

THE GENERAL TICKET.

The coming nominations for the city election deserve the wisest consideration, and the nominations should be made with the sole view of getting the best men for the city, without regard to party or any thing else.

The Republicans have made their nominations for the Common Council, and it is agreed on all hands that in some cases they might have been improved upon, but perhaps the cause was more very careful, as they expected that the non-partisan movement would be a mistake, and in city politics a Republican nomination means very little, for this very reason.

There is certainly an urgent need of an honest and sincere non-partisan movement to take charge of the business of making nominations, and the movement started last night has the best wishes of the great majority of the voters.

The Republican convention has a great opportunity next Tuesday evening to retrieve the past misfortunes of the party in city campaigns, and it remains to be seen whether it will be guided by wise care for the good of the city, or by narrow party ideas. Some of the wards have followed the latter course in the past, and seem disposed to do the same this year, and if they do, they will deserve the defeat that will overtake them.

There seems to be no opposition to Mayor Fenno, who has made a careful and efficient mayor, and it looks now as if he would receive both nominations. This will be especially gratifying, as it shows that a good official is appreciated in Newton.

In regard to the aldermen there promises to be a spirited contest in some of the wards, enough to lend some interest to the election, but there is so much doubt as to what the new organization will do, that very little can be predicted. In Ward One, Alderman Emerson refuses another term, and ex-Alderman Coffin and ex-Councilman Foxhall are both spoken of.

In Ward Two Councilman Hatch's friends think that he has fairly earned a promotion, as he has done excellent service, and it is said that Alderman Ramsey will also be in the field.

In Ward Three ex-Alderman Wilson's friends have not forgiven his defeat in the landslide of last year, and they claim that he will be nominated by the Republican convention, in spite of the excellent record made by Alderman Hunt, who has been one of the best officials on the board. Mr. Wilson's friends claim that his election this year would put him in line for the mayoralty nomination next year.

In Ward Four there is some opposition to Alderman Plummer, but if any opponent has been considered his name has not yet been made public.

In Ward Five there will as usual be a hot contest, and Alderman Thompson seems likely to have ex-Councilman McGee as an opponent, which will make it interesting.

Ward Six is quiescent as yet, and there seems to be little opposition to Alderman Roffe, and in Ward Seven the opposition to Alderman Bothell is rather discouraged, on account of the latter's great popularity with the voters, who regard him as the strongest man in this year's board, and it does not seem possible to defeat him.

MUNICIPAL LIGHTING.

The Cambridge city government have just made a report on municipal lighting after an investigation for several months and the committee think they have found that the city could do the work much more cheaply than the Cambridge Electric Light Company. There are so many expenses to be taken into account in estimating the cost of street lighting, that it is hardly safe to place too much reliance on reports from places which have started their own plant, as in any business it is easy enough to figure out a profit on paper, but quite a different thing when it comes to actual work.

As the Newton city government is making an investigation, they may find the Cambridge report of value. The Cambridge committee found that there were nine different prices for arc lights burning all night, in cities and towns they visited, ranging from $126.73 to $83, the average being $111.77. For lights burning till 1 a. m., the prices ranged from $78.57 to $126.25. This is the price for 1200 candle power, but for 2000 candle power, and for lights burning every night, the prices range somewhat higher.

In twenty-three cities and towns, owning their own plant, the committee found that the average cost was $54.08, Springfield paying $84.50 per lamp, the lower prices being mainly in the west where coal is cheaper. In Braintree and Peabody, where the conditions would be about the same as in Cambridge or Newton, the cost is said to be $70.25, and they estimate that if lamps had been burned every night the cost would have been not over $75.

They think that the city of Cambridge could save the difference between this sum and $115, the price now paid, if the city owned its own plant, and they recommend that the city take the plant of the Cambridge Electric Light Company at a fair valuation. They get down to the figures by saying that the saving to the city would be "the difference in interest on bonds of the city at 4 per cent. and those of the company at 5 per cent. when due, $2000; on bonds of the city at 5 per cent. and dividend of the company at 6 per cent., $4000; and the surplus earnings of the company, say, $6000—making a total of $15,000, which is equal to $33.33 per light for 450 lights now located in the city, bringing the price down to $81.67 each, instead of $115, and there is little doubt but the rapid development of the commercial business would add materially to the profits, the company being now taxed to its utmost capacity."

THE APPROPRIATION BILL.

The City Council began this week the consideration of the appropriation bill for the coming year and seem to have got along without any radical differences of opinion on the various items. The Common Council made it a few hundred less than the finance committee's statement but the aldermen have yet to consider it.

The total as it now stands shows an increase of $35,000 over the present year, which is not a surprising advance and there ought to be a sufficient increase in valuation to more than compensate for that.

In the different departments there is no change in the Assessors. The Health department asks an increase of $12,400, the appropriation for house off being doubled, the agent's salary increased from $1250 to $1800, the position being now held by City Clerk Kingsbury, and the removal of ashes and new teams call for $7,500, as the work is to be done under the health department instead of by the highway department.

The city engineer's department only calls for an increase of less than a thousand. City Hall expenses are increased $200, and election expenses $600. The fire department shows a reduction of about a thousand and the highways a reduction of some $20,000, by the transference and cutting down of appropriations. There is an increase for the new inspector of buildings, and also for sewer bond interest. The poor department is increased $2,000, parks and squares $1,000, and police department $2,600.

In salaries besides the $1200 for inspector of buildings, and the $700 for inspector of provisions, there is an increase of $250 for the city treasurer, the other salaries remaining unchanged. For schools there is an increase of $5,250, not as much as was asked for.

The street light department gets an increase of $3,000, although $5,000 was asked for and could have been used to advantage. These are the main changes but of course there may be others before the matter is finally settled.

AN OLD FIGHT.

There is one curious item in the appropriation bill, that was passed by the common council, Monday night, under the items of "widening, reconstruction and improvements." It is entitled Centre street from Church to Eldridge street, $15,241, and the finance committee recommend the amount to be raised by a note on 10 years. The common council evidently did not scrutinize this very carefully, and probably they were not aware of what a long and stubborn fight has been waged over the matter. It is for the removal of the drain across the Woodward estate, and the item was struck out for two successive years by Mayor Hibbard, the city solicitor deciding that the drain had been located there undisturbed for so many years, that the city has acquired a legal right to have it there. It was thought that this ended the matter, but the same appropriation pops up this year, although the highway committee, under whose charge it would come, deny all knowledge of how it got into the appropriation bill.

The underdrains connected with the sewer has taken care of all the water that used to be carried off by this drain, the authorities say, and there is no need of disturbing the drain, or going to any expense in the matter, although the trustee of the property is very anxious to have the drain removed.

Whether the item will get through the board of aldermen remains to be seen, but from some comments that have been heard, there will probably be some pretty vigorous objections made.

The aldermen have come to the conclusion that elevating the tracks is the only practicable method of doing away with grade crossings. President Bliss asked some of them who favored lowering the tracks to tell him how he could run his trains while blasting through the West Newton ledge, and that inquiry led in a flood of light on to the situation. The aldermen will now favor the plan substantially as proposed by Mayor Hibbard and the previous boards, who spent so many months in investigation, and as the aldermen and the railroad officials are both agreed it may be confidently predicted that the work will begin early next year, of removing these dangerous crossings. The mayor and aldermen are to meet President Bliss as soon as he returns from a journey he took a few days ago, and settle all the preliminaries. The aldermen will insist on stone arched bridges, which will be an excellent feature, but in other respects the plan outlined last year will be followed.

The finance committee of the Cottage Hospital make their annual appeal in behalf of the Hospital, which will be found in another column. It is short but pointed, and they call attention to the need of funds to carry on the good work done at the Hospital for the coming year. Hospital Sunday comes on Nov. 20th, and it is hoped to have the collection even larger than last year.

THERE has been an effort to induce some lady to stand for school committee to succeed Rev. Mr. Horubrooke of Ward Seven, but so far the ladies approached have not been willing to accept, and think that the ward has been so very efficiently represented by gentlemen, that there is no necessity for making any change.

Lasell Notes.

Mrs. Norton of Auburndale, wife of the late Prof. Norton of Boston School of Technology, gave the first of a series of lectures upon "Sanitation" at 3.30 p. m., Nov. 11, in the chapel. The six lectures will occur upon alternate Saturdays with those of Dr. Pratt and promise much valuable information and practical benefit.

Prof. W. J. Rolfe continues his Shakespearean lectures upon Wednesday afternoon of each week before advanced classes in English Literature.

The cooking demonstrations of Monday, Nov. 13, was vegetable foods, boiling, potato soup, cabbage, carrots, macaroni, rice.

The lecture of Dr. Dike on the evening of Nov. 12, found the young women all present in the chapel with note books and pencils. There were also the same interested listeners who have attended this series of lectures from the first. Dr. Dike has presented to us the simpler forms of social life, and we are finding through study of the individual, the family and the village, as they actually are about us, our best way of approach to the more complex social order. Through Dr. Dike's scholarly presentation of Sociology, we shall carefully explore this intricate labyrinth with some hope of finding our way amid its difficult, yet fascinating mazes.

Owing to a typographical error, it was stated in a paragraph appearing in our issue of last week that Mrs. Thomas Jones, professor of angular handwriting, whose advertisement appears elsewhere in these columns, ensures the proficiency of her pupils in "twenty" lessons, whereas, by Mrs. Jones' special system, only twelve lessons are required in order to attain this fashionable style.

Mr. J. Wallace Goodrich has resumed the plot of the organ, and, and of harmony and counterpoint. He may be addressed at Elliot church, Newton.

The regret of a host of friends have turned their faces from their old home in New England to that summer home in Berkeley, California, where they now reside. Mrs. Davenport is in excellent health and the children, who found the harsh winds of our vigorous climate too severe, are now quite restored in strength and sound lungs by the mild air of their western home.

—Mr. Wm. H. Mendell was removed to the East Concord street hospital on Monday to undergo, for the third time, a surgical operation. Mrs. Mendell is staying in town with relatives for a time to be near and with her husband as much of the time as possible. Mr. Mendell has been ill for several months, but it is hoped as he is much stronger now, that he may soon rally from the temporary set back and be well again and his genial presence be enjoyed once more by his friends.

—Miss Fay Davis, the charming Boston reader, delighted her audience at the meeting at Mrs. C. F. West's, Newtonville, and proved very attractive in her assumption of Portia, Katherine of France, and other Shakespearean heroines. Next Tuesday at the same hour and place Miss Davis will give selections from the histories of Ruth McKenry Stuart and that delightful, but rash young author, Richard Harding Davis. As this is the last but one of the pleasant opportunities to hear Miss Davis in this course and the program is an especially interesting one, a large audience is anticipated.

—At the Republican caucus, Tuesday evening, Councilmen Staples and Bennett declined to serve again, the former on account of the pressure of business duties, and the latter, as he has given two years to the city, and thinks that it is all that can reasonably be expected of a citizen.

—Monday evening was the scene of a brilliant affair at the residence of Mr. B. F. Shattuck on Waltham street, the occasion being the entertaining of the Garden City Whist Club, in which Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck were assisted by their niece, Miss Hazard of Kansas City, Mo. After two hours of whist the prizes were awarded, which were very handsome and unique. Then an elaborate collation was served, after which dancing was enjoyed.

—Last Friday, the West Newton Women's Educational club held its first regular meeting in the parlors of the Unitarian church. The subject for consideration was “The Work of the Club and its members.” Mrs. Nathaniel T. Allen, Mrs. Avalon Graves, Mrs. Harriet Lord and Miss M. Porter were the speakers. Our schools were spoken of and the president and secretary were directed to petition various political parties in the name of the club, to nominate Mrs. Abbe E. Davis for re-election on the school committee. Clauses of literature and current events were started.

—The Unity Dramatic Club opened its third season last evening in the Unitarian church parlors. There was a large attendance, and the Haydn sextet, with Miss Fyfe as leader, contributed a select concert preceding the play, and furnishing music between the acts. “A Fool for Luck,” a farce in two acts, by W. M. Browne, was introduced with the short “curtain raiser,” “My Uncle's Will.” The parts were well taken, C. W. Cole as Mr. Babberton, a young Englishman, being especially well received. Miss Nickerson as Mr. Babberton's wife interpreted the part very naturally, and Miss Margaret Howard made an excellent act for Betty. The

THE STUDY OF LITERATURE

IN THE NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL AND AN EXPLANATION OF ITS METHOD.

The "Seminarium," soon to be published for use of the pupils in their study of English Literature in the High School, will contain the following introduction and explanation, which may be of interest to those who have followed the method of teaching which has prevailed in this department during the last five years:

"We live life to enjoy it; we make and read literature to enjoy it. In either case enjoyment is not a light matter. It is a serious matter in the long run; for down the centuries we grow toward what most delights us.

Everyone, from the reader of the penny pamphlet to the lover of Homer, from the child penning his first letter to the creator of a Hamlet, is either a consumer or a producer in the sphere of art and life, for the profit or loss of himself and others. All true literary work lies either in the line of interpretation or of creation, either in the assimilation of the thoughts of others or in the setting forth of one's own thoughts. The study of literature should unite these two processes; it should develop powers of assimilation and creation.

Every writer, be he good or bad, aims to interest the reader, both in his subject and in his method of revealing the same. The teaching of English literature should result in interesting the pupil in the masters of our language; if it fails here it fails utterly, if it succeeds here it succeeds completely. The development of the receptive and the creative moods respectively follow naturally from the creation of interest in the reader. Every exercise of reading prose or verse is an exercise in literary interpretation. After one has read a masterpiece and has gained certain impressions of the form and content, one naturally desires to compare these with the impressions obtained by others from the same source, he turns to the great interpreters of literature. This should be the method of the classroom.

Again in the creative work an author reveals the fundamental principles through which personality manifests itself; these principles he has gathered, unconsciously perhaps, from his association with men and books. In the creative work of the classroom, simple as it may be, the same process is exemplified. The pupil must gain his principles from the concrete, the masters in the art of prose and style.

The following list of books is the outgrowth of the above methods applied to the actual work of the classroom. Works in class A are to be used in connection with the study of literature during senior year as illustrating the method, spirit and aim of literary interpretation. Works in class B are to be used in connection with theme-work of junior year as illustrating the method, spirit and aim of literary production.

The above list of books contains only those classics in critical and creative work, respectively which have been found helpful in the work of the course. With large classes, in order that each pupil may have the use of one such book a week, it is necessary to have at least 150 volumes in each department. Through the interest and liberality of the graduates of the last three years there has been secured a most excellent foundation for a library in literary interpretation, and at present we have seventy-five volumes of which any library might be proud.

In this work, of course, use can be made of the public library, but a majority of the pupils live at a distance, and this with the uncertainty of being able to get the book desired at the right time, makes a school library a necessity. There is no doubt that the school board will deal kindly with us in the matter and assist in every way in its power. The interest of the pupils has, however, been manifested in a very practical and purely voluntary manner, raising funds by subscription; in consequence of this movement it has seemed best to make the above statement. Any graduates or friends of the school wishing to contribute can communicate with the head of the department, either directly or through the pupils. A good working library is an indispensable for the inductive study of literature as is a well equipped laboratory for the same work in the sphere of natural science. "The conduct of the imagination is the chemistry of life." A. J. GEORGE

Boston Latin, 16; Newton, 6.

Boston Latin against Newton High at the South end won last Friday. Newton put the ball in play, and on the opening wedge, Brown gained five yards, and a minute later 10 more through the centre. The ball was soon on Latin's three-yard mark, where the Latin school made a great rally and got the leather on four downs. Brown took the ball for Newton on a fumble, but Boyer failed to gain, and the ball went back to Boston Latin. Cuniff gained three yards, and then went around Newton's left for 12 more. Edmunds gained 10 through the centre, Rand five, the revolving wedge was brought into play for 10 more, and a succession of short rushes brought the touchdown. Cuniff failed on goal. B. L. S., 4; Newton, 6.

Newton gained 20 yards on her opening wedge, which Boyer increased by three yards, Redpath three and ten, Brown three, Boyer three, Brown two, Redpath one and Brown two. Here on her three-yard mark Boston Latin got three downs without a gain. On the fourth attempt Brown by a clever rush got across for touchdown. Brown made an excellent kick for goal. Score—Newton, 6; B. L. S., 4.

Edmunds, Rand and McGillicuddy carried the ball down toward Newton's goal, Rand broke through the centre for 10 yards, Edmunds gained 10 more, Rand two and a touchdown. This time Cuniff kicked goal. Score—B. L. S., 10; Newton, 6.

The ball had been in play again but a few minutes when McGillicuddy was injured and had to retire. Eaton went to centre, Hill taking his place and Tilden taking Hill's. Time was soon called. Boston Latin next placed Nagle at right guard, Hill left guard, and withdrew Tilden.

Boston Latin school had the ball on the opening of the second half, and Cuniff went 10 yards through the centre, to be brought down by Brown. On the next play Cuniff went for five more round the end, and Edmunds got five. After a fumble by Lowe, Gilbert caught the ball, but Rand was on hand, and he not only got the ball, but gained 10 yards. Cuniff gained four more, but lost it again on Newton rushing the centre. Rand then got five yards, and by carrying the two teams on his back scored another touchdown. Cuniff kicked goal. Score—B. L. S., 16; Newton, 6.

Barnum took Springer's place, and on the opening wedge Newton gained five yards and Redpath eight. The ball was about in the centre of the field when game was called on account of darkness. BOSTON LATINS. NEWTONS.

Edmunds, Rand, Boyer, Dismore, Hill, Tilden, Eaton, F. C. Van Vorhis, Brown, F. C. Van Vorhis, L. C. Van Vorhis, Quarter back, Gilbert, Edmunds, Half-back, Brown, Cuniff, Full-back, Redpath, Rand, Boyer, Score—Boston Latins, 16; Newtons, 6. Touchdowns—Rand (3), Brown, Goals from touch-downs—Brown, Cuniff (2), Umpire—Rogers. Referee—Bill Hoyt. Time—50m.

THE TARIFF.

The Sunday Herald interviewed a large number of prominent Boston business men on the Tariff and the views of several who live in Newton are appended:

Mr. G. B. Jones of Abram French & Co., crockery and glassware, Franklin street—The crockery dealers of Boston have formally expressed their views to the ways and means committee at Washington. We ask them to revise the present tariff because the duties are now excessive and complicated on certain lines of goods.

Yes, we think a lower tariff than the McKinley act is necessary. We do not ask free trade. I am not a free trader. What we ask is a fair revision. The duty on our case is increased by the duty on packages imposed by the administrative protection of freight and handling.

McKinley, as counsel for the glass manufacturers of Pittsburgh, looked after their interests very carefully when he drew his bill. Whatever revision is made in the tariff it should not be changed for 10 years. Almost any tariff is better than irregularity and frequent change.

I believe the ways and means committee will go right ahead and revise the tariff, unimpaired by the recent elections. They will not propose a free trade measure. I do not consider the recent election in Massachusetts had anything to do with the tariff. The tariff issue was settled in 1892. The people say they want a change. Take my own case, for example.

I am a Republican, but I voted with the Democrats in 1892, because I agreed with them on tariff reform. This year, that is, having been settled, I returned to my party associates and voted the Republican ticket. I have no doubt many independent did the same thing and for a like reason.

President Isaac L. Burr of the Bank of North America, 109 Franklin street, said briefly: It is a good idea to attempt to reform the tariff. The tariff is a country does demand a tariff more moderate than the McKinley act in order to insure permanence. No, the country is not contented with any tariff so long as it is let alone. I have always been a low protectionist. I was never in favor of the present tariff.

Sensation at Dorchester, Mass.

Narrow escape of an employee of Walter Baker's chocolate works. He relates it as follows: For several years I have been troubled with weak lungs and had many bleeding spells. They kept increasing until the spring of 1890 with severe pain through my chest and lungs and I was rapidly running down in flesh and strength. With my lung trouble I had a severe liver and kidney trouble which added to my suffering. In January 1893 I was reduced so very low that I was worried about myself and hearing from reliable and authentic sources that Rodolf's New Medical Discovery and Rodolf's Cream Emulsion was performing some miraculous cures of consumption, cancerous and scrofulous humors and kidney and liver troubles I resolved to try them in my case. I commenced their use in January last. By their use my appetite improved rapidly, I gained in flesh and strength, my kidney and liver trouble disappeared, I have now gained fifteen pounds and am able to work at my trade every day; that of making chocolate at Walter Baker's chocolate works at Dorchester, Mass., and I have not had a bleeding spell since I began the use of Rodolf's New Medical Discovery and Rodolf's Cream Emulsion and I can truly say that this is the only remedy that soothed and healed my lungs and restored my liver and kidneys to a healthy state. I have now taken five bottles each of Rodolf's New Medical Discovery and Rodolf's Cream Emulsion and I can conscientiously recommend them to all persons who have any lung difficulty, kidney or liver trouble or any blood disease.

My mother who has been sick several years of consumption has commenced the use of this great remedy and is rapidly improving by its use. I will answer any inquiries in person or by letter by enclosing a stamp.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN.

NEWTON DRUG CLERK CHASES A DOG AND IS SERIOUSLY INJURED.

George C. Lyman, a drug clerk employed by E. F. Partridge, Newtonville, was struck by a freight train on the Walnut street crossing of the Boston & Albany railroad, Tuesday morning about 9.40 o'clock.

He left Partridge's store, near the scene of the accident, just as a westward bound freight was approaching, and ran ahead of it across the tracks after a dog. He succeeded in heading off the dog and drove the animal back, following closely himself, apparently unmindful of the danger.

He was struck by the pilot of the engine, which was moving at a speed of about six miles per hour, and thrown clear of the rails, his head striking first upon the solid ground.

When picked up he was unconscious. He was taken into Mr. Partridge's laboratory. It was found that he had sustained a fracture of the jawbone below the ear, also severing an artery. There was, besides, a deep, jagged wound in the back of the head, but the skull, it is thought, was not fractured.

Poll-wing the examination, Lyman was taken to his home on Washington street, Newtonville. At noon he had regained consciousness.

On Wednesday his condition became more serious and he died at 1 o'clock. He received the degree of M. D. from a Vermont university, and was for some time employed in a Waltham drug store before coming to Newton. He was a member of Gen. Gore lodge, I. O. O. F., of Waltham. The funeral took place this morning from his late home. He leaves a widow.

Waltham's New Park.

The work of transforming the upper portion of Prospect Hill in Waltham into a public park is progressing rapidly.

This work is being done under the direction of the park commissioners, the city engineer being in immediate charge. The plan, as contemplated at present, is to construct a 14-foot roadway to the top of Little Prospect this fall, and in the spring continue the road to the higher hill. It is also proposed to circle the hill at the lower edge of the land taking, and also to cross-section it by following the old town road over the hill, to connect with Concord turnpike.

There are at present a force of 35 men at work, 25 on the roadway and 10 cleaning up the underbrush, trimming trees and burning the refuse. The labor on the road is extremely difficult, owing to the presence of immense boulders, which can only be removed by blasting, but even with this to impede rapid progress it is thought that the summit of Little Prospect will be reached before it becomes too cold to work.

The gang in cleaning the woody section of the park has been over about 25 acres so far, and have accomplished a great deal of work. All land included in the taking will be similarly treated, when it will be possible to drive a carriage over any portion of the hill except in the immediate vicinity of the cliff.

Go to Antwerp, Thou Sluggard.

[New York Tribune.]

The projectors of the World's Fair at Antwerp next year, in their efforts to have a greater attraction than the Eiffel tower or the Ferris wheel, have decided upon a restaurant in the air. A great stationary balloon is to be built, and below this, on iron girders, an immense restaurant building capable of accommodating a good number of people. An elevator will carry patrons to the restaurant.

Saved Her Life.

Mrs. C. J. WOOLDRIDGE, of Wortham, Texas, saved the life of her child by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"One of my children had Croup. The case was attended by our physician, and was supposed to be well under control. One night I was startled by the child's hard breathing, and on going to it found it struggling. It had nearly ceased to breathe. Realizing that the child's alarming condition had become possible in spite of the medicines given, I reasoned that such remedies would be of no avail. Having part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses, at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given, the child's breathing grew easier, and, in a short time, she was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well to-day, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved her life."

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The Grand Opera House stock company will come back next Monday evening and will remain two weeks, appearing in a finished and elaborate production of Wilson Barrett's and Henry A. Jones' stirring and picturesque drama, "Hoodman Blind." The giving of this melodramatic creation at this time will be made memorable in several respects. The play will present to Boston theatre-goers the new juvenile lady of the company, Miss Isabelle Evesson, who but a few weeks ago joined the organization. Miss Hawley will appear as Jack Koolbert, a character which admirably fits the actor and in which he has starred the country with marked success. The play will present nearly all the members of the large stock company and it will be made a grand and spectacular production, new scenery and costumes having been made and everything possible done to give to the play the most elaborate presentation it has ever had. "Hoodman Blind" will be given a matinee on Thursday, Thanksgiving Day. Seats are now on sale for all the performances of the two weeks.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—Mr. Isaac B. Rich will present at the Hollis on November 20th, Mr. Nat C. Goodwin in Augustus Thomas' new play, "In Miz-zouza." This play has already scored an immense hit in New York and several other large cities, and although Mr. Goodwin's character in it is widely different from anything he has previously done, it is said that it is even a greater success than any of his better known plays. His character is that of a Missouri sheriff, stout-hearted, brave and ingenious, and his lines allow for a most delightful mingling of pathos and comedy so that altogether his role is one so congenial to him that not a single effect intended by the dramatist is lost or omitted by Mr. Goodwin. His engagement will continue for two weeks and during the last week it is probable that he will present his last season's success, "A Gilded Fool." Seats for the performances are now on sale at the box office.

TREMONT THEATRE.—Minnie Madden Fiske will appear at the Tremont Theatre Monday, November 20, in "Hester Prynne," the new play by Harrison Grey Fiske. Minnie Madden Fiske was born in New Orleans and made her theatrical debut at the age of three. At twelve she was playing alternately leading roles and old women. At fifteen she became a star, her manager placing her in a melodrama. She retired from the stage suddenly, just as she stood on the threshold of serious art. For four years she has lived entirely removed from the theatre. Her appearance at the Tremont will mark her first emergence from that voluntary retirement. It is no longer as a half-developed girl that she will present her-

WRONG END FIRST.

[From Judge.]

Sile Hoskins, Jr., (out of breath)—Drop that ere hoe, dad, an' run for yer life down to the south crossin' pole on the Husky meadow patch. Our hired man has fell into Miry brook up to his knees in the mud, an' I can't git him out.
Sile Hoskins, Sr., (leisurely)—What's the hurry? Let the darned fool stop that a spell an' git his lesson larnt.
Sile Hoskins, Jr.—Get a gait on yer, pop! He went in head first.

self before the critical Boston public; but as a woman, challenging judgment from the most exacting standpoint. Our writer of note has predicted that she is "a genius who will make this era famous in the history of the American stage." Mr. A. M. Palmer has engaged an admirable company to support her, including Mr. Courtenay Thorpe and other favorite players. The new play is said to be of that earnest and sympathetic character, to which the tender English term "homey" is applicable, or "home-like," would perhaps better express a play in which Minnie Madden Fiske's best ability can find its best expression.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—The second week of "The Girl Left Behind Me" will begin at the Columbia next Monday evening. During the past week the audiences have been large and enthusiastic and the piece has made a hit, which is hardly to be wondered at when it is considered that the play has already had a successful run of nearly two months in New York, and that in addition to Messrs. Belasco and Fiske's brilliant work in it, Mr. Charles Frohman has entrusted it to a company of players exceptionally strong, who render their individual parts in a very satisfactory manner. Indications are that the new play will enjoy a long and prosperous run at the Columbia. Seats for the coming performances may now be obtained at the box office.

MEETINGS WERE HARMONIOUS.

NEWTON REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES HELD WITH LITTLE EXCITEMENT.

Republican caucuses were held in the various wards of Newton Tuesday evening, to choose candidates for the common council and delegates to a convention to be held next Tuesday evening, to nominate a candidate for mayor and one for alderman from each ward.

Some excitement was anticipated from the non-partisan movement which has been agitated recently, but in almost every caucus no reference was made to non-partisan methods, and the nominations were made with the usual quietude.

In Wards 4 and 6 the delegates will probably favor the present incumbent for alderman. In Ward 2 the delegation favors Alderman Rumery. A quiet boom is also being worked for Councilman E. P. Hatch for alderman. The Ward 3 delegates are said to favor ex-Alderman Wilson, and those of Ward 5 will probably work in the interests of Chauncey B. McGee, an ex-councilman.

The results of the caucuses are appended:
Ward 1. Chairman, H. W. Downs; secretary, J. S. Potter. Common Council, Mitchell Wing, F. L. Page; delegates, H. W. Downs, D. F. Barber, D. W. Stearns, L. S. Franklin, R. F. Korman.
Ward 2. Chairman, N. H. Chadwick; secretary, C. A. Kellogg. Common Council, L. E. G. Gie, Charles Curtis; delegates, G. H. Williams, O. E. Hunt, C. A. Keller, W. W. Palmer, J. H. Stuckey.
Ward 3. Chairman, G. A. Walton; secretary, H. C. Wood. Common Council, G. H. Bourne, Alexander Davidson, W. E. Sweeney, G. P. Stapp, J. H. Ingraham, W. H. B. Dowse, C. A. Wyman.
Ward 4. Chairman, W. B. Fowle; secretary, W. T. Farley. Common Council, C. W. Knapp, F. A. Childs; delegates, E. P. Barnes, W. T. Farley, W. B. Atherton, G. H. Bourne, Alexander Davidson.
Ward 5. Chairman, G. F. Liehtwiler; secretary, E. J. Hyde. Common Council, L. A. Ross, M. H. Coffin; delegates, J. R. Deau, E. J. Hyde, R. T. Sullivan, H. A. Spear, W. R. Dresser.
Ward 6. Chairman, R. H. Gardiner; secretary, F. D. Edmonds. Common Council, H. D. Decon, J. W. Parker; delegates, E. H. Garvin, A. L. Harwood, Dwight Chester, G. H. Ellis, G. F. Richardson.

Ward 7. Chairman, A. S. Weed; secretary, A. E. Lynch. Common Council, Henry Tolman, G. M. Weed; delegates, A. S. Weed, M. C. Laffey, J. C. Kennedy, A. B. Jewell, Joseph Howard.

N. H. S. '95-6; '97-4.

Classes '95 and '97 lined upon the playground at Newton Centre, on Tuesday afternoon, '95 finally won by a close score. '95 showed lack of practice by fumbling the ball, but outplayed their opponents. For '97 Chase did the best work. Summary:

—Horace S. Consons of Vermont is in town for a few weeks.

—Mr. and Mrs. S. V. A. Hunter are in
New York for a short period.

Rev. Dr. A. E. Dunning will preach next Sunday morning at the First Congregational church.

—The brick sidewalk in front of Conson's block has been taken up and will be replaced with concrete.

—Rev. A. H. Quint, D. D., of Boston preached very acceptably last Sunday at the First Congregational church.

—Mr. E. E. Meehan will sever his connections with the Ellsworth Publishing Co., Jan. 1st on account of ill health.

—Messrs. J. R. Leeson, R. H. Gardner and Col. E. H. Haskell were elected directors of the Home Market Club, at the annual meeting this week.

—You will think Thanksgiving is already here when you test the goods sold by W.
O. Knapp & Co. See their new adv. this week.

—The pound party at the Unitarian church parlors last Wednesday evening was well attended and was quite a decided success.

—Rev. W. A. Benedict is acting as agent for some strong Life and Accident Insurance companies. See his advertisement in another column.

—There are letters at the postoffice for:
Mrs. James Kelly, Herbert McKnight, John
O'Donnell, John O'Brien, Pres. Mutual Relief Association, Mrs. Mary Wilmarth.

—Mr. Geo. K. Ward has bought twenty-four acres of land of the Kenrick heirs back of the Eliot memorial.

—Rev. A. E. Dunning, D. D., will occupy the pulpit of the First church Sunday, Nov.
19th. At the evening service he will give readings of some of the Psalms.

—A sociable was held Wednesday evening at the Methodist church. Quite an enjoyable entertainment was furnished during the evening, followed by the usual social features.

—The exhibit of decorated china in the Woman's Building by Miss Lena T. Makee, has been granted a medal by the judges.
Award at the World's Columbian Expon-sition. Miss Makee receives pupils in china painting.

—Mr. Herbert Wade, the merchant tailor, has opened his store on Station street and shows a fine line of woolsens for coats, suits and for ladies and gentlemen.

—A conference was held Wednesday evening between the street railway committee of the board of aldermen and the railway officials. It was virtually arranged to increase the number of car trips as soon as time tables could be made out.

—Rev. B. F. McDaniel of the Unitarian church will exchange next Sunday morning with Rev. J. C. Jaynes of West Newton. In the evening at 7 o'clock he will speak on "How shall we do it and for what ends?"

—The Oak Hill school house was the scene of an enjoyable party last Wednesday evening, when the first sociable of the season was inaugurated by the Newton Centre parties. There were fifty couple present and the evening was passed in dancing.

—The service held at the First Congregational church last Sunday evening, in the interest of the Evangelical Association of New England, was well attended and the services proved very interesting to those present. Mrs. Horabrook of Paris and Mr. Gray, who are connected with the association, spoke.

—The fair at the Episcopal church last Tuesday evening was given under the auspices of the ladies of the Episcopal Centre. It was well attended, the sales articles on the several tables being nearly all disposed of during the afternoon and evening. The sum of $300 was added to the church treasury.

—Rev. B. F. McDaniel is to give three lectures on the World's Fair, on Nov. 27,
Dec. 4 and 11, in the Unitarian church.
He will be assisted by Mr. W. E. Peabody, with a choice selection of views taken on the grounds and shown by a powerful stereopticon.

—The ladies of the Congregational church are arranging for a fair to be held at the church vestry, Thursday, Dec. 7,
during the afternoon and evening.
Various tables for the display of articles of handicraft will be attractively arranged.

—Mrs. O. A. Smith, formerly of Cypress street, who died in New York last week, was a well known resident of this city and a contentious and faithful worker in the Baptist church, of which she was a member.
Funeral services were held at the house, Prof. J. M. English officiating. The interment was at the Newton Cemetery.

—The second reception of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Kirtland, (ex-Kellett), took place
at their residence on Parker street last Wednesday evening. There were over 200 invitations issued and guests were present from Boston, Roxbury and the Newtons. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion with plants, palms and flowers.

—The handsome new residence just completed for Mr. S. V. A. Hunter on Lake avenue is about to be occupied by its owner. The house is a fine specimen of the finest and most expensive in design and finish in the city, is being furnished throughout in a complete and luxurious manner, every article being selected with an eye to appropriateness and artistic taste.

—The Republican caucus Tuesday evening was entirely harmonious and Connel-lymen Deegan and Parker and Alderman Roffe are the choice of the party in this ward for next year. The citizens caucus will probably endorse these nominations. There is one thing that stands in the credit of Ward
Six above every other ward in the city.
An efficient and faithful servant in the city council is always appreciated and rewarded by retention in office.

—The evening service at the Methodist church next Sunday will be of special interest. Rev. Edwin H. Hughes, the pastor, will preach. The church has been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Frank A. Kennedy, violinist, of Boston, who will play a Swedish melody, and the celebrated intermezzo by P. Mascagni. The organ selections will be a Pastorale by Weyl, and the "Prelude" by Mendelssohn. The service begins at 7 o'clock and is cordially invited.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Ide, who were married at St. John's Episcopal church, Roxbury, Wednesday, will reside on Institution avenue, and will be at home on Mondays in January. Mr. Ide is the senior inspector of the Mercantile and Marine Insurance Company, and the bride was Miss Elizabeth Dibles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Dibles of Roxbury.
The church was a snowy effect, so generous were the decorations in chrysanthemums.
Rev. George S. Converse, D. D., rector of the church, officiated. The bride was gowned in white satin merveilleux, en train, with lace decorations. Her tulle veil was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried bride roses. Miss Edith Glidden attended the bride, and wore a toilet of white silk moule over pink silk,

and carried pink chrysanthemums. Messrs.
two Geo. B. Glidden, Howard C. Forbes, Edwin B. Ide and Walter DeLand came acted as ushers. Mr. Charles W. Franklin of Roxbury was best man. At the close of the ceremony a breakfast was given at the home of the bride, No. 26 Greenville street.

turned to their early home in Scotland.

—Mrs. Edes, who broke her arm recently, is recovering at the hospital.

—The silk mill is running every other week for the present.

—Mr. Smith and family, who have been stopping with Mr. Luther Cunningham, Boylston street, have gone to Marlboro.

—Mr. Giles Dyson has moved from High street to his new house recently completed on Cottage street.

—The Newton united foot ball team defeated the Waltham eleven Saturday by a score of 7 to 0.

—Fred Hughes is recovering slowly from the injury received playing foot ball. He is still at the Cottage Hospital.

—George Hodgkins, who has been employed at the Silk mill, sails for England, Saturday, on the Britannia.

—Mrs. Robert Skidmore returned this week to her former home in Lakewood, N. J.

—Mr. Wm. H. Dunham has secured and accepted a position with the Eastern Market Co., Boston.

—Geo. Gillespie, who has been working for Teddy Lee, the tonsorial artist, has concluded his service there.

—D. D. Shand, who has been employed by Alexander & Hunting of Newton Lower Falls, has returned to his home in Nova Scotia.

—Alderman Thompson has consented,
after earnest solicitation, to run for the council next year, on the Citizens ticket.
There is little doubt he will pull a big vote
in this ward.

—A supper and social between the hours
of 5.30 and 10 o'clock, Thanksgiving day, Nov. 20, will be held in St. Mary's Catholic church. The final arrangements are being perfected by Rev. Father Dorey.

—Fred W. Morton purchased at an auction sale, Wednesday, the late J. Q. A.
Fay's estate on Webster street, Needham.
The estate consists of a house of 12 rooms, barn, and over an acre of land. The price paid was $1800 and the taxes for 1893.

—Alderman Thompson's suggestion that the electric trolley run on a two minute schedule from seven to ten in the morning and three to nine o'clock in the afternoon
meets with favor, and will be carried out by the railway officials as soon as time tables can be arranged.

—The Young Men's Independent Club is a new organization which will be perfected at a meeting held this evening. The object of the club is to bring non-partisanship into municipal politics and to favor
the election of those men who are sufficiently interested in their own ward to work for its interests in every possible way.

—The members of the Clover Club and their gentlemen friends, to the number of sixteen, spent an enjoyable evening Thursday at the bowling alleys of the Quinobequin Association. The evening was spent in bowling, the party dividing in friendly contest, the scores being made by the ladies coming in for a good share of them.
Ice cream and refreshments were served during the evening the party breaking up and returning home at 10.30 o'clock.

—The sudden death of Mr. Hiram Alonso, shepherd last Friday morning came as a shock to the whole community. His illness first came on Sunday morning when preparing for church and continued until Thursday, when he was feeling much better and expected to be on his feet in the afternoon. He died at 5.30 o'clock, resulting from a heart attack. He was born in Sweden in 1830, and removed to this village a few years later. He attended the Newton public schools, finishing his education at the Newton High School at Newton Centre. After leaving school he entered the employ of Otis Pettie, who then owned the grocery store on Elliot street, remaining with him until his death and then as clerk under Abbott Billings, who then chased the business. When Mr. Billings died the deceased bought the business and conducted it until the time of his death, being for nearly 30 consecutive years in the same location and business from which he amassed a comfortable competency.

He married when about 24 years of age and had three children, two sons and one daughter.
The late Mr. Alonso was a member of the Methodist church, and as superintendent of the Sunday school for years, holding these positions at the time of his death. He leaves a widow and one son, Hiram Alonso, Jr., and three brothers and two sisters survive him, Alfred A., of Needham, George B., of Newton Centre,
Henry, of Des Moines, Ia., Mrs. Hattie
Poole and Mrs. Lucy Cutler of Boston
Highlands. The funeral, at 2 o'clock, Monday, was very largely attended by relatives and friends, and Rev. Samuel Fellows, his pastor, officiated. Music was contributed by a mixed quartet from the Methodist church, and Mrs. Fellows sang, her rendition of "God is Love" being peculiarly touching. The floral tributes included several handsome set pieces and many cut flowers. His wife and son contributed a pillow of white chrysanthemums and rose with the inscription "At Rest,"
and a piece with "Our superintendent" was from the Sunday school. The interment was in the family lot at the Newton century.

I Am Boycotted.

During the past two weeks parties have circulated injurious reports about me and state that I am a member of the
A. P. A., an anti-Catholic organization which is said to be holding secret meetings in Newton. These parties are injuring my reputation by these statements and are boycotting my store and telling their Catholic friends not to trade with me. I herewith deny that I am a member of this or any other anti-Catholic organization and I appeal to the fairness of my fellow citizens to discourage such ridiculous slander upon my reputation. These parties have also charged that my employees were members of this association, but this statement I know to be unqualifiedly false.

—As a result of the meeting between the members of the aldermen and the street railway officials this week, it is expected that the present time table will be materially changed so as to give more frequent service.

The men's class in gymnasium at Nonantum Hall has grown rapidly in popularity and members, more than doubling that of last year.

CAN'T SEE ANYTHING GREEN.

A Little Boy of Emerald Hue Fooled the Cruiser and Monitor Too.

A report is about to be sent to the navy department regarding certain experiments which have been conducted in this harbor during the summer under the auspices of the torpedo station, to determine upon measures to be employed by torpedo boats to escape detection with searchlights. The Cushing's, has been the boat in use, and much progress has been made. The torpedo boat at no time used both her boilers in steaming about, and consequently did not run as fast as she might.

She was tried painted in several colors, but was discovered until a dull green hue was used. Then she ran into the harbor before the powerful searchlights of the cruiser San Francisco and monitor Miantonomoh as well as the big light at the station could detect her. She got within a few feet of each of the war vessels, and in a fine position to do great damage with her torpedoes.

On last Monday night the Cushing entered the harbor, and although both vessels were looking for her she passed completely around the island on which is the torpedo station twice without being detected. These experiments are said to be more successful than any carried on in the same line by any nation.

The green appears to be the proper color for torpedo boats. In the glare of the searchlight it is quite like water. At times it resembles the moss grown rocks.

A Cherokee Strip Romance.

Yesterday Joseph K. Bracken of Memphis and Miss Lillie McGlashin of Stillwater, O. T., came to this city and were married by the probate judge. The young lady had secured a fine claim near Perry in the Cherokee strip, and the judge told her that if she got married she would probably lose the claim. She laughingly replied that she would sooner have a man than a claim any day, and the ceremony proceeded. It afterward came out that the couple first met on the day of the strip opening, when he stopped to help her drive a couple of soomers off the claim she had staked. He then went on, but because of the delay failed to get a claim, and finally returned to claim the girl he left behind him.
After they had been married they returned to Perry, and the happy groom
at once filed a contest on the claim taken by his bride, so if the department does decide that she cannot hold it he will get it, and it will still be in the family.

Suing a Sultan.

Miss Jenny Mitchell of Brighton, England, is suing the sultan of Johore for breach of promise. The sultan's attorney objected that his client, being a ruling monarch, could not be sued in England, but Miss Mitchell's lawyer replied that, inasmuch as the defendant had lived in England privately as Mr. Albert Baker, he had disintegrated himself sufficiently to be sued in England, and that,
moreover, he was subject to the authority of the empress of India. The question will be argued next month. —London

CITY GOVERNMENT.

THE 1894 APPROPRIATIONS CONSIDERED—STABLE HEARING—N. A. B. STREET RAILWAY TO SERVE THE PUBLIC.

The mayor and aldermen met last Monday evening in regular session, and before they adjourned, at the early hour of 10:45, had gone through the appropriation budget and transacted considerable routine business. Last year the budget kept them busy until nearly 2 o'clock a. m.

WHAT THEY DID.

Residents of Perkins street petitioned for an under drain and catch basin to carry off surplus water. The paper contained the name of every abuttor and was referred.

A communication from Nellie A. Johnson, who sprained an ankle in a defective sidewalk near Eliot block was referred to the claims committee.

C. E. Rand was granted leave to enlarge carriage house, Sx12 feet.

A petition for main drain and common sewer in Burnwell avenue was referred.

Alderman Bothfield reported for the highway committee, recommending the laying out of Boyden street. He also reported a new draft of the ordinance relating to inspection and supervision of wires. Both were accepted.

The water board were authorized to lay 225 feet of 6 inch main in Los Angeles street at a cost of $251.

ORDERS.

An order for the laying out of Boyden street was passed, and a hearing appointed for Tuesday, Dec. 12.

Alderman Thompson presented an order which passed, authorizing the public property committee to advertise for proposals for the construction of a brick schoolhouse on Lincoln street, Ward Five, according to plans submitted by Hartwell & Richardson.

Alderman Roffe, for the committee on licenses, reported, giving W. H. Kerrigan & Co., leave to withdraw their petition for sixth class liquor license. In explanation he said Mr. Kerrigan was not a registered pharmacist and the application did not come within the requirements of the law.

Patrick Jones' petition to build shed on Cook street was granted.

A FAVORABLE INVESTIGATION.

Alderman Roffe made a report on the petition of Arthur Hudson for sixth class liquor license on Centre street. He first read a letter from Mr. Hudson sent in response to one written by him requesting his reasons for purchasing the business and why he desired an additional license. The letter stated that the petitioner had frequently been requested to get a store more remote from the railroad track where customers could stop in their teams with safety and where children could be sent. He would also have to vacate his present place at some future date because of the proposed separation of grades of the Boston & Albany road, the building occupied by him encroaching on their land. The license was necessary in the compounding of various medicines called for at that store and present customers finding they cannot get their drugs put up there, go to another store to get their order filled.

Alderman Roffe had also seen Dr. Hudson, personally, and believed the city government would be justified in granting the prayer of the petitioner.

Alderman Thompson moved that the petition be granted and the vote was favorable.

The petition of Ira S. Franklin for addition of 28x30 feet to shed on Bellevue street was granted.

John J. Gannon petitioned for license as private sewer layer.

Alderman Hunt for the committee recommended that a sewer be laid in Tudor road; accepted.

HEARING FOR STABLE.

Alderman Roffe presented the petition of E. Gately for stable 23x33 feet on River street. He said there was some controversy in the matter and as the parties were present, desired a hearing opened for the judgment of the board.

A hearing was opened, Mr. Gately was heard. He was surprised any objection should be made to the erection of his stable. The lot was 97x100 feet in size and he was putting up a $10,000 house, changing his residence from Philadelphia to this city. Mr. W. S. French was the only objector and the stable had been removed to the extreme corner of the lot on his suggestion but was not placed to his satisfaction.

Mr. W. S. French said he represented the interests of his son's wife, who had put all her money into a homestead adjacent to the land purchased by the petitioner. The air from the stables of Dr. Thayer and T. B. Fitzpatrick, when the wind was in a certain quarter was very great nuisance and the proposed stable of Mr. Gately was in the same direction and would add to the nuisance. The estate had already depreciated in value from this cause. If the stable was placed where he had requested the odors would not reach his house. As at present the house would be pervaded by odors from three different directions.

Mr. T. B. Fitzpatrick could see no reasonable objection to the stable as located and Mr. P. A. McVicker, who was familiar with the premises, did not see how reasonable objection could be made. The hearing was closed and later the prayer of the petitioner was granted.

THE ORDINANCE.

Alderman Bothfield presented the ordinance for the inspection and supervision of wires to be enrolled but first wished to hear from the inspector regarding a section, which had been stricken out.

Chief Bixby said Sec. 21 relating to the use of brackets on poles had been stricken out. He considered it a very important section as experience had taught him the placing of brackets on poles was unsafe and dangerous. As at present the house would be pervaded by odors from three different directions.

Alderman Roffe called attention to a clause Sec. 2 which apparently gave the inspector arbitrary powers.

It was referred to the city solicitor, who was present, and changed and a section replacing Sec. 21 was offered by Alderman Bothfield. With these changes the ordinance was passed to be enrolled.

Alderman Hunt presented an order which passed appointing a hearing Dec. 12, at 7:30 o'clock on taking land of Stephen Greene et al for sewer purposes.

An order was passed for sewer in Clinton place.

An order discontinuing and rescinding the taking of certain land near Oakleigh road for sewer purposes was passed.

Alderman Plummer presented an order which passed, appropriating $500 for claims.

THE APPROPRIATIONS.

The aldermen went into a committee of the whole to consider the appropriation budget for 1894 and Alderman Bothfield took the chair.

The list was first gone through and checked and the items checked were then considered in detail.

ASSESSORS.

The appropriation of $2000 for office expenses in this department Alderman Plummer said were not enough, and if not allowed now an extra appropriation would have to be made later.

The item was increased to $2000.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The increase asked in this department is $12,400, which Alderman Roffe considered excessive. He fought hard to economize on this appropriation, the item of $1800 for an agent, an increase of $250 over what the work has heretofore cost the city, and a new item of $500 for an office assistant, being the items most interested.

Dr. Curtis appeared and explained the reason for the increase. Complaints were made that the office was not kept open so as to be available at any time, and it was proposed to put in a permanent assistant to answer such calls, for $500.

Alderman Roffe was willing to admit the idea was "very desirable" but believed it was an unnecessary burden to place upon the citizens in the nature of an increased tax rate.

The items were unchanged.

The city engineer's department expenses were discussed and the $400 for new hose in the fire department, out no change made.

The salary for inspector of buildings was challenged by Alderman Roffe but no change made, although he tried to compromise at $1000.

The $500 for clerical assistance and for compiling ancient records in the city clerk's department called out an explanation.

There are certain times in the year when the office is very busy, needing additional clerical work and answering the telephone breaks in a great deal.

Alderman Plummer suggested moving the telephone into another office, but its convenience at present was an objection to its removal.

The item of $250 for conveyance of pupils was stricken out.

STREET LIGHTS.

The street light appropriation was cut down $2000 to $33,000 after a hard fight by Alderman Plummer, who thought $10,000 would be ample pay for the lights now furnished. He believed in stopping any more contracts for light until the city had a plant of their own or employed another company.

Discussion on the ten year notes for widening, reconstruction and improvement resulted in no change.

The appropriation as it stands at this writing is as follows:

Order as adopted by common council, $772,892.50.
As adopted by aldermen, $772,892.50.
Additional office expenses, assessors' department, $500
Clerical assistance, city clerk, $400
$1000
$773,392.50
Deduct: Fire department, $475
Police Department 2 officers, $1800
Conveyance of pupils, 250
$2325.00
$771,067.50

The total net deduction is $1525.
Orders were then passed appropriating the sum of $771,067.50 for 1894 expenses.

A petition from the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Co. to locate poles in Chelmsford, Jewett and Ois streets, and Middlesex road, was received and a hearing appointed for Tuesday, Dec. 5.

Alderman Roffe presented his report on the order for a change of time in the running of cars on the N. & B. street railway. They had practically acceded to the requirements of the order.

His report was accepted.

NON-PARTISAN NOMINEES.

THE COMMITTEE OF SEVENTY MEET ON MONDAY EVENING.

Monday evening the committee of seventy, appointed by the non-partisan meeting last week, met at City Hall and organized for business. Mr. Geo. M. Fiske called the meeting to order, and there was some trouble in finding a chairman, all the delegates preferring to remain on the floor, for some reason.

Finally Mr. J. B. Goodrich appeared in the doorway and he was nominated and elected before he knew what was going on, and escorted to the chair by ex-Mayor Hibbard. Mr. Chas. W. Shepard was elected secretary, and the roll of the convention called by wards and 62 out of 70 delegates were represented.

A RECESS

for consultation was then taken for ten minutes and each delegation was very busy.

Mr. Thomas Weston nominated Mayor Fenn, and the nomination was made unanimously, with considerable applause.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Ward One was represented by Mr. J. T. Langford, who said the delegates have decided on these candidates: For alderman, John A. Hamilton; for common council, Mitchell Wing and John E. Briston.

Mr. Langford and Dr. Utley endorsed Dr. Hamilton in the highest terms. He is a retired clergyman, who has lived in Newton four years, and owns a fine estate on Walnut Park. The candidates were nominated by acclamation.

A LITTLE BREEZE.

The only contest in the meeting came when Mr. A. R. Mitchell said his delegation had decided to present the name of Councilman Edward P. Hatch for alderman.

Mr. Joseph R. Smith of Ward Five protested and said the present alderman had served well for one year, and the non-partisan movement should be very slow in displacing men.

Mr. Moses G. Crane of Ward Five also protested against dropping Mr. Rumery, who, he said, had done such good work, and there was a reason for this which he did not care to mention. He would not be bound by any change.

A vote was then taken and the delegates stood 29 for Mr. Hatch and 26 for Mr. Rumery, the latter including the delegations from Wards Five and Six.

Mr. Hatch was declared nominated and Mr. Crane arose and left the hall.

For the common council from Ward

Two, Messrs. A. A. Savage and Chas. Curtis were nominated.

There was no opposition in regard to the other candidates, and the nominations were as follows:

Ward Three. Alderman, H. H. Hunt; common council, Charles E. Hatfield, George P. Bullard; school committee, Mrs. Abby E. Davis, Lawrence Bond.

Ward Four. Alderman, Albert Plummer; common council, Charles W. Knapp and F. A. Childs; school committee, Colonel S. Ober, W. B. Atherton.

Ward Five. Alderman, Dr. Eben Thompson; common council, L. A. Ross, Melvin H. Coffin.

Ward Six. Alderman, A. H. Roffe; common council, H. D. Degen and A. W. Parker.

Ward Seven. Alderman, H. E. Bothfield; common council, Henry Tolman and George M. Weed; school committee, F. H. Howes.

The following campaign committee was appointed and met last evening:

Ward 1. Henry E. Cobb, John T. Langford, Samuel W. Tucker, T. J. Hartnett, Dr. James Utley.

Ward 2. Austin R. Mitchell, C. S. Keene, Dr. Otis E. Hunt, William H. Coolidge, L. H. Cranitch.

Ward 3. John W. Carter, William M. Bullivant, A. F. Luke, Geo. A. Blaney, C. W. Shepard.

Ward 4. Fred Johnson, Horace Dutton, Bernard Early, William T. Farley, Fred M. Crehore.

Ward 5. J. R. Smith, S. W. Jones, Samuel Shaw, Henry Durant, J. W. Mitchell.

Ward 6. A. L. Rand, E. E. Gilbert, R. M. Saltonstall, Geo. H. Ellis, D. J. Linnehan.

Ward 7. Wm. J. Fullett, Geo. B. Jones, John Goodrich, J. Edward Hollis, Arthur C. Mudge.

INDEPENDENT CITIZENS' PARTY.

THREE MUNICIPAL TICKETS IN THE FIELD, OF ALMOST THE SAME MAKE UP.

A mass meeting of citizens dissatisfied with the party nominations for the municipal election was held in Armory Hall, Newton, Tuesday evening. The meeting organized with W. H. Mague chairman, and John W. Gaw secretary.

The purpose of the meeting was to form an Independent Citizens' party and place a third ticket in the municipal field, some members of the old Citizens' party being interested in the government.

The first fight in the meeting was over the alderman from Ward 7, the choice being between Aldermen H. E. Bothfield and Lewis H. Farlow. The vote stood 53 to 31 in Farlow's favor. The nomination of John A. Fenn for mayor was carried by acclamation.

The nominations for aldermen were made from the floor and a committee of two from each ward was then appointed by the chair to retire and bring in nominations for common councilmen as follows:

Ward One. E. Burke, Frank Murray.
Ward Two. John Clark, T. O'Leary.
Ward Three. T. F. Mague, G. M. Cox.
Ward Four. J. R. Gallagher, M. Taffe.
Ward Five. E. M. Billings, R. Kerrigan.

Ward Six. A. Muldoon, J. Cotter.
Ward Seven. John Farrell, J. Macanley.

The full ticket as nominated is as follows:

Ward One. Alderman, Dr. J. F. Frisbie; common council, J. E. Briston, Mitchell Wing.

Ward Two. Alderman, E. M. Rumery; common council, L. E. G. Green, George Cranitch.

Ward Three. Alderman, E. B. Wilson; common council, C. E. Hatfield, G. C. Bullard.

Ward Four. Alderman, Albert Plummer; common council, C. W. Knapp, F. A. Childs.

Ward Five. Alderman, Dr. E. Thompson; common council, L. A. Ross, F. W. Barney.

Ward Six. Alderman, A. H. Roffe; common council, H. D. Degen, P. W. Parker.

Ward Seven. Alderman, Lewis H. Farlow; common council, Alonzo Weed, Henry Tolman.

School committee—Ward 3, Mrs. Abby E. Davis and Lawrence Bond.

A ward and city committee, consisting of two from each ward, was chosen from the floor as follows:

Ward One. Frank Murray, Edward Burke, Frank Stuart, John Joyce, T. F. Delaney.

Ward Two. Timothy O'Leary, Thos. Welch, M. Pillion, John Clark, James Macabee.

Ward Three. Thomas F. Mague, G. M. Cox, John W. Gaw, W. H. Mague, Wm. Gannon.

Ward Four. C. H. Dolan, M. Taffe, D. J. O'Donnell, Thos. Hart, Frank Reed.

Ward Five. J. J. Kellier, Richard Kerrigan, Thomas Mullen, John P. Keating.

Ward Six. A. Muldoon, Jas. Cotter, Daniel Murphy, D. J. Linnehan, John Ratcliff.

Ward Seven. E. W. Lyons, P. A. Murray, Richard Kileen, John Macabee, John Farrell.

The meeting then adjourned.

"THAT RASCAL PAT."

PRESENTED BY YOUNG BOSTONIANS IN NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

The Bostonian Dramatic Club made its first appearance in Newton Lower Tuesday night at the bazaar in aid of St. John's church of that place, Rev. P. H. Callahan, pastor. The basement of the church edifice was prettily decorated in the national colors, and the several booths strewn about were laden with pretty and useful articles, which made up a charming picture.

At eight o'clock the St. John's Light Infantry band, composed of young men of this flourishing parish, rendered pleasing selections. At the close of this part of the evening's entertainment the Bostonian Dramatic Club commenced their performance, which was greatly enjoyed. The following was presented: Baritone solo, Mr. Vincent S. McDonough; soprano solo, Miss Annie Crowley; tenor solo, Mr. Daniel C. Dillworth; recitation, Mr. Frank J. Horgan.

At the conclusion of the concert the roaring one-act farce, entitled "That Rascal Pat," was presented. The following was the cast: Pat, Mr. James A. Scanlan; Maj. Puffjacket, Mr. Frank J. Horgan; Charles Livingstone, Mr. Vincent S. McDonough; Laura, Miss A. Minnie L. Donovan; Nancy, Miss Annie L. Covey. The presentation of this skit created much merriment. Mr. James A. Scanlan, as usual, carrying his audience by storm.

Wednesday evening artists from South Boston gave a vocal and instrumental concert. Thursday evening a prize debate was contested between young people in the Newton, Wellesley and Natick schools. This evening a band concert will be the attraction, and on Saturday evening the John Boyle O'Reilly Cadet band of Natick will be heard. There will also on this evening be a tug-of-war contest between a team from St. John's parish and one from division 33, A. O. U. of South Natick.

The bazaar will close on Wednesday evening, Dec. 6. A large number of strong attractions will be presented next week.

Casino 2647, Newton 2590.

At the Norfolk house alleys, Roxbury. Saturday evening the Casino and Newton league bowling teams played an exciting championship game. Newton had a lead of 103 at the close of the second and lost the match in the final string, the home players making a big brace. Both scores were record totals on the Casino alleys.

NEW METHODIST CHURCH AT NEWTON HIGHLANDS.

The above cut represents the new church edifice to be built by the enterprising Methodist Society at Newton Highlands, the corner stone of which will be laid on Thanksgiving Day. It is to be located on the corner of Erie Avenue and Hartford Street, and will be a very attractive structure. The architects are Clark & Crosby of Boston, who are well known for their artistic work.

The materials used will be field stone to five feet from the ground, with cedar shingles above, and the tower will be of field stone. There are three main entrances, one through the vestibule in the tower on Hartford Street, another on the opposite corner, and the third on the pulpit end of the church.

The auditorium will have a pitched floor with semi-circular seats, and will seat 200 people. The Sunday school room is connected with folding doors, which can be thrown open and give seats for 100 more. Over the pulpit end of the church will be a triple arch, and the choir and organ will be placed back of the pulpit platform. On one side will be a room for the pastor's study, with tiled grate, and all conveniences, and on the other will be the choir room. In the rear of the church, adjoining the Sunday school room, is the ladies' parlor, handsomely fitted up, with tiled grate, and a convenient kitchen and closets, and over the Sunday school room is the library.

The inside finish will be of hard pine, natural wood finish, and the timber of the roof will be of the same material. The outer roof will be broken by arched windows, and a large window is

THE LESSONS OF ALL SAINTS' DAY.

A SERMON PREACHED IN CHANNING CHURCH ON THE AFTERNOON OF SUNDAY, NOV. 5, 1893, BY REV. FRANCIS H. HORN BROOK.

There were redeemed from among men, being the first fruits unto God and to the Lamb—Rev. XIV: 4.

A few days ago a large part of the Christian world celebrated, what since the ninth century has been known as All Saints' Day. Whatever we may think about the reason, which may have directly led to the setting apart of the day for such a purpose, or whatever we may think of the notions that ordinarily have clustered around it, it will still be well for us to day to find, if we can, the essential significance which may underlie the incidental form, and so to make it a helpful day in our lives because we have been able to see it in the light of our best and deepest thought. For this reason, I shall turn aside from much that has been and still is, associated with the day, and call attention to a few thoughts that endow it with perennial significance. A day like "All Saints'" can teach us all some precious lessons.

First of all it helps to impress the thought that the element in man's life most universally prized is the religious and moral one. The busy world with its many cares, in its runnings to and fro, in its eagerness to know what lies on the surface of things and with all its willingness to bestow honor and admiration upon those who advance its material interests and add to its intellectual gains, may at first sight seem unmindful of the influence of the men and women who have by what they have done and by what they did strengthen the moral purpose and purified or quickened the spiritual vision of those who knew them. And yet after all it is these who have taken the strongest hold upon the memory, and who are enshrined most of all in the heart. Nor is this true only in the life of the church, which naturally stands for the highest thought and purpose of the human spirit. The church but expresses in a more formal and palpable way what all men and women everywhere feel. Bad as the world is it never forgets what is due to those who have enriched and ennobled the moral and spiritual life. It often knows the saint even when no halo surrounds his head. Go where you will and you will always find in every nation, town and village the name of some one whose memory deeply honored and highly prized. And you will often find that it is not a name necessarily associated with great deeds, or new and striking thoughts. But it is very often the name of one who lived in and from a higher moral and spiritual purpose, or who illustrated in little deeds the highest possibilities of the soul. The memory of the saint is the most enduring. Men may and do, forget those who minister to their every day needs, and their every day desires but they keep in their hearts, as they do nothing else those who have stood on the heights and who have witnessed to the eternal life.

And this day may also teach us, that in our view of the moral and religious life we need to take into account. A man or woman is not a saint because he or she is a perfect man or a perfect woman. Saintliness of character does not necessarily imply largeness of thought. Sweetness of disposition may be without light, and devotion even unto death to one's ideal of duty and faith may go along together with total blindness to many other good things. No one ever has united in himself all the possibilities of human excellence. Each one is a refraction of a light far greater than himself. Nothing has done more harm, in the moral history of the world, than the endeavor to take one phase of the higher life as the only true exemplar of it, as something which people must imitate. In the first place it is practically impossible for one person to imitate another, except in what is most superficial in him, and then our imitation of any one is sure to render us narrow and placed in the wall back of the pulpit. The extreme dimensions of the church are 74 ft. 1 in., by 46 ft. 10 in., and the total cost will be $8000.

The services on Thanksgiving Day will be held at 10 o'clock in Lincoln Hall, and the corner stone will be laid immediately after these services. Bishop W. F. Mallalieu, D. D., L. L. D., of Buffalo, N. Y., formerly presiding elder of this district, will give an address, and there will be other addresses by Rev. J. W. Hamilton, D. D., Cor. Sec. of the Episcopal Aid Society, Marcus D. Bull, S. T. D., Dean of Boston University School of Theology, and other distinguished speakers. There will be an orchestra and special music.

THE CHURCH HISTORY.

The movement which resulted in the organization of the Newton Highlands M. E. Society was begun in March of 1890, services being conducted for several weeks by Rev. G. S. Butters, then of Newtonville, now of Fitchburg. In May Rev. C. E. Todd came to the church and, after a year, the church prospering under his genial influence, Mr. Todd was followed by Rev. Frank Borton, who was extremely popular and successful, but was called to Mexico as a missionary, leaving his place to be filled by Rev. James P. Chadbourn, son of Dr. Geo. S. Chadbourn. The Rev. C. A. Shatto has now been pastor of the society for over a year, and the church has steadily increased in members, in spirituality, and in enterprise.

The people have been consecrated in purpose and untiring in effort from the beginning. Under the wise leadership and persistent energy of Mr. Shatto, they have within a year raised money sufficient to purchase a large and beautifully situated lot of land, upon which they are to erect their new church.

one-sided. In some ways Jonathan Edwards was one of the saintliest men of New England, and in some ways so also was William Ellery Channing. But great and good as these men were they manifested only partial aspects of human character. To follow them alone, while it might be of great service to us in some ways, might retard and discourage the unfolding of other elements of character just as well with having as the ones which they so grandly revealed. What we learn is, that there are innumerable ways in which to do good and to be good. There is no stereotyped form of righteousness. There is no one channel through which the waters of life must be brought into the world. There is one life in nature, but that life is revealed at its best when you can see it everywhere, not only in the sweep of a planet, but in the birth of a flower, not only in the rush and roar of Niagara but in the murmur of some mountain stream, not only on the mountain height where miles of beauty greet the eye, but in the quiet valley where the grass makes silence under your feet and where the music of the flower of the field preaches the sweet gospel of God's all inclusive purpose of wisdom and love. So in the life of the soul, there is one life, but we need all the varied forms in which it manifests itself to understand something of its infinite fullness. We find the expression of that life everywhere; in the thought and life of the saint, in the thought and life of the woman—"who doeth little kindness which most leave undone, or dearest." It is well to remember the men and women who through the heroic spirit that was in them have done so much for the world, but it is also well to remember those who have patiently borne their appointed burdens, who have made the little things of their lives sweet with the breath of their self sacrifice, and who have been able through all the noises of their daily striving to send the sweet music of hearts loyal to the will of God. There are saints who have been sons of thunder and those who have been sons of consolation. We need them both. We need men who have power in them to make the evil things of darkness fly as at the touch of Ithuriel's spear—men who can prove that there is a God in Israel. But we need no less the men who when the battle has gone against us, and when the waves have gone over our heads, can heal and hearten us with the assurance that it is worth while to contend to the uttermost, because there are hearts about us, who "in their mercy make us feel the pledge and sweetness of the father's shore."

We need all the different types of goodness to learn all that goodness means. As the ages pass varied types of piety and character prevail. The ideal of one age is the martyr, while that of another is the hero. One time emphasizes the active virtues, those which tend towards making men and women efficient, while another emphasizes the passive virtues or those which make them amiable, gracious, patient and forgiving. The man of rigid, inflexible loyalty to duty is the patron saint of one nation or age, while another finds its exemplars in the nature that is full of sweet sympathies and which expands with loving thought for all. One time loves a resolute will, another a loving soul. One prizes the devout spirit, another the helpful hand, another the spirit of trust, and still another that of heroic endeavor. All ages and nations have their ideals. All of them, good as they are, are incomplete, and so it is well, that all Saints' day, and all God's jewels are brought together, comes to teach us, that it is through the glory that comes from them all, both great and small, we learn somewhat of the perfect life to which Jesus calls us.

And again, as we lovingly and gratefully recall all the saints of God we are imbued with the sense of the essential unity of goodness. We are apt to assume that all genuine goodness, all true devotion to God, and all real service to man must depend upon the acceptance of opinions which we ourselves deem most precious. The Roman Catholic thinks of St. Benedict, St. Bernard, and St. Francis, and St. Philip of Neri, and John Henry Newman, and Manning, and feels certain that these men were what they were because they were loyal members of the church he loves. The Episcopalian remembers the sweet and consecrated lives of Taylor and Herber, Berkeley and Brooks, and sees in them the proof that his church is a true church, because such men have been nurtured within it. And so each church of the churches that together make up the church of God on earth, Methodist, Baptist, Congregationalist, Lutheran or Unitarian, all find in the saintly lives nourished by them the evidence that the opinions they maintain must be the only ones that fully express the mind of God. But when we take these lives together, and when we consider what is most vital in them all, we learn that it is not the exclusive gift of any church, but the endowment of our common Christianity. The great souls that stand on the heights are there because they have those universal qualities which good men and women possess, and at all times possess. Trust in a will of good and devotion to duty have made them all what they were, and these so far from being the special gift of one church are not even the exclusive gift of Christianity itself. And so as we bring before our view, the great multitude of those who in all churches and climes form the "communion of saints," we are moved to exclaim with St. Peter: "Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons, but in every nation he that feareth Him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted of Him."

A still another lesson which All Saints' day may teach is that the saints are partial revelations of the nature and purpose of God. The highest thought of God is best made known in the highest life of man. Nature, without the interpretation which man gives to its varied aspects is silent. The mountain, the river, the cloud and the flower, these are but transient appearances until the thought of man finds meaning in them and endows them with his own intelligence. And as nature can reveal nothing of the purpose of God, so the lower life of man can give only a mistaken revelation of his character. The selfish seeker for his own good forms a God in his own likeness. The thoughtless can discern no purpose in His universe, and they who will only discern what lies on the surface of things altogether fail to apprehend the wisdom of His ways. The saints are God's true interpreters. In the shining of their faces and in the radiance of their lives we learn as nowhere else the real meaning of the world in which we dwell. As in the best acts of a man we see the real man, so in the lives of God's chosen ones—of his martyrs, heroes, confessors, and of all those who work and trust and endure, we see the fullest revelation of God.

And we see not only the revelation of what God is, but of what man is called to be, and at last, must be. For the life attained by the few is the prophecy of the attainment of the many. The aspirations of the saints are the promises of God. These nature now so rare that when they appear they seem out of the natural order of things, are like the first flashes of light that bear witness to the coming day. Let us not regard them as exceptional. If they were they could have little worth or meaning for us. Let us rather think of them as the realization of what is possible to all. And so today as we bring before us the memories of God's consecrated ones, let us remind ourselves that their deeds and lives are calls to us to be and to do, what they were and have done.

"For all thy saints O God,
Who strove in Thee to live,
Who followed Thee, obeyed, and died,
Our grateful thanks receive.
For all Thy saints O God,
Accept our thankful cry,
Who counted Thee their great reward,
And yearned for Thee to die.
Thy all in life and death,
With Thee Lord in their view,
Learned from Thy Holy Spirit's breath
To suffer and to die.
For this Thy name we bless,
And humbly pray that we May follow them in holiness,
And live and die, in Thee, Amen.

HARMONIOUS REPUBLICANS.

THE CONVENTION NOMINATIONS WERE PASSED WITHOUT A DISSENT.

The meeting of the Republican convention for the nomination of a mayor and aldermen was held at City Hall Tuesday evening.

Mr. Robert H. Gardiner, chairman of the Republican Ward and city committee, called the meeting to order and the organization was perfected by the choice of Judge J. C. Kennedy as chairman, and W. T. Farley as secretary.

Mr. Forknall of Ward One moved the chair appoint a credential committee of three, resulting in the choice of Reuben Forknall, Ward One, E. J. Hyde, Ward Five, W. H. B. Dowse, Ward Three.

Their report showed 26 out of 35 credentials present. Five more delegates who mislaid their credentials were vouchered for, which made the total number present as 31.

UNANIMOUS.
Mr. Gardiner of Ward Six arose and moved that the convention declare their choice for mayor by acclamation, in the person of Hon. John A. Fenno.

The vote resulted in a unanimous yea, not a nay being heard.
It was then moved by Mr. Sheldon of Ward Three that the chairman of the various delegations report their choice for aldermen and school committee upon which the convention should act separately, by acclamation. The motion was carried.

Mr. H. W. Downs of Ward One presented the name of Dr. J. F. Frisbie for alderman from the ward. He had served the city in the common council and was also for five years a member of the board of health. He is well known and it was thought he would do excellent service for the city in this capacity. The other nominations proceeded without comment, the choice for aldermen standing, when complete, as follows:
Ward One, Dr. Jesse F. Frisbie; Ward Two, Edward M. Rumery; Ward Three, Edward B. Wilson; Ward Four, Albert Plummer; Ward Five, Dr. Eben Thompson; Ward Six, Albert H. Roffe; Ward Seven, Henry E. Bothfield.

The nomination of candidates for school committee were similarly presented. Mr. Weed presented the name of Geo. C. Travis for Ward Seven to succeed Rev. Mr. Hornbrooke. He had been recommended very strongly for re-nomination by those who know of his excellent work on the board in the past.

The result is appended:
Ward Three, Mrs. Abby E. Davis, Lawrence Bond.
Ward Four, Colon S. Ober, Winthrop B. Atherton.
Ward Seven, George C. Travis.
The convention then adjourned.

THE REFORM MOVEMENT.

The Committee of Seventy met Monday evening and made nominations for the city election. Mayor Fenn was renominated by acclamation, and the rest of the ticket was filled out by nominating all the old candidates who would accept,
except in one instance.

Mr. Goodrich made an admirable chairman and the proceedings went through without a break, except over the nomination of an alderman from Ward Two. The delegates from that ward presented the name of Councilman Edward P. Hatch, who has been one of the leading members of the Common Council the past year. This nomination did not please Mr. Joseph R. Smith, and Mr. Moses G. Crane, both of Ward Five, and they revived an old fight by protesting against leaving off Mr. Rumery.

When it was announced that the vote stood 29 for Mr. Hatch to 26 for Mr.
Rumery, Mr. Crane arose and left the hall.

It has never been a popular move for one ward to attempt to dictate to another ward as to who shall represent

it, and the action of the Ward Five men

was hardly judicious, especially considering their relation to the Municipal company.

When it came to the signing of the nomination papers, some twenty-five of the members were so impressed by the demonstration of the Municipal company, that they refused to sign Mr.

Hatch's paper, and as a result he has declined, although there were hundreds of men who would have been glad to endorse him, because they honestly think that a movement heralded with such a flourish of trumpets, and which has said so much about the necessity of improving the efficiency of our city government, should at least have made one change, to show that they were in earnest. The affair puts the whole movement in a rather ludicrous light, as, if the old methods had resulted in electing a city government that could not be improved upon, what was the use of any non-partisan meeting? Or was the whole thing a skillfully engineered movement

in the interest of the Municipal company and the present city government?

Mr. Hatch's refusal has set people to asking of the non-partisan movement.

"If it was so soon to be done for, what in the world was it begun for?" but the city has got along very well the present year, and it will the coming year in all probability. The movement has really labored under difficulties this year, it was begun so hurriedly that people were disposed to look at it rather critically

and to wait for results before they approved it, and they are still waiting.

From Ward One the convention presented a new man in the person of Rev.

Dr. Hamilton, who is an excellent choice and would make a valuable official for the city. From the other wards, the present aldermen were renominated, and also the present members of the school committee, with the exception of Mr. Frank

H. Howes, who is selected to succeed

Rev. Mr. Hornbrook, who had declined to serve again.

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

The Republican convention, Tuesday evening, was a very harmonious affair, but so many Republican leaders have given in their adherence to the non-partisan movement that the success of Republican candidates where there is a contest is more doubtful than usual.

All parties have united in favor of Mayor Fenn and we are to have the unusual spectacle of no contest over this important office. It shows that Mayor Fenn must have given satisfaction to all classes, and his unanimous nomination is a very high compliment.

The Republicans differed from the previous convention in their nominations for aldermen from Wards One, Two and Three, but the expected opposition to the present incumbents in Wards Four and Five did not pan out. Harmony also reigns in Wards Six and Seven.

There is also to be a contest over member of the school board from Ward Seven, the non-partisan movement nominating Mr. Frank H. Howes, a young man of exceptional ability and character, and the Republicans, Mr. Geo. C.
Travis, who has served one term on the board some years ago. It is a matter of regret to see this contest, and also that the Republican convention has given it something of a partisan character by refusing to endorse the candidate of the non-partisan convention.

From Ward One the Republicans nominated Dr. J. F. Frisbie, but he has declined, and so Rev. Dr. Hamilton is left as the only regular candidate of a convention, and will probably have a clear field, although Rev. J. B. Gould has been put forward as a Republican candidate
by a nomination paper.

The Republicans nominated Mr. E. H.
Rumery, and as Mr. Hatch has withdrawn there will be no contest from ward Two.

Ward Three as usual draws the party line, and the Republicans rejected Alderman Hunt, although he has been one of the best men on the board, because of his politics, and puts up ex-Alderman Wilson, who was beaten last year and will be this, if the non-partisan movement means anything. Introducing party politics into city elections ought to be rebuked as emphatically as introducing quarrels of private corporations. We want men to legislate for the best interests of the city, and the best men should be chosen without regard to politics.

THE INDEPENDENT CITIZENS.

The 'Independent Citizens' convention, Tuesday night, was a lively affair,
the chief issue being Alderman Bothfeld, whom some of the leaders are opposing,
and Ex-Alderman Wilson, whom the same men tried to nominate for mayor at the Citizens' convention a year ago.
Alderman Bothfeld received a third of the votes, however, in spite of the opposition of what has been called "the Mague party," and several speakers warmly endorsed him for his zeal in pushing through city improvements, such as the Cheesecake Brook Boulevard and the Cabot parkway, so as to keep the working men employed in these dull times, and who has shown himself a better friend to them than those who only come around with soft speeches and fair promises just before election.
The meeting could find no one to stand against him, and so nominated Mr. L. H.
Farlow, much to his surprise and also to the amusement of his friends, who know his repugnance to any political honors.

Mr. Farlow, in a letter to the GRAPHIC, positively declines to serve, and hopes
Mr. Bothfeld will receive every vote. A letter from an Irish-American, in another column, gives one man's view of the case.

The convention endorsed Mr. Rumery, although as a member of the highway committee, he voted for the contracts to which the Teamsters' Association objected which is rather curious.

Alderman Hunt seems also to have been unpopular with the leaders of the convention, but he has gone ahead through the year and pushed the sewer work with the single view of the interests of the city and has not stooped to curry favor with any element or any class of voters. He has just attended to the business of the city and let political view-pulling alone. The citizens of Newton can not afford to let such a man
be defeated for simply doing his duty.
Mr. Wilson, it is said, wants to be alderman because he has aspirations towards the mayoralty and for Congress, but it would be very unfortunate for our city government to become a political training field, and to have men in it who could not act independently of all political leaders or organizations. The tickets are all now before the voters for their consideration.

Mr. FRANK H. HOWES of Billings
Park who has been nominated to serve as a member on the school committee, to succeed Rev. F. B. Hornbrook, who declines renomination, is a gentleman exceptionally well qualified for the position. He was born in Boston in 1853, attended public school, and Chauncy Hall school, was in the shipping business in Boston and New York for a number of years, being with the old firm of Howes & Crowell, in which firm Hon. Wm. P.
Ellison was for many years a partner.
He has lived in Newton six years and is engaged in the fire insurance business in Boston, having in charge the insurance interests of a large number of the great wholesale houses of that city. The past few years he has contributed editorials
on public questions to Boston papers.

The Aldermen met the Boston & Albany officials today, and will probably come to an agreement about the abolition of grade crossings. The aldermen will insist on stone-arched bridges when possible, that is where the streets cross
the tracks at a right angle, and are not too wide for an arch, and also on an extra bridge at the entrance to the Cabot Parkway. These are now the only points of difference, and it is believed that an amicable agreement will be reached.

The "guises on the councillor vote in this district are very interesting and show the popularity of Hon. J. R. Lee-son with the voters, as he leads both Greenhalge and Wolcott, on the general
ticket, the figures being Greenhalge, 4782; Wolcott, 6636; Leeson, 6936.

Mrs. S. M. Johnson & Co. will give away next week, 10,000 boxes of their Perfection face powders, at the Ideal Toilet parlors, Temple place, Boston.

—Mrs. Bosson of Chelsea is the guest of Mr. Edward P. Bosson, Hillside street.
—Mr. Edwin F. Brainard is quite ill at his home on Washington street.
—Oratorio next Tuesday evening, City Hall.
—The Hon. W. H. Howland of Toronto was the guest of A. Fred. Brown this week.

—Miss Edith Kimball will give an afternoon tea at her home on Washington Park, this Friday afternoon from 5 to 7.30.
—Miss Bertha Chase of Gardiner, Me., will pass the winter with Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Chase of Austin street.
—Miss Maybell P. Davis of Providence, R. I., is the guest of Mrs. Henry F. Ross, Walnut street.

—Mr. Newton McDonald arrived home last week from a six weeks' tour to Chicago, Washington and Niagara.
—Congressman Milliken of Washington, D. C., accompanied by his daughter, Maud, will be the guests next week of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Shapley, Nevada street.

—Rev. E. E. Davidson is conducting a series of religious meetings at Morehead, Minn.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Chase of Austin street returned from a pleasant trip to Whitefield and Gardiner, Me.
—Miss Perkins of Cambridge was the guest last week of Mrs. Chas. W. Hamilton, Walnut street.

—Mr. Ernest Booth of Linwood avenue has returned from a month's sojourn in Europe.
—There will be a union Thanksgiving service in the Universalist church at 11 a. m., Nov. 30. The Revs. Dutton, Jackson and Priest taking part.

—Mr. R. G. Marshall will make a free examination of eyes at the jewelry store of A. H. Sisson every Saturday evening.

—Mr. William F. Hollings and Howard Hollings assisted very acceptably on the piano and violin at the reception given by the Channing Guild last Wednesday evening.

—There are letters at the postoffice for J. H. Greene, Thomas Harvey and Dennis O. Driscoll.

—Peter Kelly had the thumb and middle finger of his right hand cut off by a buzz saw at Ross' lumber yard and was struck by Dr. Talbot was called and ordered his removal to the hospital.

—The Newton Club will be well represented at the Harvard Yale football game. Fifty tickets were purchased for the use of members who go to and from Springfield in a special car.

—Regarding those 100-ride ticket books from which coupons had been detached, they were not purchased at the ticket office here. Those who complain of the incomplete books state that they were obtained at the Boston office. The railroad management is not responsible, but it ought to find out how the shortage occurs and protect patrons from further losses through either accidental or other cause.

—William McAdams while riding on the platform of an accommodation train last night swung his leg out and was struck by one of the "mugger heads" which work the signals. The leg was badly torn from the right limb. He was taken to his home following the accident, and his condition was reported comfortable this morning.

—Mr. William Clarke of "The London Daily Chronicle" delivered a very interesting lecture Wednesday evening at the residence of Mrs. D. C. Heath on Highland avenue. The subject was "Matthew Arnold and his influence on Social Reform." He showed very clearly that Arnold had mastered the situation and was very lacking in that he was unable to give to the people a remedy for the existing conditions. The lecture was largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

—The second in the series of fortnightly "ladies' nights" was observed at the Newton Clubhouse Wednesday evening. About 300 ladies and gentlemen were present, and some very elaborate and beautiful costumes were worn by the ladies. From 9 until 9.30 a musical entertainment was provided in the large assembly hall, consisting of harp solos by Miss Harriet A. Shaw of Boston; soprano solos by Miss Caroline Gardner Clarke of Boston; and songs with harp accompaniment by Miss Clarke and Miss Shaw. From 9.30 until midnight the entire clubhouse was thrown open to the ladies. The bowling alley furnished amusement for a number, and in the assembly hall and refreshment rooms, the Germania Orchestra discoursed sweet strains. During the evening refreshments were served in the ladies' cafe.

—You are to be congratulated on your success" was the comment from every one who spoke of the Old Folks' Concert at the Universalist church last Tuesday. The audience was a large one, completely filling the church. Every seat was occupied and a large number had to be provided with extra chairs brought in for the purpose. Every number on the program was sung with spirit and life. The chorus of nearly fifty voices was wonderfully well handled. The component parts were well balanced. Several musical critics, who were present, stated that with trained singers and led by a professional conductor the effect could not have been any better. The costumes were unique and well gotten up, reflecting great credit on those in charge. The singers were seated in rows rising one above the other, so that each one was plainly in view from the audience. Mr. H. V. Pinkham, as musical director, was ably assisted by Mr. W. L. Howell, organist, and Mr. Edwin L. Chase as leader of the Watertown Orchestra. Miss Julia M. Page's solo, "Old Folks at Home," was sung with much depth of feeling. At the close she was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses. The old gentleman with the long flowing white beard at tracted a great deal of attention, but in a duet with Mrs. J. L. Atwood his voice betrayed the character to be Mr. H. E. Woodbury of West Newton. Mr. J. L. Atwood worked hard and long to make the concert the success that it was. Mr. J. L. Atwood in the costume of the olden time titling man made a great hit. After the concert a collation was served for the chorus and orchestra.

—The Newton Club league bowling team started the season by breaking all previous records in a way from home game, putting up a total of 2300 in a match with the Casino bowlers on the alleys of the latter.

—Mrs. Delaney of West street lost some valuable papers recently on her way from this place to Watertown. She is anxious to get them again.

—The gate at the crossing is continually getting out of order. A new chain is required, it is said. Patch work jobs fell to bring about the desired result.

—Mr. G. H. French of Chicago will give an illustrated lecture at the Unitarian church, West Newton, for the benefit of the ladies' furnishing fund of the New church on Highland avenue. See adv.

—The Newton league bowling team was defeated in a close game at Salem last night by eleven pins. The score: Salem, 2481; Newton, 2470. The average on total pins made by Newton in two games is 2530.

—"The Lord is the strength of my life. Of whom shall I be afraid." With strong and vigorous words Rev. Mr. Priest held the attention of the large audience in the Unitarian church last Sunday morning. The times are full of trouble but no man need be afraid if he is right. No matter what creed or shrine we may attend or prefer, our heart will be full of courage if we are sure and know that we are right. Many men can walk alone in the surety of their position, but most of us like the enthusiasm of numbers. The spirit is inspired by being in touch with one another. A large meeting and full attendance are like an electric shock, they inspire to doing something more. The bonds of friendship formed by long business associations together are broken often times by misfortune. Reverses come to one and not to the other of old friends and after a little the ties are stretched and then snap. Too often the defeated is left alone, while the victor goes on in the world forgetting the past deeds of kindness or service done. Too soon also does society forget the one that was once a leader but who through some mischance has had to fall out of the ranks. But here in this church no one is forgotten. All are equal whether they contribute much or little and here in the society of knowing that they are right, the strength of their life is their life. It were more profitable to a man to hold fast to his own heart and soul rather than gain the world and lose all that makes life worth living. When Dr. Pullman of Lynn was asked by his brother George to enter his great business establishment at a salary of ten thousand dollars a year, his reply was, "no, brother. I would rather preach the gospel to the poor and degraded than to live as they live and know that I am doing God's work." Will not in all the years to come, the new-boys of Lynn hold his name in reverence. We must all work to it. If times are hard, we cannot say that the new rent will have to wait, we need some other leader. We must all do our part and work together for success. To succeed we must place ourselves with God and if we are right we shall prevail.

—The political situation is a trifle mixed. Alderman Hunt's friend think he will be elected, although his name was left off the Republican ticket. His opponent, ex-Alderman Wilson, has besides the Republican endorsement that of the independent citizens' movement.

—By the retirement of Councilmen Bennett and Staples the city loses the services of two efficient and energetic citizens. They generally regret their declination to serve for another year, at least. The former has been one of the best representatives this ward ever had in the lower branch of the city government.

—Mrs. Lydia E., wife of James T. Trevelyan, died quite suddenly at her home on Chestnut street Monday evening. She had been ill only two days. Besides her husband, two young children survive. The funeral occurred Wednesday, Rev. D. W. Faunce, D. D., officiating. The interment was made in the Newton cemetery.

—Mr. William E. Leach, a former resident, died of Bright's disease at his residence in Wellesley Hills last Friday. He was well known here and had a large circle of friends. Deceased was a prominent Boston broker for many years. The funeral occurred Monday and the interment was made in Woodlawn cemetery, Wellesley.

—The members of the city council who objected to increasing the police force, are a little tinged with that intense spirit of economy which animated the citizens of Wellesley when they practically agreed upon the necessity of efficient police protection, and voted the magnificent sum of $1200 for the maintenance of a "regular" force under the direction of a chief. Newton's police equipment is entirely too small and every sensible person admits it.

—Mr. W. W. Carter, son of Horatio Carter of Newtonville, and formerly the popular clerk at H. E. Woodbury's grocery, who has been an employee in the leading Lithograph Company of San Francisco, has recently been made a member of the company and has been elected vice-president. He is a little tinged with that intense spirit of economy which animated the citizens of Wellesley when they practically agreed upon the necessity of efficient police protection, and voted the magnificent sum of $1200 for the maintenance of a "regular" force under the direction of a chief. Highland and Washington streets. He had been in failing health for some time. Deceased was born here and was seventy-five years of age. He had been identified with the Second Congregational church, of which he was deacon, for many years. He was a well known figure in Boston business circles and was located on South Market street, conducting an extensive trade as an provision broker. He was a man of sterling character, respected and esteemed by all who knew him. He was in all respects a good citizen, a kind and husband and father and a sympathizing friend. A widow, one daughter and three sons survive him. The funeral occurred Wednesday afternoon from late residence of deceased. There was a large attendance at the services, which were conducted by Rev. H. J. Patrick, D. D. The interment was made in the Newton cemetery.

Campaign Work.

The non-partisan campaign committee met at City Hall last night and elected J. W. Carter of Ward 3, chairman; A. C. Mudge, secretary; W. M. Bullivant, treasurer.

There are now four parties in the field supporting practically the same ticket. Except for Aldermen in Wards One and Three, and common councilmen in Wards One and Two, all the other contests having been withdrawn.

Lasell Notes.

The annual game dinner at Lasell was given on the evening of Nov. 18th, at 5.30. The elegant dining room was decorated in Mr. Shepherd's original and artistic style; his skilful free hand drawings of birds, beasts and fish illustrated our several menus. The tables were beautifully laid and elegantly served. We are not Epicureans, but our knowledge of the new art of cooking enables us in some measure to appreciate the fine points of the repast. The feast was enlivened by genuine merriment, the only mark of regret being that the dining room was not large enough to contain all the parents and friends of each school girl. A nice question of proportion is, if this be a preparation for Thanksgiving, what shall we expect at Christmas?

NEWTON CONGREGATIONAL CLUB.

AN INTERESTING TOPIC, "THE SUNDAY SCHOOL," DISCUSSED UNDER DIFFERENT HEADS.

The second meeting of the Newton Congregational Club was held Monday evening at the Second Congregational church at West Newton. At six o'clock the usual supper was provided by Caterer Dill about 175 being present. President Samuel Ward called the meeting to order at 7:10 o'clock and the exercises were opened by the singing of hymn 44 on the service book and prayer by Rev. Dr. Daniels. The Odd Fellows quartet, which provided the music for the evening, rendered a selection and then the records of the last meeting were read by Mr. Kelley, the secretary.

An amendment to the constitution was brought before the club for discussion. Article II now reads:—"Each person shall pay two dollars admission fee and four dollars annual tax or two dollars for the year when admitted after the summer vacation. Amend so as to read:—"Each person shall pay two dollars admission fee. The annual tax shall be four dollars, a proportionate reduction shall be made, however, to members elected after the annual meeting."

Rev. Mr. Adams believed the changes should be made in the interest of justice and that the amendment would make the admission fee more in proportion.

Hon. J. F. C. Hyde said if he thoroughly understood the change in Article IV he was opposed to it although he was as much in favor of justice as anyone. A candidate may be proposed for membership in February or March and if elected is compelled to pay for the whole year, or if he is proposed in November and voted in in December, going the rest of the year, he pays the full $4.00. There should be a rebate of sixty-five cents if a member is sick or absent for one meeting but this is not made.

Rev. Mr. Adams thought it a fair amendment and one that would make a larger club membership. Mr. Wood said the poor treasurer should be thought of and not be compelled to make the thirty-three and a third cent rebate each time a member was absent.

Treasurer Jones, who retires soon, hoped Mr. Wood would succeed him. Captain Howard thought it would make it easier and that more young people would join. President Ward said the amendment was the best of interest of the club and ought to pass. It passed by a vote of 55 to 19.

Ruel W. Waters of the First church, Newton Centre, and Milo Lucas of the Second church, West Newton, were unanimously elected members.

The report of the executive committee favored a meeting next Monday at the office of Mr. Taylor, 87 Milk street, Boston.

Rev. F. N. Peloubet, D. D., of the Outlook committee reported that more were going out of the churches than were coming in and that more active church work was needed.

Rev. Charles E. Haven, the new pastor of the Newton Highlands church, who was the guest of the evening, said he was glad to be present and participate in fellowship with the club. He introduced the topic of the evening, "The Sunday school," and said it was of vital importance for the study of the word of Christ. It prospers under the guidance of an active superintendent and teachers who instill into the scholars' minds a knowledge of the holy Word. It was also an honor and privilege to be in the Sunday school work.

The speakers of the evening were the superintendents of the different Sunday schools of the city. Mr. A. L. Harwood of Newton Centre; Subject, "The need of more thorough and systematic study of the Bible;" spoke of the grand work that was under discussion tonight and how each one should labor together in this nursery of the church, not to glory too much in what has been done but make an effort to improve in every way. One great element was that of committing selected passages of scripture to memory, this ought not to be neglected but made one of the most important exercises. Give them truths which will be remembered in later years when the troubles of life are over and this early teaching will aid and strengthen them. It is of great value to sit in the class and listen to the holy word as it is taught and explained by the earnest, prayerful teacher. There are still grander things to come in the future, at present there is not enough attention and study given to the lessons.

To be a teacher is a great privilege and they must study and thoroughly understand the lesson so as to be able to know what they are talking about. There is great good in the international lessons because they are concise and give the scholar the fundamental truths regarding the Holy Word.

Mr. George May of Newton Highlands; Subject, "The work of the superintendent," said the superintendent should be chosen because of some particular fitness for the work and in the interests of success. The arrangement of the rooms was another important item. It is well to have the whole school together but have separate rooms, balconies or spaces between the classes. The superintendent must have the work in his mind through the whole week, be there early on Sunday and have a personal supervision of the opening of the school. It is well to have some substitutes in readiness in case of the absence of regular teachers. All scripture lessons are good for the school but the life of our Lord is the best and will hold the interest of the scholar. Teachers' meetings are also important and should be held frequently.

Superintendent William G. Bell of West Newton spoke on "Success;" he thought personal experience was needed; that a large attendance, while important, was not so necessary as good, earnest, faithful work for the salvation of souls. When Mr. Davidson, the Evangelist, was at his school he requested all those who were Christians to rise, only one responded, and she expressed a desire to lead a Christian life, but since that time quite a number have joined the church. It is well to have three sets of teachers on hand, as a change is advisable at times, making the work more interesting to the scholar and tending to bring more members into the church. Another important suggestion was not to take up any of the school hour by the morning services and to devote as much time as possible to the lessons. Another important point was to close the school and go out in a quiet orderly manner.

Mr. Reuben Forkall of the North church spoke of "Our Mission." The thoughts will not be new as they have all been spoken of tonight. Our mission is the salvation of souls, to impress on our teachers and scholars the value of a human soul and of the great work before us. You can put a price upon a building but you cannot on a soul. The best way for teachers to make a success with their classes is to study and become acquainted with the traits and character of each one. They should have a personal application of this knowledge be applied individually, but in such a way that each one shall be helped by the Sunday lessons. The covenant of old was written upon stone, but the new one is written on the human heart. Make a point of speaking personally to each member of the class if they are missing the week and pray unceasingly for guidance and strength in your labors.

Mr. Frank W. Gifford of the Newton Sunday school; Subject, "The Sunday school the nursery of the church;" said, is the Sunday school of today anything but a nursery? If it is it is the nursery of the principles of Christianity are laid then it is worth all that it cost. The speaker said it was like a breath of heaven to him to go into the primary department of the Sunday school. The little ones are anxious to hear the story of Jesus and his love, which if taught in a proper way, are remembered in future years. On enquiry of some of the young people why they did not attend the Sunday school the speaker found that each had honest but not always good reasons for not coming.

Business young men say they have not the time or strength to attend the Sunday school as they feel inclined to rest on Sunday. It is a mistake to have Saturday night the club and entertainment night as it makes the young people tired the next day and disinclined to attend the school or church.

There are faithful teachers and workers today and Newton is well adapted to do good work. The trouble is in the home influence; we do not insist that our children shall attend the church and Sunday school as our fathers did when we were children.

Mr. Wallace C. Boyden of Newtonville; Subject, "Demand for change in the method of instruction;" said, we are living in a period of city life, one of active competition. Seventy per cent of our population reside in the cities and large towns. This tends to take the mind from religious work. Home, school, church and society are all agencies in church and Sunday school work. Seek all sound development in the child, stimulate their powers to act and bring them in touch with nature. Don't keep them too long on one subject in the Bible, but vary the lessons and so give them new and interesting thoughts.

Be also careful to have the selections the kind that they can understand and put before them the lives of the good men in the Bible in an interesting way with the aid of maps and charts.

The last speaker was Rev. F. N. Peloubet, D. D., a "Free Lance," wanted to say amen to all the points brought up during the evening, especially those of study and preparation by the teachers. The speaker thought it was unwise to have the same teacher for a class all the time and also be especially careful not to let the church service overrun the time of the Sunday school. He also thought the international lessons, especially the life of Christ, was the best material for study.

Endeavor to keep the older scholars in the school, to get new results, new methods and have all the school live as active workers, also to have a Bible club for Bible study and in that way become fitted, stirred up and enthused for the work.

President Ward moved a vote of thanks to the quartet, and the meeting then adjourned.

"Smoker" at the Newton Boat Club.

The Newton Boat Club House at River side was the scene of a very merry gathering of local canoeists on Thursday evening, November 16th, the occasion being the first "Smoker" held by the "Crew" of the "Wabewawa," (Newton's new "War Canoe.") It is needless to say that everyone had a good time, for there were several prominent canoeists present, and plenty of musical talent. Bowling occupied the attention of all during the early part of the evening. Then Professor "Bob" Hyde of Boston rendered some very comical selections on his guitar. Musical contributions from Messrs. Jas. W. Cartwright, Jr., Clarence B. Ashenden and L. G. F. Hoffman were also much appreciated.

Refreshments were served during the evening and the jolly party did not break up until eleven o'clock. Among the canoeists present were Messrs. Jas. W. Cartwright, Jr., of the Puritan Canoe Club and ex-Vice Commodore of the Eastern Div. of the American Canoe Association; Raynolds, Jr., of the Shashu-gah Canoe Club and ex-Purser of the Eastern Division, Chas. F. Dodge and Clarence B. Ashenden of the Puritan Club, Fred P. Smith of the Dedham Boat Club, Fred H. Loveland, Willis E. Stacy, Edw. G. Blaisdell, Louis A. Hall, Walter H. Folsom and Geo. Brazier of the Newton Boat Club, besides the "Crew" which consists of the following men:

Louis S. Drake, Geo. B. Smith, Russell A. Ballou, John F. Linder, Francis J. Burrage, Quincy Pond, Wm. V. Forsaith, Chester A. Howe, Jas. H. Lowe, Chas. W. Knapp and Julius B. Waterbury.

On Thanksgiving Day the "Crew" will play a game of foot ball at West Newton with a picked eleven of Newton Boat Club members, and an interesting match ought to be the result.

Foot Ball, Thanksgiving Day.

The N. A. A. foot-ball eleven will play a strong team, made up of stars and college players, at Newton Centre, Thanksgiving morning at 9:30 sharp.

The cross country men will have their handicap run for prizes, starting from Newton Centre, Commencing about 4:30. Quite a few men have been practicing for this run, and it is hoped there will be a large number of entries before Saturday night.

Many people suffer for years from troublesome and repulsive sores, boils and eruptions, without ever testing the marvelous curative properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The experiment is, certainly, worth trying. Be sure you get Ayer's Sarsaparilla and no other.

After using Ely's Cream Balm two months was surprised to find that the right nostril was closed for over twenty years, was open and free as the other, and can use it now as I could not do for many years. I feel very thankful.—R. H. Cressingham, 275 1st St., Brooklyn.

HOSPITAL SUNDAY.

AN APPEAL TO THE GENEROUS PEOPLE OF NEWTON.

The finance committee of the Newton Cottage Hospital ask your active cooperation in securing funds for the support of this institution.

Its work has grown so large and expenses increased so much that it is necessary to raise at least seven thousand dollars on the coming Hospital Sunday, Nov. 26th.

The extra expense of putting in a new heating plant and a new dining room will leave us at the end of the year with a deficit of about $2500.

The growth of liberality in the congregations of the various churches is shown in the following table:

1885.....	$1,048.02
1886.....	1,521.42
1887.....	1,594.71
1888.....	2,250.91
1889.....	2,321.83
1890.....	3,537.35
1891.....	3,742.74
1892.....	6,140.16

City of Newton.

That the City Clerk be directed to cause due notice to be given that meetings of the citizens of this City, qualified to vote therein, will be held in the several Polling Places designated by this Board, on Tuesday, the 15th day of December, A. D. 1893, for the election of a Mayor and Seven Aldermen, one Alderman being selected from each Ward; and in each Ward from residents therein two members of the Common Council. Also to elect five members of the School Committee, to be selected as follows, two from Ward Three, two from Ward Four, and one from Ward Seven, to serve each for three years from the first Monday in January next.

Also to give in their ballots "Yes" or "No," in answer to the question, "Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this City?"

All of the above officers and the question of licensing the sale of intoxicating liquors, to be voted on one ballot, except that the votes for School Committee by women will be by a separate ballot.

The polls will be opened at seven o'clock in the forenoon, and closed at twelve minutes past four o'clock in the afternoon.

In the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Nov. 7th, 1893.

Read and adopted.

Only the Scars Remain.

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc.," writes HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., "none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old mother urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."
